CITY HALL.

Decided Improvements in the Stage and Gallery.

It is possible now to form an opinion of the value of the improvements in the City Hall. The new stage looks very well, and at first sight does not appear to have encroached very much upon the Hall. It is reasonably spacious, and if it were not for the unavoidable obstruction caused by the chimney, would be large enough for all practical purposes. As it is, it is a very great improvement upon the old stage. What its acoustic properties are is yet to be tested, but it is satisfactory to know that they cannot be worse than those of the old stage. There are now no anti-rooms upstairs, and the doors in the proscennium give admission directly to the stage. Access to the anti-rooms down stairs is had by means of two stairways which are quite out of the way and are neatly railed in. The arrangement for foot-lights is a great improvement upon the old one, the lights being set in a box so as to be [illegible] out of the way as possible.

The Appearance of the Hall is on the whole improved by the alterations. The reduction in the size of the gallery throws one more window into the body of the hall, and gives the whole room a lighter and more cheerful appearance. The arrangement of seats in the gallery looks well from the stage and the sittings there will be among the best in the house. The total number of seats in the hall has been reduced by about twenty-six, but it is claimed that there is really more available seating space than ever, as there is now no [illegible] to the house from which there is no good view of the stage. A new row of [illegible] been placed directly in front of the gallery, where formerly there was standing room only. Of course we are without means of judging how the plan adopted would compare with that rejected, but the citizens can hardly fail to be pleased with the general effect and practical utility of the alterations.

Chit-Chat.

They tell me there is lots of quiet music in the Tory ranks. The true blue Tories are growing very cross about the way they are treated by Mr. Temple, who seems to take no one into his confidence, except an active up-town law firm, the members of which do not always close their doors when they want to say that there is nothing in common between themselves and "Wetmore, Winslow and that crowd." The Tory family is far indeed from being a happy one, and not even the privilege of handling the ex-sheriff's "bar'l" will lead the true blues to nominate him again.

They tell me that matters were no better at the University before the classes separated for the holidays than they were before the late disturbance. I wonder what that committee on discipline is doing? Nothing at all I believe, and it is a pity, for if better discipline is not enforced the College will go to the dogs.

What is this I hear about the endeavor to oust Mr. Phair from the License Commission? Perhaps there is nothing in it; but rumor has it that Judge Steadman gave the M. P. for York, to understand that if any "Shinnanagin" was attempted there would be music in the air. Perhaps this is true; perhaps it is not.

The Valley Railway.

Mr. Cutten, who has the contract for completing the section of the Valley Railway between Chelmsford and Blackville is making excellent progress with the work. He has been laying rails on the upper ten miles at the rate of half a mile a day, though the working crews are just now off, having gone home to spend the Christmas holidays.

We have before us the first traffic announcement of the road, which has been issued to business people of the up-river parishes as well as Chatham and Newcastle. It informs us that freight trains will, hereafter, be run daily on the Valley Railway and freight be received at Chatham Station, Ivory's and Chatham Junction, for Upper Nelson, (near the Boom House), 14 miles above Chatham, and Chelmsford, 18 miles above Chatham, Southesk freight will be received and delivered at the Upper Nelson siding. The announcement is also made that the management confidently expect that trains will run through to Blackville—a distance of twenty-nine miles from Chatham—within three weeks.

Even this partial opening of the Valley Railway for traffic will be a great accommodation to the freight business constantly offering for points up river. It saves the long haul between the towns and a point ten miles above Nelson, and is a decided advantage to the people of all the upper parishes on both branches of the river.—Advance.

Sociable at Mouth Keswick.

A "basket sociable" in the interest of the Free Baptist Church, Mouth Keswick, was held last evening, at Mr. Benj. Yerxa's. There was a large gathering of people, and a very pleasant time was spent. Upwards of forty baskets of cake were auctioned off, which averaged in the sale about $1 each. The proceeds are to be appropriated towards purchasing a new organ for the Church.

Mayor's Election.

The Mayor's election will be held on January 12th. So far no name is mentioned in connection with the office except Mr. Fenety's. There is a general disposition to permit him to take this office unopposed. He has made a good Mayor.

The Wood Supply.

The market is very well supplied with wood, although it is not all the best quality. Householders would appreciate some really first class cordwood. Grand Lake coal has made its appearance on the streets.

The members of this council have resolved to celebrate the anniversary of their lodge by holding a grand supper and entertainment on the 5th of February, 1885, upon which date, one year ago, this council was organized. The regular weekly meetings of this flourishing council are held on every Thursday evening, and have been largely attended during the past summer months, when some of the sister lodges were obliged to suspend meeting on account of non-attendance of members. A cordial invitation is extended to all to join with our noble cause who wish to advance the temperance work in this community. And we have great encouragement to prosecute the good work with renewed vigor, and hope that many more hearts and homes may be gladdened by uniting themselves with a cause which has for its object the suppression of one of the greatest evils afflicting mankind to-day.—Com.

THROUGH THE ICE

And Out Again Unaided, but Without any Damage.

Gilbert Russell was in his usual good spirits this morning when he drove his pair of horses upon the ice attached to a sled in which there was a load of stone for the bridge piers. He rode along serenely unconscious of the fact that he was about to make one of the most curious newspaper items, which has seen printer's ink in a long time. As Gilbert drove along about opposite the Normal School, and thought about the wickedness of the Tories in saying the bridge was a paper one, behold there was a sudden transformation. The ice opened without a word of warning, and Gilbert, his horses, his sled and his load of stone dropped quietly down into the water and absolutely out of sight. The water was twelve feet deep, and

Cold, Yes, Decidedly Cold,

Now there is an old saying that men who are born to be President of the United States will never meet their death in the water, and so Gilbert bobbed up serenely from his impromptu bath and got out upon the ice again, somewhat weak but all undaunted. Meanwhile the stones which filled the sled had acquired sufficient momentum to set them sliding, and out they went in a heap, and found a resting place upon the bottom of the river. Released of their weight, the sled came to the surface and the horses with it, and Gilbert, equal to the emergency and without the slightest assistance, got the whole concern safely on firm ice again, without the slightest bit of damage being done to anything except the navigation of the river. The hole in the ice in which this scene was transacted is only about 15 feet long by 8 feet wide.

Death of Senator Muirhead.

A despatch from Chatham this morning announces the death of Senator Muirhead, which occurred at that place to-day. The Hon. William Muirhead was the son of the late John Muirhead, of Dumfrieshire, Scotland, who came to Nova Scotia in 1817 and carried on the business of ship building. He was born at Pictou, April 4th, 1819. He married Miss Annie Grey. He sat in the Legislative Council of New Brunswick from 1867 until called to the Senate in 1875. He was a liberal in politics. Mr. Muirhead was a very prominent business man, being engaged in ship building, lumbering, milling, and general trade. Senator Muirhead was a man who was very highly esteemed in the community in which he resided for so many years, and throughout the Province. He took a leading part in many important enterprises, among them being the Maritime Bank, the Coldbrook Rolling Mills Company, the Northern & Western Railway, the Miramichi Ship Building Company, the Maritime Warehousing and Dock Company and others.

Monte Cristo at the Institue.

The applause which greeted W. H. Lytell on making his entree last evening, says the St. John Sun of this morning, was the best index as to the hold that he has on a St. John audience. A crowded house gave him round after round of applause before he had even opened his mouth. It was the same old genial smile that immediately appealed to the house. The piece which was played last night was a dramatic version of Monto Cristo. Students of Dumas' famous novel who expected the plot to be followed out in its entirety, were disappointed, for after the second act Mr. Stetson, who is credited with dramatizing the novel, had disposed of the characters without having recourse to Dumas. The great difficulty in dramas of this description is the want of connection between the acts, but the author from first to last had done his best to maintain a deep interest in the plot, and the piece has some excellent thrilling scenes. Gilbert Elliott took the part of Monto Cristo, and considering the fact that he had four distinct characters to assume, was highly successful. At the close of the fourth act he was called before the curtain. Lytell always makes a character amusing, and he got all the humor possible out of the dissipated tailor Cadcrousse.

Mr. Lytell's company will present Monte Cristo and Rommany Rye in the City Hall, on the 5th and 6th of January.

A Dreadful Tragedy.

[Special to Gleaner.]

PORTLAND, Oregon, Dec 30.—Near Chekalis W. T., on the line of the Northern Pacific Railroad, night before last, Wm. Pearson, a well-to-do farmer, who is a strong believer in spiritualism, imagined that he had received an order from a higher power to kill his infant child. This he did with a hammer. When he had finished he showed what he had done to his wife, who is also a spiritualist. He then said that if she would cut her throat he would do the same. Both were found yesterday half frozen with their throats cut, but not yet dead. Pearson has revived sufficiently to state what is above related. He and his wife will probably die.

A Dreadful Fire.

[Special to Gleaner.]

CHICAGO, Dec. 30.—Despatch from Pierre, Dakota, this morning says this town is one seething mass of flame and all efforts of the citizens are unavailing to stay the fire. The wind is blowing a fierce gale and the mercury is down to 25 below zero. All the pumps are frozen solid and it is impossible to secure water, and men, women and children are working desperately, endeavoring to save property. The Stebbins house caught fire and was entirely destroyed, after which the fire was brought under control. The loss is now estimated at $75,000, and insurance about $50,000.

The late Earthquake in Spain.

Special to Gleaner.

MADRID, Dec. 30.—Every fresh detail received from the districts in which the earthquake shock was severest, adds new horror to the great calamity. At Nerja, a town of 5,000 population in the Province of Malaga, and 27 miles east of the city of the same name, the earthquake was followed by a hurricane. This finished the destruction of many houses which had already been brought to the brink of ruin by the previous shock. The inhabitants fled in terror from their houses and camped outside the town, much suffering has been caused by scarcity of provisions.

On to Khartoun.
