The Water Works.

The present condition of affairs in connection with our London Water Works is such as to reflect the greatest credit en the Board who had control of its management during the past year, namely, Mayor Campbell and Messrs. Powell and Muirhead. The best proof that this is the case will be found in the fact that the last two gentlemen have been chosen unanimously to retain the positions they hold for another year. To Mr. Danks, the efficient secretary, is also due a just meed of praise for the remarkably able manner in which he has discharged the duties of his office. Christmas at Norwich and Woodstock.

At this season of the year when Catholies celebrate Christmas according to the spirit of the church, it is surely pleasing to see that the people of Rev. John Carlin's congregation were not behind-hand. The Christmas greetings showered upon the Priest were, in many cases, from friends who had been absent for a time in places distant from his missions. Father Carlin distant from his missions. Father Carlin was the recipient of many presents from the members of his Woodstock, Norwich and East Oxford congregations. A few may be mentioned. Over one hundred dollars were given as Christmas offerings. A golden sanctuary lamp and ohive oil were presented by Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Hargitt, Woodstock, as well as a set of oil stocks, a pyx for the Blessed Sacrament, a burse and a stole as Christmas and New Year's gifts. The new marble font for Year's gifts. The new marble font for holy water, recently set up in St. Mary's Church, Woodstock, the artificial altar flowers made by Mrs. Vanvalkenburg, Woodstock, and the evergreen ornaments, afforded a pleasing eight to those who assisted at High Mass on Christmas morning .- Woodstock Sentinel.

CATHOLIC NEWS.

The number of children in England and Scotland in attendance in Catholic schools, increased from 86,347 in 1871 to 181,145 in 1880. The amount of annual contributions increased from £27,133 to £69,125.

The cruelty of the Falck laws (as they are usually styled) of Germany may be judged by their effects upon the Archdiocese of Cologne. There are eight hundred and thirteen parishes in that diocese and of them two hundred and twenty-six, or more than one-fourth, are without priests through the operation of those laws. In other words, in those par-ishes the people are deprived of the con-solations of their religion, living or dying. Of the priests who remain in other par-ishes one hundred and twelve are over seventy years of age and thirty are eighty years. But all of them are hard at work years. But all of them are hard at work notwithstanding their weight of years, because the Falck Laws render it impossible for younger priests to come to the aid of those who are now in the dio-

The Crib of Bethlehem.

The cradle of our Saviour-the identical crib in which the infant Jesus was laidwas for a time preserved in Bethlehem; and it is well-known that St. Jerome, St. Paula, and others had always entertained the greatest devotion for this sanctuary. Subsequently the crib and a few pieces of rock from the cave at Bethlehem were brought to Rome. Some have asserted that the transfer was made in the year 352, but the learned Pope Benedict XVV. proved that it was not until the seventh century, at the time that the Saracens had taken possession of Jerusalem, in the year 653. St. Jerome, who was buried in year 653. St. Jerome, who was buried in Bethlehem, appeared three times to a pious monk there, telling him to carry the crib and his remains to Rome, which he accordingly did. The crib, considered one of the most recious relics of the city of Rome, is now kept in the magnificent basilica of Santa Maria Maggiore, also known by the titles of Our Lady of the Snow and Our Lady of the Crib. To the right side of the main altar is a very beautiful and spacious chapel, built by Pope Sixtus V., in the year 1506 in honor of our Saviour's crib. In the centre, directly underneath the cupola, is a precous altar, where the Blessed Sacrament reposes. On both sides of the altar are two stairways of stone, leading to a little chapel called the chapel of the crib. Formerly the holy crib was ept here, but now a few pieces of wood taken from it remain on the altar. The main part of the crib is preserved in another part of the side chapel, enclosed in a magnificent silver-mounted crystal reliquary, surrounded by a gilt iron railing. Every year, on Christmas night, these relies used to be carried in solemn procession to the main altar of the church, procession to the main after of the cource, where they remained during three days, for public veneration. Old and young, beggars and princes, may be seen during these days, like the shepherds and kings of old in Bethlehem, histening to Santa Maria Maggoire to visit the holy crib.

Lafayette's Tomb.-Lafayette, is buried in a very small private cemetery, situated at No. 35 Rue de Picpus, Paris, at the end of the beautiful garden of the Convent of the "Daughters of the Perpetual Adoration of the Sacred Heart." Here are interred of the Sacred Heart." Here are interred the members of a very few aristocratic families such as the De Rohans, the De Rocheforts, the De Noailles, and the De Lafayettes. The tomb of the great patriot and statesman, Marie Jean Roch Yves Gilbert de Motier, Marquis de Lafayette, is a plain slab of brown stone, resting on four narrow coping stones, and surrounded by a neat and simple iron railing about four feet in height. At his side lies his wife, and at the head of his grave is that of his eminent and only son, George Washington Lafayette, the godson of the great President, with whom he resided when a great young boy for about four years at Mount

EXAMINATION, PRESENTATION AND ADDRESS

EXAMINATION, PRESENTATION AND ADDRESS.

The usual half-yearly examination of the pupils of the Kinkora school was held on the 20th inst., under the direction of Rev. Father O'Neil, assisted by the trustees. For general proficiency the children acquitted themselves in a very creditable manner. A large number of the parents and relatives of the pupils were present upon the occasion. The accurate and expert answers to each question is a testimony to show the amount of zeal that Mr. Freel has displayed towards the temporal weifare of these children. Kennedy read the following address:

DEAR AND RESPECTED TEACHER,—With feelings of deep regret we learn that the pleasing intercourse which it has been our prival liege to enjoy for the past few months must now cease. Pleasantly, but too swiftly, has the time seemed to pass whilst under your kind, considerate and able tuition. Your patience in bearing with our waywardness and affability of deportment has made an impression on our hearts that time cannot efface. Irilosing you we feel that a teacher at once both carnest, practical and devoted to his laudable profession has departed from our midst. We feel that we cannot suffer the present occasion to pass without manifesting in some form our appreciation of your seceptance of it, and praying that the future may be one of happiness to you, both as regards time and eternity.

The address was followed by the presentance of this accompanying glif, not for its intrinsic value but merely as a mark of the este heartfelt pleasure to the happy days ne spent in Kinkora.

Mr. Freel is an accomplished young gentleman, and owing to his kind and gentleman ner and forcibility as a teacher he has won the high approbation of both pupils and parents. The school children will in after life look to these days with pleasure and cherish them as a fond remembrance.

Yours truly,

M. KENNEDY.

An Ambezzlement Case.

Queen vs. Clark .-- This was a case in Queen vs. Clark.—This was a case in two counts, one for embezzlement and one for applying a draft to his own use, and thus depriving the prosecuter, Mr. John O'Donoghue, from the benefit of the same. The judge withdrew the first count from the jury, and the evidence adduced failed to prove that the prisoner had done wrong in holding back the draft, as he only did so to effect a settlement of an account he had against O'Donoghue, and did not conceal the fact of holding itback. It appears that the draft holding it back. It appears that the draft had been sent from Winnipeg on the 28th Nov. last, to Mr. Clark, and was made payable to him; he did not draw the money on the draft, but only held it for the purpose of getting a settlement with O'Donoghue. The case was ably handled by Mr. O'Connor, and the jury were not long in returning a verdict of "not guilty" with a further proviso that the draft be sent back to Winnipeg to be re-drawn in favor of Mr. O'Donoghue. Mr. Clark was then discharged without a stain upon his character; in fact the whole evidence went to show that he had always lived honor-ably and amicably with all who knew him, holding many positions of trust at his home in Teeswater and the town of Walk-He is also license inspector for erton. outh Bruce, a position which he has filled with honor to himself.
