WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 26TH, 1896.

-THE debate on the remedial bill dealing with the school problem, is now set down to begin on Thursday next, to be continued from day to day, except Mondays, until a vote can be taken on the second reading. It is now generally believed that the lifetime of the present parliament will end on April 25th. So there is now but about seven weeks left in which to dispose of this ques tion and transact such other business as may be necessary for carrying on the government of the country until the new parliament car be summoned. It is, therefore, clearly with in the power of those members who oppose the remedial bill to prevent a vote being taken this session, if they wish to do so They have only to talk against time and obstruct business for these seven weeks, which could very easily be done by any considerable number of members, and the thing call down upon the head of the obstructionists the vengeance of those who are deeply anxious to see the bill pass, and there are not a great many members so situated as to care to take the responsibility of doing this.

During the past week rumors of a compromise on this question have been very prevalent, but at present writing nothing definite has been announced in regard to it. Sir Donald Smith has spent several days in Winnipeg lately using his utmost endeavors to effect some settlement which would render it unnecessary to proceed further with the remedial bill. He is certainly the one man in the dominion best calculated to accomplish this object, as he was one of the principal actors in the events which brought Manitoba into the union, and he knows better than any other living man just what pledges were made at the time and what obligations were undertaken by the Canadian government of that day.

An amicable settlement is very greatly to be desired. Every patriotic citizen must regard with a great deal of apprehension the prospect of seeing all the orange and ultraprotestant elements of our people ranged on one side of this question, and a solid Roman Catholic phalanx on the other. For that is about what it will come to if the case has to be fought out to the bitter end in the dominion parliament. It is only reasonable to suppose that the more the orangemen pass resolutions and advertise their opposition to remedial legislation the solider will be the Roman Catholic section of the people of Canada in support of it. And they comprise nearly one-half of our population.

Nothing Heard of Young Bent Yet.

The unexpected departure of Archie Bent, the 16 year-old son of Mr. Sylvester Bent, of Belleise, whose mysterious disappearance was chronicled in our last issue, and which has been generally published by our provincial papers, still remains as great a mystery as ever. We learn from reliable sources that the exhibition given by the Wild West show at Annapolis last season, and thus to great was the performance of lassocing impressed upon him, that he has devoted considerable time to that pastitue since, becoming, as the story goes, very proficient in that dexterous art. Every likely spot has been thoroughly searched by his parents and other friends, all of which have proved fruit-less, and nothing is now being one except to await time's developments. Young Bent is about 5 feet in height, is square built, weighs 121 lbs., and is of light complexion. Among other articles taken from the house by him, were an axe and a coarse pair of blankets. Any information that would lead to his discovery would be welcome intelligence to his grief-stricken parents.

explorer, really has succeeded in reaching the North Pole, as is reported, the result will be hailed with a great deal of satisfaction if for no other reason than because it will probably put an end to those expensive and disastrous expeditions which men have been sending into the Arctic regions during the last few centuries. Some of the bravest men that ever lived have perished in the attempt to reach this ignis fatuus. What benefit the actual discovery of this point will prove to mankind, or what it will add to our stock of scientific knowledge is difficult to see. There are yet many fields of research into which man's inventive genius may be turned with results likely to add greatly to our douvenience and happiness. Within the last half century many and wonderful discoveries and inventions have been made in this direction, by which the forces of nature have been made to the town made to the department of the town and in this direction, by which the forces of nature have been made to the town to guarantee the company bonds to the amount of say seven thousand dollars. As an inducement to the town to company will undertake to supply 40 street lamps of 16 c. p., at say $4.00 each per year, and gives the town a lien on plant as security. A gentleman from Cape Breton, an engineer, is interested in the enterprise. The pond will be about three miles long. The company, among other things, will build a pulp mill. trous expeditions which men have this direction, by which the forces of nature have been made to do duty as the useful ser-vants of man. But during this same period all the money and all the valuable lives spent in the attempt to reach the pole have simply been wasted. That is all that can be said of

Dr. Nansen left Hammerfest, Norway, in the summer of 1893 in a ship called the Fram. She was very strongly built of oak, 125 feet keel, 36 feet beam, and 17 feet depth from deck to keel, with triple expansion engines of 160 horse power, and carried provisions sufficient for five years. His plan was to steam east to the vicinity of the New Siberian could nenetrate into the ice, and drift with the mass of ice across the pole, various experiences and theories leading him to believe that certain currents would carry the entire mass of floating ice across that point. He has now been gone nearly three years. Recently reports have been received from two points on the Siberian coast announcing his return, having accomplished the object of his voyage. Of this, however, there is still much doubt, as the reports have not yet been proved re-

Dr. Nansen is a native of Christiania. Norway, and is now but thirty five years of age. He is a thoroughly educated gentleman and has made several voyages to the northern ceeded in the object of his search he will on his return home doubtless have some wonderful tales to relate of his adventures amid the polar seas.

-Ir, as our correspondent stated last week, neither of the candidates now in the field in this county will give the pledge which the prohibitionists desire, this would seem to be an excellent opportunity of ascertaining how many men there are in the county who mean what they say when they sign pledges and help to pass resolutions at prohibition conventions. There is nothing to prevent the prohibitionists from running a candidate who will promise whatever they wish, if they desire to do so. True, it will cost something, as such a candidate would in all probability lose his deposit, which in the case of a dominion election is $200. But if the prohibitionists wish to command the respect of the politicians they must stand by their principles under all circumstances, especially when it costs something to do it.

Prohibitionists who drop back into the old parties when the time of an election comes around, or who are unwilling to make a lit-tle sacrifice either of cash or of political principle, cannot expect to receive very much consideration at other times. Our prohibionists should bear in mind that no effort is lost which is put forth in a good cause. "Truth crushed to earth will rise again,"

These are the breeding grounds of the seals, and a bill is now before Congress authorizing the slaughter of all these creatures, old and young, unss some agreement is reached by May 1st of this year whereby the seals can be protected from what American politicians are pleased to call "Canadian poachers." As they are asking for restrictions which will virtually prohibit Canadians from taking any seals anywhere in those northern waters, it is not at all likely that Great Britain will consent to such regulations. In that case if our neighbors kill off all the seals on the breeding grounds, seal skins are likely to become scarce and consequently as valuable as some old postage stamps.

-A message from the Queen to the nation was issued-last week. In it Her Majesty expresses her thanks for the sympathy extended her on the occasion of the death of her son-in-law, Prince Henry of Battenburg, and says:

"This new sorrow is overwhelming. I lose a dearly loved and helpful son, whose presence was like a bright sunbeam in my house. My daughter loses a noble and devoted husband, to whom she was united by the closest affection."

-THE Montreal Daily Witness in an editorial on the Armenian Fund, says: "The important thing is that contribu-tions should be speedy and liberal. The smallest contributions are not despised. Ten cents a week keeps a human being from starving. It is not often that one has a chance to do so much good for so little."

The Mass Meeting at Middleton.

The public meeting addressed by the Hon. W. S. Fielding and Hon. J. W. Longley at Oddfellows Hall, Middleton, last night, drew forth the largest audience that ever congregated in that spacious structure. Not only was every available seat occupied, but standing-room was at a premium, while the stairway was filled to its threshold. Many of the fair sex were present and heartily enjoyed the programme of the evening.

O. M. Taylor, Esq., filled the chair in his usual excellent and accomplished manner, and after a few appropriate remarks introduced to the audience the Hon. W. S. Fielding, who spoke on the political issues of the day, dealing principally with the Manitoba school question. Mr. Fielding's address was listened to with great eagerness, and evidently afforded much satisfaction to his hearers.

Mr. Longley followed, and acquitted himself with such becoming and argumentative language as to win the admiration of the vast assemblage.

Angell, founder of the American Band of Mercy, and president of the American Humane Education society, writing to the author, says: "Your poem is a most excellent one. It will be copied into other first class papers advocating the cause of peace and international arbitration, and thus be read by hundreds of thousands of thoughtful and intelligent people, such as editors, authors, judges, college professors, teachers, doctors, lawyers and other professional men and their families."

on all kinds of Fall and Winter apparel. Goods will have to go regardless of former value. Our clearing out sale will continue until all Winter Goods are disposed of, and every one in need will do himself or herself an injustice by buying without consulting our prices.

In consequence of the very mild weather, we have more Overcoats Reefers, Winter Suits and Fur Caps than expected. The cut prices will now clear them out.

The mild weather having caught our repeat order in Ladies' Fur Capes and Winter Jackets we find it necessary to make
