Cochrane St. Meth. Church.

A very large congregation assembled in the above Church last evening, when the Pastor, Rev. C. A. Whitmarsh, preached on "Ships that pass in the night." Our life is a voyage, and as we pass over the waters we meet others on the same journey. We hail them, and for a few moments there is converse, and then we pass from them, perhaps for ever. The preacher spoke of the perils and dangers of the way, of the different classes of voyagers, and of the good we might do by taking advantage of every opportunity that presented itself. Miss Herder sang the offertory solo, "O Divine Redeemer," by Gounod, with great expression, and the congregation much enjoyed her full and sweet tones. The choir gave a choral song, "Prayer for the Mariner" by Jude, and "Newfoundland," the ode by Sir Cavendish Boyle, with Mr. Allen's splendid setting. Their singing was much appreciated. The large congregation joined heartily in the "Songs of the Sea," it was most inspiring to hear the fine singing by such a body of voices. The service will be long remembered by those who attended it.—Com.

BROCKVILLE, To-Day.
The steamer Keystone, coal laden, ran aground on the Scotch shoal and completely dropped from view in one hundred and fifty feet of water. It is doubtful if it is possible to raise her. The loss is $125,000. The impact was so great as to tear away several feet of the hull. Water came in rapidly. Captain Dalgault and crew took to the boats and were able to secure most of their personal belongings. A motor boat picked them up.

Denies the Accusation.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir—In reply to the accusation of "Jehu" in Saturday's edition of your paper, in which he accuses me of unfair dealings with cabman, I beg to say that what he states is not correct. I have always been ready to employ any cab at hand and made no discrimination as the records of my work will show. I have repeatedly asked cabman to convey patients to the different institutions and have been subject to refusal and all manner of insults. I have also made engagements which have not been kept, and put patients and myself to great inconvenience and hardship. Now since the new tariff fares have been increased, those cabman who formerly refused to drive me under any consideration, under the lower tariff are now clamouring for freights. Thanking you for space.

I remain,
Yours very truly,
ELI WHITEWAY.

This morning Mr. Justice Johnson made an order on the application of the plaintiff in the F. U. Trading Company vs. the Chronicle Publishing Company, striking out paragraphs 2, 3, 4, 5, 6 and 7 of the defence and intimating that it involves the consequences that if the amended defence does not fit in with remaining particulars, the plea of justification will be stricken out. Costs were allowed to plaintiff on application.

Hispaniola Again Wrecked.

TOTAL LOSS THIS TIME.

The Collector of Customs at Chancel wired Mr. H. LeMessurier at this end this morning acquainting him that the banking schooner Hispaniola, Rose, master, dragged from her anchors at daylight and became a total loss in Mother Lake's Brook. The crew are safe. The Hispaniola was a fine vessel and one of our largest and most successful banking crafts. This is the second misfortune she has met with. It may be remembered she went ashore in a snow storm at St. Jacques last winter and was beached. After being re-floated and the spars and deck gear taken out of her, she was towed to Belleoram and sold at public auction. She was purchased by Mr. E. J. Burdock, repaired and refitted and was brought to St. Pierre Dock to have the finishing touches made to her. The Hispaniola in the first place was a new vessel. Her former owners were Job Bros., and her first commander, Capt. John Lewis, the well known banking skipper.

Hurt By Blast.

We learn by the Fogota that on Thursday last an accident occurred at Old Perlican which may cause Jno. Tilley of that place his life. He was blasting rocks, and after firing the fuse leading to the heavy charge of gunpowder, took shelter out of danger behind a forge, about 20 yards from the scene of the explosion. One large rock thrown high in the air descended on the man, hitting him in the side of the head and felled him to the ground. It also took the flesh off his shoulder, broke the bone, and he was a long time unconscious and bled a great deal. Dr. Peckford treated him and the man is dangerously ill ever since.

A Pathetic Incident.

A pathetic incident in connection with the disappearance of the schooner George May is that a little boy aged 12, Ralph Greege by name, was on board. He came here to see St. John's for the first time on the schooner and before returning talked of the wonderful things he had seen, and which he intended relating to his mother, who alas he was never more to meet. An older brother, Daniel, came up in the schooner Little Gem and returned home in her, and knew nothing of Ralph's fate until his mother broke the news to him. Though the crew of the Little Gem knew of the loss of the George May, they could not bring themselves to tell the lad of it. The boy's father has been absent from home for 12 years, and nothing has been heard of him since leaving.

Gas is Coal With the Trouble Taken Out.

Gas is really nothing more than coal, only with gas you have the coal less the dirt, ashes and smoke. These have been taken out by the Gas Company. The weight, too, has been taken out, for when you use gas you don't have to carry it up from the cellar in buckets, straining your back in the attempt. All of the drudgery has been removed. The Gas Company has taken everything out of the coal but the heat—and that's the one thing you want. This they deliver to you right to the burner of your range. You only have to turn a tap and strike a match in order to have it. If your mind is half made up to buy a GAS RANGE, remove the remaining doubt by thinking of last summer and the many days when your kitchen was like a burning furnace. The gas range never overheats the kitchen. Phone the Gas Company, or call at their showrooms and get full particulars.

What is Home Without a Mother?

What is home without a mother? What are all the joys we meet. When her loving smile no longer greets the coming of our feet? The days seem long, the nights are drear. And time rolls slowly on; And oh! how few are childhood's pleasures. When her gentle, gentle care is gone. Things we prize are first to vanish. Hearts we love to pass away; And how soon, e'en in our childhood, We behold her turning, turning grey; Her eyes grow dim, her step is slow; Her joys of earth are past; And sometimes 'ere we learn to know her. She hath breath'd on earth, on earth her last. Older hearts may have their sorrows. Griefs that quickly die away. But a mother lost in childhood. Grieves the heart, the heart from day to day; We miss her kind, but willing hand. Her fond and earnest care; And oh! how dark is life around us. What is home without, without her there.

CONSOLATION.
Wife of the belated fox-hunter: "Oh, Perkins, what do you think can have happened to Sir John? Surely if he'd been thrown and hurt the mare would have found her way home by now!"
Coachman: "Oh, no, mum. A nice gentle animal like 'er would have browsed round the body until it was found."

SOLD OUT.
On his arrival at Hastings, Mr. Ponglet met Mr. Ponglet and his family, about to return to town with bag and baggage.

"What? Going back to town so soon? Why, the season is hardly begun."
Mr. Ponglet (engaged two daughters have become engaged): "What's the use of staying any longer? I've sold out."

DAISY'S DIAGNOSIS.

"Oh, no, not a bit of it," countered the miss.
