

5.0 GENERAL TRADE ISSUES

According to the data presented in Table 12, most (61%) Canadians believe that Canada is a net importer of goods and services. This opinion is strongest in Québec (66%), and weakest in B.C. (55%). Demographic subgroups that disproportionately believe that Canada is a net importer include women, Francophones, and those employed in service occupations.

Table 12

