OCTOBER 15, 1909.

Jack Frost is never invited.

Discovering the pole is becoming a habit with Americans.

Success to the Cardston Military Band!

For centuries man tried in vain to reach the North Pole, and now it is discovered twice in one year.

Cardston will certainly receive a "boost" at the Dry Farming Congress.

Winnipeg is nothing if not courageous. A million dollars is a lot of money for a city of its size to raise for an exhibition; but the enthusiasm of the Manitoba capital concerning its Selkirk centennial knows no bounds.

It is very noticeable that the Peary-Cook controversy has burdened the telegraph wires some what less since the Peary-Pushout affair.

Now that Peary has produced what he calls his proofs, the world can rest easy for a while, for there is no reason to doubt that Cook discovered the pole. The proofs would not convict a criminal bull dog with a bad reputation.

THE HOME CIRCLE COLUMN

Revenge is the only debt which it is wrong to pay.

It is nice to be handsome but it is good deal handsomer to be nice.

Man, like the fire, is apt to torment women by going out at night.

A step taken for mother is a pearl dropped into your future diadem.

Take your future joy with you or you'll not find it even in heaven.

If your wife is the best woman in the world, tell her so; it will keep her young and lengthen her life.

The best way to manage a wife is to keep yourself always her lover.

The best biography—the life that writes charity in the largest letters.

Children need love, tenderness and sympathy as much as flowers need air and sunshine.

A happy family is but an earlier heaven.

There never was a woman but was just aching to tell some other woman how to do up her hair.

The reason why women do not propose is supposed to be due to the fact that they want to have the last word.

It is worth a thousand dollars a year to have the habit of looking on the bright side of things.

To bring what pleasure and contentment we can in every life is the best way to fill our own with beauty.

To make home happy is an art—an art a good many people have either lost or never found.

There is nothing gained in the government of children by threatening that which is not performed.

Men can be found who are willing to go to Africa as missionaries who are not willing to take care of a cross baby for the tired wife for half an hour.

Train your eyes to rest on the brightest spots in life. Pass the darkness on the other side. One of the sunniest places on earth is the spot made sacred by the hallowed influences of those we love in our own homes.

The time to have the brightest lamps lit, the hottest supper ready, to wear the gayest dresses and hunt up the funniest stories in one's memory, is the cold, rainy night, when there will not be any company, but when the homecoming husband, sons, or brothers will doubly enjoyed the cheer.

The father who is "chummy" with his boy, gets down to that eager, inquiring, restless little soul and explains and encourages does not need to cut a birch gad in order to maintain discipline; and the mother who sympathizes, cuddles and plays with her children can keep her slippers on her feet and her hair-brush on the dressing table. Children need love and sympathy as much as flowers need air and sunshine.

The best way to keep the boys at home is to make it an object for them not to go out to seek amusements, for these they will have. Every farm home ought to be made a very heaven on earth to its inmates. Not alone the farm home either, but all the houses in the land. Learn each child's nature, and then work some home charm to keep him in your circle.

Of all places praise should be most lavishly used in the family circle. How many of us keep all our words of kindness for strangers, for those in whom we have not one spark of vital interest; and to the hearts dependent upon us for sympathy and appreciation, have scarcely one cheerful word. If we are so niggardly in our praise of those who are closest to us, how can we expect them to be first for their share.

Of all the things for which a young person should strive, a good character stands easily at the head of the list. It may be hard to get on without wealth and education, but without a good character, no permanent and enduring success can be attained.

"Time has scattered the snowy flakes on her brow, plowed furrows in her cheeks—but is she not sweet and beautiful now? The lips which have kissed many tears from the childish cheeks are the sweetest lips in all the world. The eye is dim, yet it grows with the rapt radiance of a holy love which can never fade. Oh, yes, she is a dear old mother. Her sands of time are nearly run out, but feeble as she is she will go farther and reach down lower for you than will any other on earth. You cannot walk into midnight where she cannot see you; you cannot enter a prison whose bars shall keep her out; you cannot mount a scaffold too high for her to reach and bless you. In evidence of her deathless love, when the world shall despise and forsake you—when it leaves you by the wayside to die unnoticed—the dear old mother will gather you up in her feeble arms, carry you home and tell you of your virtues until you almost forget that your soul is disfigured by vices. Love her tenderly and cheer her declining years with holy devotion.

Let us take time for the good-by kiss. We shall go to the day's work with a sweeter spirit for it.

Let us take time for the evening prayer. Our sleep will be more restful if we have claimed the guardianship of God.

Let us take time so speak sweet foolish words to those we love. By-and-by, when they can no longer hear us, our foolishness will seem more wise than our best wisdom.

The Hudson-Fulton, celebration has not been in vain. Among New York's varied and manifold resources it has revealed thirty-eight pagpipers, all Scots.

Let us take time to read our Bible. Its treasures will last when we shall have ceased to care for the war of political parties, and rise and fall of stock, or the petty happenings of the day.

Let us take time to be pleasant. The small courtesies, which we often omit because they are small, will some day look larger to us than the wealth which we covet, or for the fame for which we struggled.

Let us take time to get acquainted with our families. The wealth you are accumulating, burdened father, may be a doubtful blessing to the son who is a stranger to you. Your beautifully kept house, busy mother, can never be a home to the daughter whom you have no time to caress.

A Tall Corn Story

This is said to have been in a letter written home by an eastern visitor to Kansas:

"Most of the Kansas streets are paved, grains of corn being used for cobble-stones, while the cobs are hollowed out for sewer-pipes. The husk when taken off whole and stood on end makes a nice tent for the children to play in. It sounds queer to hear the feed man tell the driver to take a dozen grains of horse-feed over to Jackson's livery stable. If it were not for the soft deep soil here I don't see how they would ever harvest the corn, as the stalks would grow up as high in the air as a Methodist church steeple. However when the ears get too heavy their weight presses the stalk down in the ground on an average of ninety-two feet, and thus brings the ear near enough to the ground to be chopped off with an ax."
