Her Majesty's Ministers to increase

No intention of making any such proposition to Parliament exists.

Shooting for Vessels.—Shipowners have lately had their attention directed towards a new material for sheathing vessels made of iron, and covered with a composition which renders the metal proof against the action of the strongest acids. It has been examined by Mr. Guppy and other gentlemen connected with the great iron steamer, and there is some likelihood of its being applied to that splendid vessel.—Bristol Mercury.

On the 18th ult. died at Rome, after a short illness, Cardinal Joseph della Porta Rodiani, vicar-general to his Holiness the Pope. The deceased was in the 60th year of his age, and had been invested with the purple by the reigning Pope in the year 1835.

STILL LATER.—The ship Taradanta, Smith, arrived at New York on the 4th inst. from Liverpool, which port she left on the 24th January, but brought no papers.

No ENGLISH MAIL YET. Nothing has been heard of the Caledonia, but no fears are entertained for her safety. It is supposed that she was obliged to put back from stress of weather, perhaps damaged.

We had a regular old-fashioned snow storm yesterday, the only "fall of snow" worth mentioning this winter.—It is almost time that we should have sleighing by the 10th of March.

Two good to be lost.—Two gay companions driving towards the pretty little Town of—on a fine morning a few days ago, espied a well dressed female walking some little distance before them on the road. One of them (who we shall call X) says to the other, "I know that person well, she is a d—h fine girl—I am very intimate with her." "Who is she, who is she?" inquired his friend Y, just as they were about overtaking the lady in question; who, looking round at the moment, discovered an African countenance of the deepest hue! Y's laugh was in noway measured—while X exclaimed, "laugh d—n you laugh, will you?" And many a good laugh has Y and his friends at X, and his intimacy with the lady of colour.

GEOLOGICAL & PHILOSOPHICAL SOCIETY.
On Monday evening last, the Rev. Alex.
MacLeau concluded his series of Lectures on Language. The topic discussed was "the transmutation of ancient modern languages."

We copy the following from the St. John Mirror of the 5th inst. It speaks for itself, and therefore needs no comment from us—
The arguments brought forward by Mr.
Brown in his speech, in favour of the Bill, was a most conclusive, and triumphant answer to the brilliant assertions of the opposition. As the stars vanish at the rising of the sun, so were the minor luminaries of the anti-Municipal Corporation gentlemen eclipsed by the flood of light which the reasoning of the Honourable member shed upon the question at issue. The effort to excite a false alarm in the minds of the people, in reference to this Bill, will be as fruitless as the exertions to blind-fold and mislead the gallant and faithful majority, have been unheeded and unsuccessful. In conclusion, we call upon the people to bear in mind, that even should the Bill pass, it will be altogether optional with them whether they adopt its provisions or not.

THE AMARANTH.—We have received the March number of this excellent monthly.
It increases in interest every number—and the typographical appearance is unexceptionable. Mr. Shivers deserves to be extensively patronized.

The New Orleans papers state that they have advices from Jamaica, and that the coloured population of that island had defeated Her Majesty's troops in a pitched battle, and compelled the Governor and Commander-in-Chief to fly.

BARBAROUS ASSAULT ON C. DICKENS, ESQ.
—The New York papers say that Charles Dickens, Esq. was grossly maltreated by a person named Rose. It appears that Mr.
Dickens had engaged to meet a gentleman on business at No. 9 Chamber-street, and while sitting waiting, a man of respectable appearance came forward to him, apparently in a friendly manner, and seized his nose without any provocation whatever. We are informed however, that the immortal Boz was not much injured—but rather improved—for he is known to all whom it may concern—that Rose, is the distinguished barber of No. 9, Chamber-street, and that when he took Dickens by the nose, it was simply for the purpose of shaving him, an effort of genius which he performed, it is said, in a very masterly manner.

DIED.

On Friday last, in the 62d year of her age, Mrs E. Bateson, relict of the late C. J. Briscoe, Esq. of H. M. Customs of this Port, deeply regretted by her family and a large circle of acquaintance.
Suddenly at St. John on Monday evening, the 21st ult., Mr. Esbeck B. McDonald, Printer late of the Mirror Office, aged 22 years.
He was a native of Pawtucket, (Rhode Island) U. S., and by those who knew him was admired for his mildness of disposition and excellent character.
