

or, and the first Lawyer in Europe. — An interesting Interview. — A slight Taste of Roman Law. — Terror of the Clients. — No Hope for the Prisoner. . . . 203

CHAPTER XVII.

A new Plan. — A Friend in Need. — Hope arises, but is followed by Despondency. — The Agony of Hope deferred. — Back to their Lodgings. — Uncle Moses. — Immense Sensation. — Joyful Reunion. — The Singular Report of Uncle Moses. — Unusual Prison Fare. — Ludlow to the Rescue. . . . 216

CHAPTER XVIII.

Celebration of the Captive's Delivery. — Arrival of Ludlow. — Congratulations. — Padre O'Toule is dumb-founded. — The Roman Season. — The Approach of Lent — Farewell to Gayety. — The Glories, and Wonders, and Festivities, and Extravagances of the great Roman Carnival. . . . 229

CHAPTER XIX.

The Wonders of the Carnival. — The noisy, uproarious, nonsensical, multitudinous Crowd. — A whole City of Boys. — The Battle of the Confette. — Street Fight. — All the Corso in Arms. — The Smoke of the Battle. — Uncle Moses retires from the Scene of Conflict. — The modern Saturnalia. . . . 241