QUEEN'S INTERMEDIATES BEAT ST. MIKES IN FINAL

Victory by 22--2 Score Gives Kingston Gridders Championship.

VOSS AND ADA SHINE

Toronto, Nov. 17.—Queens added another championship for their college halls, when their intermediates won the intercollegiate rugby championship by defeating St. Michaels, 22 to 2 and 41 to 10 on the round here this afternoon. Voss and Ada, Queens' star backfielders, were responsible for all the tri-color points. The general play of Carl Voss, former star of Riverdale C. I., was the bright feature of the game. If not kicking, Voss would run ap and make sensational tackles. His broken field running was an added feature. Queens have a future great one in Voss. Ada and McKelvey led the rest of the Queens aggregaten.

St. Michaels were badly outclassed throughout the entire contest. Lebel and O'Brien did most of the ball carrying. Lowrey's kicking had not its usual effect. Trotter was the best lineman for the losers.

Canadian Bantam Champion Decisively Outpoints Motor City Miller.

Detroit, Nov. 17.—Joe Lucas could not whip Howard Mayberry, Canadian bantam champion, if the code of boxing discriminated to the point of permitting him to adjust his gloves to his feet and applying them alternately with his hands.

Ands.

Of this everybody in the crowd that packed the Elks auditorium to eyelash capacity was satisfield, when Mayberry finished shellacing the Detroit boy for 10 rounds tonight. Due to the fact that he is tough and soaked up a lot of punishing on his frontpiece between his brow and chin Lucas stayed on his feet through the entire bombardment.

For the first seven rounds Lucas didn't lay a glove on Mayberry, except when he went into a clinch. Howard shot his punches from so many angles, and with so much accuracy that poor Joe must have been under the impression that he was surrounded by the Bolshevik army. Beginning with the eighth Joe got a little courage from some quarter and had better success. Thereafter it was more of a contest, though Lucas still was on the receiving end of a sharp attack which terminated near the close of the tenth round, when Mayberry nearly upset him with the cleanest and hardest punch of the night. It settled in the vicinity of, Joe's chin and sent him, reeling across the ring, where Mayberry went in hot pursuit just as the concluding gong sounded. Of this everybody in the crowd that

A goal-to-goal touchdown is the rugby player's dreams. It is the rugby equivalent to the baseball player's secret hope, "a home run in the ninth with the bases full and the score

Canadian Press Despatch.

Toronto, Nov. 47.—A capacity house and 34 rounds of boxing, or imitiations of the manly art of self-defence, ushered in the local winter fistic season at the Standard theatre tonight, and, with the exception of the main event, the bouts were thoroughly satisfactory. The "eight-rounds-or-less" main bout, with Fred Snell of Birkenhead and Johnny Kleisch of Cleveland as the principals, was the weak number on the program. At times a little incidental music might have helped. The affair went eight round, with Kleisch getting the decision without a dissenting vote. have helped. The affair went eight round, with Kleisch getting the decision without a dissenting vote.

The bout was alleged to have been arranged to find out which of the pair would be sent against Jack Reddick as soon as he is reinstated, but it did more than that: it demonstrated that neither of them was a fit opponent for the Moose Jaw blonde. Kleisch was, much the better of the two, and after a slow beginning, he went out in front in the third, and steadily piled up a good lead. Snell to put it briefly, was a disappointment.

The majority of the fans did not like the judges' decision in favor of Alex Burlie of this city over Willie Davis of G. Pittsburg. The pair put up a pretty battle. Davis did most of the leading but was frequently beaten to the punch by Burlie. The Pittsburg man finished strong, and to many looked to have earned a draw at least.

Sid Conn of Toronto was too fast. Sid Conn of Toronto was too fast. The tabulated results were:

Ty Cobb: Remaker of Baseball

Rube Waddell Threw It-Ty Cobb Hit It-It Won a Pennant.

CHAPTER XVII. -

By H. G. SALSINGER. Baseball historians, setting down how a pennant was won, often point to one series that was the break in a to one series that was the break in a season's race. One can go deeper in this analysis. One can point to a certain game as the deciding one of that particular series and that game probably had one play that was the preak of the game, and that one play came on a certain pitched ball.

Ask any major league pitcher and he will tell you that one ball pitched wrong can decide a ball game; it not alone can, but often does.

The fact that St. Marys had asked for particulars of entry fees from the O. A. B. A. may solve a few of the grouping difficulties if the stone town decides to enter, especially in the inter-

Philadelphia, was later told by Waddelelphia, was later told by Waddelelphianself. We have a vivid recollection of his recital and the story follows:

"Up comes this Cobb, and I feeds him a fast one on the inside where he wasn't supposed to particularly like to see "em pitched. I always figured that if this fellow had any weakness it was on a ball pitched ball robbed the Athletics of a victory, and that one pitched ball mabled Detroit to win the pennant in 1907.

After having batted against all kinds of pitching over a stretch of weakness it was on a ball pitched ball. "Well, I shoved the first one in over the inside corner of the plate and he never looks at it. The umpire calls it a strike, but he pays no attention to it. I immediately figures this bird is looking for a certain ball, thinking Ted give him just what he wanted on the next one or the one after that. He figures Tr going to be working on him. So I see my chance to cross him up. I says to myself. "Il feed this cuckoo one in the same spot an' get him in a hole, then let him guess on what's comin."
