SAFETY FIRST

Grips like the sole of an athlete's shoe

The cross bars on a football player's shoes give him a firm footing—he is able to run, jump, make sharp, quick turns with more assurance and safety.

The specially toughened Safety Bars on Goodrich Tires cut through the film and obtain a firm grip on the road surface—thus preventing the skid from starting. And there's another reason why you should equip with Goodrich Safety Treads—the extra thickness at the point of contact insures extra wear.

Regatta Notes.

Already there is considerable interest centred in the Regatta, and last evening the lake side was well sprinkled with people. The race boats Mary and Togo were in commission, and not less than fifteen crews were out for a spin.

The Royal Stores will be represented in the Mercantile Race. The crew went over the course last evening in the Mary, and showed up well.

Reid's Factory crew had their trial spin in the Togo. They are a strong aggregation and with practice will have to be reckoned with.

Not since the Football Race first occupied a place on the programme will that event be as exciting and interesting, as it promises to be this year. At least five clubs, we hear, will be represented, namely, the Collegians, C.E.F., B.I.S., Capais and Feildians. The Stars, Saints and St. Bon's are still considering the matter and may yet decide on entering. If they do there will likely be two heats rowed, owing to the insufficient number of boats available.

"Ned" Brophy is forming a Trades' crew for the new boat, but he will have to go some to put it over "Joe" Boone's stalwarts in the Nettle R.

The Myrtle is now being painted and thoroughly cleaned. She will be available for practice to-morrow.

The Regatta Committee will meet to-morrow night to consider a lot of important business.

Hr. Grace Notes.

Miss T. Garland, daughter of Mr. Joseph Garland, has just accepted a position in the Grocery Store of Mr. Joseph Ross.

We heard a little chap telling another a few days ago that Mr. Higgins did not intend to cut hair any longer. No, nor shorter either on the Wednesday holidays, as he has decided to enjoy himself one day each week, and take the children in the country for an outing.

Mr. William Smith, son of the late W. H. Smith, blacksmith, passed away at his home here at 5 o'clock last evening, after an illness extending over seven years. He was a member of the C.B.B. and S.O.E. societies, and both bodies will attend the funeral to-morrow afternoon. The deceased, who was only 38 years of age, leaves a widow and three children to mourn his death.

Another member of the British Society died at Boston, on June 11th, after a year's sickness—Mr. George Taylor, son of the late William Taylor, of Bear's Cove. He also leaves a widow and family.

A number of the brethren of Lodge "Harbor Grace," went to Bay Roberts this morning to be present at the opening of "Mackay" Lodge of that town.

Kyle's Report.

The Reid Nld. Co. received a message from Capt. Parsons, of the S. S. Kyle, saying that the ship had left Battle Harbour at 2 p.m. yesterday, coming south.

Capt. Parsons reported a sign of codfish from Griffin's Harbour to Battle Harbour, and that the Labrador coast is now free from ice. When the ship left Battle Harbour a dense fog and heavy wind prevailed, so that she is not expected to reach port until Sunday next.

St. John's Gas Light Company.
 Dear Sir,—I have analyzed a sample of Sulphate of Ammonia made at your Works and I found 20.5 per cent of NITROGEN, Sulphates of Ammonia and Nitrate of Soda are the two principal Nitrogen manures.

Sulphate of Ammonia is less soluble than Nitrate of Soda, consequently it is a safer manure to use during a wet season.

Yours truly,
D. JAMES DAVIES, B.S.C., F.C.E.
 Analyst and Assayer.

MR. LE DREW had a good sign of codfish in his traps the past few days. The fish are of large run, and we hope it will continue for a time.

Much sympathy is felt here for Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Downing, of St. John's, whose little daughter was poisoned there a few days ago.

Mr. John Quinn, of the Herald staff, spent Sunday and Monday here, returning to the capital on Monday evening.

Clears The Head, Opens The Nostrils, Stops Sneezing, Cures Catarrh.

You Get Instant Relief by Inhaling the Soothing Vapor "Catarrhizone."

Catarrh is bound to come with this weather. Slight colds become more offensive and sickening every day. The inflammation extends further into the head. Soon the ears begin to buzz and ring. The head aches, the eyes pain dreadfully, the nose gets plugged up and this forces the patient to breathe through the mouth. The filthy secretions are forced back into the throat, requiring a great deal of coughing to keep the air passages free. Finally, this foul matter finds its way into the stomach, causing dyspepsia and general ill-health. By this time the patient has SYSTEMATIC CATARRH, which saps strength, depletes the vital energies till consumption is the unhappy result.

There isn't the slightest use in trying to cure this condition with tablets, snuff or spray. Such treatments are wholly inadequate. You must employ Catarrhizone, the only remedy that possesses power to kill the germs of Catarrh. The healing vapor of Catarrhizone is carried by the air you breathe to the most minute cells of the nose, throat, bronchial tubes and lungs. Its antiseptic medication goes everywhere that air can go. No case is too chronic, no person too old—everybody that has catarrh of any kind can be cured by this grand treatment which is endorsed by thousands of physicians throughout America, who say: "The only way to permanently get rid of Catarrh is to use Catarrhizone."

TWO MONTHS' TREATMENT GUARANTEED TO CURE. PRICE $1.00; small size 50c.; trial size 25c. Sold by dealers everywhere.

Divorced Life

By Helen Hessong Fuesle

A Rainy Day

Marian stood at the window of her little room, rested her forehead against the pane, and peered gloomily out upon the wet, muggy street. Below in the parlor of the rooming house someone was drumming the piano drearily. In an adjoining room she could hear an aspiring actor rehearsing his lines. For one line he seemed unable to catch the right emphasis. He struggled patiently with the baffling line, repeating and repeating it without end.

"He is unable to do it," he said with grim earnestness. Then: "He IS unable to do it." Again he would try it thus: "He is unable to DO it."

Marian stood listening to him until she felt that she must scream out her assistance, or else tell the actor that her own personal opinion was that no one was able to do it, whatever "it" was; that none of those upon whom he was trying to inflict the obligation was the man for the job. In this frame of mind she had crossed to the window for relief.

In moody spirits, she watched the little bubbles the winddrops made as they smote the pavement. Never had she felt as glum in her life as to-day—not even during those bleak and empty days with Frank.

Presently she saw the street lights begin to sparkle here and there. The rain stopped and soon a heavy fog descended, masking the faces of the thoroughfare's houses. Turning from the window, Marian found herself in a back room. She turned on the lights and began listlessly to dress for dinner. Already a few prompt six-o'clockers had gone down. Marian had recognized their steps as they passed her door. Old Mr. Fairbanks, a past middle-aged man of the family, and who "at one time" had lived on Riverside Drive, according to Mrs. Kern, the landlady, habitually walked with a curious little uncertain step—one, two, halt, one, halt, one, two. He rose at about six p.m. and retired at about four a.m. He still imagined himself as one of the smart set.

The elderly couple who roomed on Marian's floor, whose minister used to be Mr. Van Dyke, whom they used to know "very, very well," and with whom they had shaken hands "many times," were likewise easily identified by their walk—a feeble patter beside an uncertain heavier stride, then down the stairs marked by the sound of the heavier step, a pause, and the heavy step's echo in the soft patter that followed.

To-morrow—Luck on a Rainy Evening.

Never had she felt as glum in her life as to-day—not even during those bleak and empty days with Frank.

Marian had observed the Boston trio for several days. Obviously, she had at once concluded, they were not boarding house people. And now, after what Mrs. Kern had said, Marian divined that the Barkers were stopping here undoubtedly for sentimental reasons, perhaps merely in order not to hurt Mrs. Kern.

"And you're from the South, I know," said Barker, in reply to Marian's remarks. His soft, interesting voice thrilled her. She felt her eyes being riveted to his handsome, clean-cut face. She gazed into his eyes and found them wonderfully brown and kind. His gentle gaze seemed to penetrate her brain and spirit, and a flood of peculiar happiness went storming sweetly through her.

To-morrow—Luck on a Rainy Evening.
