AT CHRISTMAS

At Christmastide the ermine snow In feathered flakes comes drifting And wraps the shoulders of the hills

That seem to guard the sleeping town And in the hush and in the pause That mark the ending of the year, As softly as the falling snow Your gentle spirit draweth near, At Christmas.

At Christmastide an angel leaves The door ajar a little space, And peace and joy and charity Beam on us from the Shining Place And you, I think, slip through the door, Drawn by the well remembered days The silent house breathes out again The blessings of your quiet ways, At Christmastide old friends es

LESSON FOR DECEMBER 15 JOSEPH FORGIVES , HIS BRETH-REN.

LESSON TEXT—Genesis 45:1-15.
GOLDEN TEXT—If ye forgive men their trespasses, your heavenly father will also forgive you.—Matthew 6:14.
DEVOTIONAL READING—Genesis 44:
18-34. ADDITIONAL MATERIAL—Genesis 42: 1-44; Ephesians 4:31, 32.

1. Joseph Discloses His Identity to His Brethren (vv. 1-3). He treated his brethren harshly at first, his purpose being to ascertain as heartless men as before, and to produce penitence in their hearts. They keenly felt their guilt and heartlly repented of their folly. Judah's path appeal overcame his apparent harshness, causing him to disclose his iden tity. Being unable to restrain his pent up emotions he orders every one from his presence. This act on the part of Joseph troubled them; it ought to have made them glad. Their sins prevented it being a time of joy for them. This most beautifully illustrates Christ's dealing with his brethren, the Jews. Just as they who had rejected him and sold him were compelled to come to him for aid, so when the great tribulation comes, Christ's brethren, the Jews, will cry unto him for aid (Daniel 9:27;

12:1: Matthew 24:21: Zechariah 12:10-14). Joseph dealt severely with his brethren to test them and bring them to repentance. So Christ will do with the Jews (Hosea' 5:15: Ezekiel 22:19-22. As Joseph's love was bebind his harsh exactings, so back of Christ's treatment of the Jews will been great love for them.

II. Joseph's Efforts to Assuage the Grief of His Brethren (vv. 4-8).

When Joseph revealed himself to his brethren, the remembrance of their sins pierced them through. Joseph's first question was about his father This shows that his desire was to pu their thoughts far away from their crime. He invited them to come near unto him, and assured them God ha overruled their crime in sending him for their salvation. They meant it for showed that the Jews' treatment of Christ was such, and that God's overruling providence had turned it out for good. Just as Egypt was obliged to come to Joseph for sustenance and

Jacob would not have mourned the death of Joseph had he known of his glory. He now gave them the kiss of reconciliation and they were permitted to talk with him. Reconciliation precedes com-

DONT'S FOR CHRISTMAS

Don't limit the Christmas wreath

Don't limit the Christmas wreaths to your front windows. Hand them in the back windows too, and give the butcher boy and the greceryman and the other toilers the bene fit of the decorations. Save half of your cheerful words for the back-door callers.

Don't give an invalid a volume entitled "Thoughts of Death" or "Preparing for the Hereaftar." Prepare the invalid for the "right how" with a lot of laughs and a lot of hope by giving him or her some jolly books of plot and fun and travel, and add some interesting puzzles to keep the mind occupied.

Don't give Bobbie a drum and then scold him for beating it. Did you think he was going to use it for a cellar box or a writing desk. Don't buy three or four dollars worth of foolish tinsel and glass decorations for the tree. Think of the added games and candy and little toys you dould have got for that money. Make the tree decoration at home and prove both your economy and your originality.

Don't give your poor little friend a "pair of sensible present for a youngster, no matter how poor he is. He wants skates or a sled. The very best present you can give him is something to make him happy. That's all there is to Christmas.

Don't ornament the trea with lighted candles. Frequently the freme and and squart water all over the presents as a result of this, which never fails to dampen the Christmas festivities.

Don't say "I don't believe in Santa Claus," for that means you don't believe in yourself.

Don't give haby a whole bag of candy, together with cheap toys
