

January 4, 1940

My dear Harry:

It was very nice of you to write me immediately upon your arrival at Trenton, and I am greatly pleased to have received your letter.

I am glad you have found your new quarters so pleasant. I am sure that you will be equally pleased in other directions in the change from Brentford to Trenton. I have visited Trenton so I know something about its quarters and the lay-out generally.

I shall, of course, be very pleased to see you ~~at~~ any time you may think of coming to Ottawa. I may have to leave you to look after yourself, as my time has long since ceased to be my own. However, you will always be welcome at Laurier House, and a bedroom, bath and breakfast, if nothing else, will be awaiting you here.
