for a price that make them a staple article of trade, not a luxury. The way to develop the apple business is way to develop the apple business to produce them at a price within the reach of everyone. That's the way to produce them at a price within the reach of everyone. That's the way they develop any big business." As to the likelihood of overdoing

As to the likelihood of overdoing the apple market, when young orchards come into bearing, Mr. Case said: "It surprises me to learn that statistics compiled interesting the census of 1910, relative to make the census of 1910, relating off or many millions of bearing trees since 2000 millions of bearing trees since 2000 to the fact that thousands of acres of old orchards have failed within 10 years. Just because some man rests. years. Just because some man gets enthusiastic and sets out fifteen or cutinusiastic and sets out fifteen or twenty acres to orchard, it doesn't follow that the trees will come into bearing. The apple has too many enemies and there are a lot of fei-lows who start strong and finish weak."
