THE INCONCEIVABLE MEANNESS.

Self-justification is the law of human thoughts. I don't suppose anyone ever did anything so mean, so selfish, so wicked that he did not, nevertheless, find means to justify his deed to himself. But I heard of something the other day that I cannot conceive of anyone's being able to justify.

A very dramatic true story precedes the part that has to do with this inconceivable meanness.

A Passion for Life Insurance.

Some years ago there lived a young man who, although he was apparently a pleasant, normal young man, must have been unbalanced in some way. Though making only as much money as the average young man of 25 or 26, and though he had a wife to support, he had a passion for taking out enormously large insurance policies.

Rumor went about that he had taken out $150,000 on himself.

Rumor was wrong. He had insurance policies to the extent of $450,000 and he was aiming to make it half a million.

How on earth could he pay the premium on all these even for a few months?

When the question was asked, vague answers of real estate deals by which he had made much money on the side were given.

The real answer came out when he was arrested for forgery.

How He Raised Money.

By means of forging he had raised large sums which he had used to pay his premiums. He had also borrowed money on notes, on one of which he had gotten the endorsement of a young office mate of his.

He was allowed out on bail and a sheriff detailed to guard him. Despite the most careful guarding he was found dead in his sleep under circumstances which suggested but did not prove suicide.

Of course there was a big fight between the insurance companies and the family as some of the insurance was void in case of suicide.

Ultimately the family collected about $200,000.

And now comes the part of the tale which leaves me wondering how the insides of the minds of those two women, who were the chief beneficiaries, must feel.

The whole thing happened some years ago. In the office where that man used to work there is another young man who is just paying the last instalment on a $2,000 note which he endorsed for his office mate for friendship's sake.

And the two women relatives of that man who received something like a $100,000 a piece would not do one thing to help him out.

There Might Be an Explanation.

The story comes to me third or fourth hand. Some of the details may be wrong. But if they were right it certainly is not easy to see how those women can possibly give the faintest justification to themselves for their course.

Somewhere, presumably, they are living—buying themselves pretty things, going to the theatre, going to Church probably, and all the time inside their minds they carry about this inconceivable meanness.

Bring them up against a shoplifter or a modern Magdalene and they would probably look down on her.

There are many strange things in this world but fewer stranger than the insides of people's minds.

EARLY CABLES.

FRENCH WEAKENING?
LONDON, April 6.

This week's visit to Great Britain of Louis Locheur, former French Minister of Construction, during which he had conferences with Bonar Law, Lloyd George, Stanley Baldwin, Chancellor of the Exchequer, Earl Derby, Secretary for War, regarding the broad questions of the Anglo-French relations, is declared to be considered by British officials as showing a definite weakening on the part of the French on the whole question of the Ruhr occupation.

BOCHUM AGAIN STORM CENTRE.
ESSEN, April 6.

Bochum is again the storm centre in the Ruhr because of repeated acts of individuals against French troops and continued refusal of German officials to obey French army orders. Penalties have been imposed on the city and French soldiers yesterday collected fines by force. The streets on which the banks are located were blocked by troops while a detachment went into the Reichsbank Branch and seized two hundred and fifty million marks. Bochum is still without police protection and when there are signs of unrest the French send up sausage balloons from which they watch movements of the population.

A TYPHOID EPIDEMIC.
COLBAT, Ont., April 6.

Advice from Colborne to-day say that there are now six hundred and fifteen cases of typhoid there, representing one-fifth of the population. There have been nineteen deaths. There were one hundred cases last week. Drinking water is being brought from a lake some distance from the town and is selling two gallons for a quarter.

FRENCH NAVAL IMPROVEMENT.
PARIS, April 6.

Preliminary tests recently made with modernized French battleships indicate, it is stated, that slight alterations have improved the firing distance of their sixteen inch guns from thirty to forty per cent. While French naval circles exercise the utmost secrecy as to exact improvement, there is a suggestion that the French battleships now outdistance those of other navies of the world unless the same process has been carried out in the matter of slight elevation.

NOT GUILTY.
HALIFAX, April 6.

Allister Munroe, was this afternoon found not guilty of the murder of Leslie Corkum, Halifax grocer, on October 31st. The jury returned with a verdict of acquittal after an hour's deliberation.

Political Paragraphs.

If the "Humber Deal" is a good thing it would be well to have an honest Government to carry out its promises.

The present Government made a muddle of everything that they undertook. They would also make a muddle of the Humber Deal.

The best plan then is to take no chances but to turn them out and elect a Bennett Government. It is the only way to save the country.

The sentiment of the outports is, no doubt, against the present Government and all the boodle given out at the eleventh hour will not save them.

The people will take the money and vote against the Government. It has always happened so, because the common people have more intelligence than the squanderers give them credit for.

After all is said and done a certain admiration is due to Squires and Coaker for their gall and impudence in expecting the people to elect them again after reducing the country to such a state of gloom, misery and depression.

The result of this election from the Government standpoint resolves itself into the question: "Can we get enough of money to buy enough of voters of the country to make a majority?"

The sooner polling day comes the better it will be for poor old Terra Nova. The way that squandering, extravagance and "buying up" are going on no country can stand it.

When the expenditure of the past 12 months is revealed the people of Newfoundland will be so horrified that the names of Coaker, Squires and Campbell will be execrated by generations yet unborn.

But the people are determined on a change and a change we are going to have. The times are too bad to allow a Government with such a record four years more.

Mr. Coaker's Advocate takes merit to itself as being against the merchants and ridicules the Opposition because there are merchants like Hickman, Mohroe, Crosbie, Ayre, Long, and Moore in it. Just so, but will Mr. Coaker's Union Stores give out supplies for the fishery next month?

Sir Michael Cashin is admitted by all to be one of the ablest and most successful Finance Ministers we ever had. He is a lover of strength to any party and no dishonesty has ever been proven against him. In the face of these facts the Government organs insult the intelligence of a certain section of the electors every day by telling them that they should not vote for the Opposition because there is such a man in its ranks. What hypocrisy.

One way of translating the argument of Mosdell and Clouter is this, "Cashin has brains and ability though he has given up the leadership to Bennett he will be able to use his brains and ability. What shall we do about it? We can't perform an operation on him that would turn him into a mute or a fool. We can't buy him, we can't silence him. Would that we could take him outside the Narrows and drown him." "No, we'll not do that, but we'll frighten the North with his name."

Bennett is the Leader, Messrs. "Advocate" and "Mail," and you will have sorrow to know it after polling day. The "Cashin" cry and the "Humber" cry will not save you now, the people have their eye on your three years record of squandering and increasing taxation and they refuse to see any "red herring" that you draw across the trail. They want to punish you for your political crimes.

Squires and Coaker are fond of delivering "Humber" speeches to the public these days. I would suggest more interesting topics such as "How we spent the twelve million loan?" "Why we increased the taxes from 88 to 63 per cent?" "How we got Reid in his place?" "What our trips to London cost the tax payers?" "How

In Bennett's bounty system it is the fishermen who catches the fish that will get the bounty. It cannot be taken by any middle man and cannot be attached. It will go direct into the pocket of the man who catches the fish. The merchant will have nothing whatever to do with it. The payment will go direct to the fisherman.

Washington pie is simply made: Spread jam between layers of cake and sprinkle top with powdered sugar. Be sure that in seating guests at your table you do not crowd them. Allow twenty inches from plate to plate. Better for fritters improve by standing an hour or so, there is no need to make batter just before using. Baked herring looks tempting ser-
