> Dr. Wild, of Toronto, is able to draw a large crowd and preach a pretty good sermon occasionally, but he has also all the elements for making a fool of intm self, if a recent sermon of his may be fairly judged. While denouncing "Billy O'Brien," as he termed him, with all the bitterness at his command, he urged that he should be mobbed, offering to help if necessary, using language towards him that was entirely unbecoming a minister of the gospel, and stating that a good many citizens of Toronto who hold diff erent religious views to his own, were only "tolerated" by the grace of men like himself and others. There was al together too much personal bias and political prejudice in his sermon. The Toronto News gives the eccentric divine a sharp rap over the knuckles when it
