The Meaning of Chevrolet's "Economical Transportation"

IT is more economical to travel by Chevrolet than by any other means. That is what it means to say that Chevrolet is the most economical form of transportation.

This implies, first of all, that Chevrolet costs the least per car-mile—that it is less expensive to operate than any other make of car.

But, more than that, it means that Chevrolet is more economical than any other kind of transportation.

An investigation among Chevrolet owners of all classes, shows that it is not only more convenient—but also more economical—to travel by Chevrolet than by railway-train or trolley car. The information received gives an average of 30 miles per gallon of gasoline and over 1,300 miles per gallon of oil.

Chevrolet is easy to own. The G.M.A.C. plan of deferred payments will enable you to finance the purchase. Investigate the new Superior Chevrolet today.

CHAS. MARCIL ON CHURCH UNION

Member for Bonaventure Co.
Gives his Views in the House

Ottawa, July 4.—On Monday, the 30th of June, Honorable Charles Marcil, M. P. for Bonaventure, made the following remarks in the House of Commons, in the Debate on the Bill to incorporate the United Church of Canada:

"As a member of the Private Bills Committee I was called upon by my constituency to devote more than ordinary attention to this bill. I have had the honour for a great number of years to represent that constituency in which close upon one-third of the people are English speaking Protestants. They were divided in their opinion upon this bill just as the others who are interested in this question, but not being a member of any of the churches immediately concerned my sole object was to try and bring about an understanding such as would promote Christian union generally. I strove to the best of my ability to effect such an understanding. I was in favour of union, and I supported the principle of union in the committee in deference to the request made by a large number of my constituents; but having received representations from a considerable number of others who are opposed to union, I thought I would furnish the dissenters with an opportunity of making good their case. Therefore, I supported the amendment that was inserted in the bill. I also had the honour of serving as a member of the sub-committee which sat for two or three days with the idea of trying to bring about an understanding. Having failed in these respects I now appeal to the majority in this the final court of appeal in favor of the idea contained in the amendment of the Hon. member (Mr. Duff). In my constituency the chief Presbyterian Church is located in New Carlisle, but some of the members of the congregation reside thirty or forty miles away from that town. They are scattered over a long coast line and it would be physically impossible for all these people to be assembled to gether at a certain date at a specific point to express their views on this important question. In fairness therefore to all parties concerned—those in favour of union as well as those opposed to it—I think the House would do well to find a means of giving both sides an opportunity of expressing their opinion in this country which is a good one, which has stood the test of time; it is that the will of the majority must prevail. In church matters I presume the same rule will have to apply, although doubtless there will be dissenters as there always have been. I am old enough to remember when the break occurred in the Presbyterian Church in the city of Montreal. I refer to the occasion when Sir Hugh Allan, and other members of the old Scottish Presbyterian Church Montreal refused to enter the new Presbyterian Church in Canada, but remained connected with the Presbyterian Church in Scotland. There will still be a Presbyterian Church in Canada even after the union which this bill accomplishes is brought about. For how long a period this will be no one can tell but it will continue for some time. In the meantime, in the best interests of the country, I think all fair means should be adopted, especially in view of the conditions in my own constituency which I have described, to obtain as complete an expression of opinion as possible. It is physically impossible to get all these people, many of them fishermen and lumbermen who are absent from home, together in the one place at a fixed hour—it is out of the question to obtain a complete expression of opinion. Therefore I think the principle of the ballot should be adopted which would be the best means of convincing all parties that the real opinion of the majority has been obtained. What better means could be used than that which is universal throughout the country, not only in parliamentary elections but in case of controversies of various kinds and which is secret? That is a vote by ballot. I think it would be wise on the part of the promoters of the bill to accept the suggestion that the law clerk of the House should be asked to draft a clause for insertion in the bill so that when the measure finally passes the House it will have some chance of rallying to its support the majority of those who are interested in it."

DROWNED IN PAIL

Fifteen Months Old Child is Found Dead by Mother.

Montreal, July 7.—Germaine Paris, aged 16 months, was found in a half-filled pail of water in a shed at the rear of her parents' home, 542 Lacordaire street, Longue Pointe. Mrs. Arthur Paris, the mother, was passing dinner at the time, and did not know of the accident until she went into the shed and saw her little daughter with her head in the bucket. A doctor was called, but the child was already dead.

PENETRATES THE WILDS OF ARABIA

Englishman Returns After Expedition—Locates Mysterious Desert Oasis

London, July 7.—Captain R. E. Chessman formerly private secretary to Sir Percy Cox in Baghdad, has just returned from an expedition into Arabia in the unknown territories of the Sultan of Nejd.

Accompanied by an Arab boy and guides supplied by the Sultan, he succeeded in penetrating the great South Desert from the north as far as the mysterious oasis of Jabrin, the position of which has been long a matter of speculation to geographers. He is the first European to reach this oasis.

Representative collections of geographical specimens of the desert fauna and flora have been brought back, many of which have proved new to science.

The Bedouin who inhabit this inaccessible region are the Ahl Murra, one of the Nomad tribes regarding which little reliable information has been obtainable up to the present.

The official description dismistion them in a few lines. This savage and little-known tribe with physical and linguistic peculiarities, virtually pagan, are possibly the survivors of the pre-Arab population. They are ill-provided with domestic utensils or clothing in advance of the stone age, and are unashamedly predatory.

Captain Chessman, who went with introductions from the Sultan, was well received by them, and stayed six days in their midst. Another important discovery made was that of a ruined site which there is every reason to suppose is Jerra, an ancient Phoenician port on the Persian Gulf. The position was that given by Ptolemy in his geographical list about the middle of the second century, since then all trace has been lost.

after dark, appeared before Magistrate Demers this morning and pleaded guilty to both charges. He was sentenced to 5 years in Dorchester Penitentiary on the first charge and 3 years on the last charge, to run 1877 and knew Louis Joseph Papineau concurrently.

AUSTRALIAN BOYS TOR CANADA

Party of Youths Ranging from 14 to 18 Will Dominion in August

Montreal, July 7.—Fifty boys ranging in age from 14 to 18 years, members of the Young Australia League, will make a tour of Canada in August of this year. The visit is a return of that made by the 101st Canadian Cordon Corps to West Australia in 1912.

The boys will arrive at Quebec on August 23rd, and will spend a full month in Canada, visiting such points as Montreal, Ottawa, Niagara, Winnipeg, Regina, Saskatoon, Calgary, Edmonton, Jasper, Park Lodge and Vancouver. They will also be the guests of the directors of the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto. Their rail journey across Canada will be made in two special cars over the Canadian National Railways, and their itinerary will be so arranged that they will spend not less than twelve hours at any point. The boys are at present in Great Britain. They have been received by the King and Queen at Buckingham Palace and have been the guests of honor at the British Empire Exhibition. They have received more invitations than they could possibly accept, and in all large centres they have been liberally entertained by the Rotary Clubs, public schools and various civic bodies. It is understood that the federal and provincial governments of Canada are making arrangements to see that the boys' carry back to Australia the most favorable impressions of Canada.

Montreal, July 6.—On her annual visit to the lonely trading stations around Hudson's Bay, the Hudson Bay Company's steamer Nascopie, now in this port, will sail about July 14 with a cargo composed of everything from a statue for a Catholic mission to photographs for the factors and the Indians. On the return voyage she will bring the furs obtained by the Indians since her visit last year, which the steamer will carry to London for disposal at the big November fur auction. The Nascopie will also bring back from the Bay a certain amount of ivory, composed of walrus tusks and carvings of Indian manufacture for sale to curio hunters.

The Nascopie will visit dozens of lonely trading posts scattered along the shores of the bay. For many of the factors and their families, the steamer's annual visit constitutes their only tangible link with the outside world.

While the Nascopie visits, the posts in Hudson's Bay the steamer Bayfield, now owned by the same company, will call at trading stations scattered along the Labrador coast and the shores of the straits.
