

[1866.

en and yet a meeting. s, held
meeting
to their er this meeting,
highly

ngston
in the Yearly
tuting
ish to
boring
often
to his e that

red of latter
He
that g that world.
nthly
West
with n the

1867.]

Death.

191

10th of 3rd mo. he held an appointed meeting twenty-five miles from his home, went to the house of Thomas Robinson for the night, retired to rest in his usual health, and at 2 o'clock in the morning he awoke, complaining of great pain in the region of the heart. Though perfectly rational he conversed but little, and quietly breathed his last about 4 o'clock the same morning. Nearly the last words he was heard to utter were: "My days are accomplished; go tell my dear Mary I die in the triumph of faith and the hope of the Gospel." And in view of the devoted life and triumphant death of this servant of God, we may well close this little volume with the lines of the poet:

"How blest is the child of the Lord When taught of the Father to run;
When led by the light of His Word,
And cheered with the beams of His sun."