HAYTI'S REIGN OF TERROR

Port an Prince in the Hands of a Fanatic Stricken Mob—Foreigners in Peril.

NEW YORK, July 19.—A letter to the Times, dated Port au Prince, July 7, says the city is in a state bordering on frenzy. Hippolyte has assaulted the outer works. Legitimate is impressing into the ranks every man capable of carrying a rifle. The people have been delirious with excitement. The Minister of War has excoated some of the prisoners with his own hands. Hippolyte is burning farm houses and villages in sight of the city.

All foreigners have been threatened with extermination, but the United States naval force on hand is prepared to take the city if necessary. The British cruiser Forward has come under a full head of steam. She left Jamaica on six hours' notice. The Spanish cruiser Comba and Sanchez have arrived. They report a French man-of-war on the way, and the combined forces of the foreign warships are prepared to effect a landing at a moment's notice. A system of signals has been established with the American consul, and the moment the danger flag is exhibited picked infantry companies from the Keavage and Ouelipe will jump for the boats.

The captain of the British cruiser declares if one Englishman is touched he will open every gun in his battery. Hippolyte is within a mile of the city, and his force is reported to number 10,000 men. It is a question of but a few days before the end comes. Port au Prince knows it, and men, women and children are prepared to die with Legitime. The feeling against foreigners is one of bitter hatred and it needs but a spark to turn the whole native population into a frenzied mob.

WAR SHIPS DARK NOT LEAVE. So serious has been the aspect of affairs that none of the ships have dared to leave for St. Nicholas's Mole to place themselves in communication with their Governments. The heat is terrific. The thermometer registers 33° in the face of a moderate breeze. A high humidity percentage prevails, and if it continues long it will play havoc among the crews that may be sent on shore. The docks are piled high with household goods and the effects of the populace.

Legitime is working like a beaver. He has every man at the networks. Many women are there, too. All the bodies of the bodies of Port au Prince are doing service. No one dares to flinch for fear of summary death. If Hippolyte makes a general assault he will be sure to sustain heavy loss. His forces can readily be made out with the aid of glasses. He is covering a very extended position. Provisions are becoming very scarce; a can of condensed milk, of inferior quality, costs $1. Many are suffering from hunger, and relief to do any good must come soon.

Everyone is talking of the "Fira-eater" (Legitime's war minister) having executed some prisoners with his own hands, to show the soldiers that it is not necessary to burn powder to kill. This brings the execution to the very doors of the Government. It is only increasing the hatred of Hippolyte's men for Legitime, and the former swear they will wreak vengeance when the time comes. It is said that Hippolyte is causing all these reports of cruelty to spread from month to month in order to effect, if possible, a national uprising.

AN ANTI-RUSSIAN ALLIANCE.

Germany, Austria and Turkey Combine Against the Czar.

BERLIN, July 21.—The negotiations with the Porte have resulted in a entente under which the Triple Alliance guarantees to maintain the integrity of Turkish territory in accordance with the treaty of Berlin. The partisans of King Milan are eager for a civil war in Servia to crush the Russians. If it occurs Milan will invoke Austrian assistance. The Cologne Gazette declares the Russo-French arrangements for mutual action in war are near completion.

ITALY TO HELP GERMANY AGAINST FRANCE. The statement of the semi-official Courier, of Warsaw, is reproduced here without comment that in the event of a Franco-German war, an Italian army, marching via Bremen, will join the Germans at Metz. Austria will provide transportation for the Italian troops through the Tyrol.
