

The government proposes to establish for the time being its program for retirement pensions with benefits for survivors who are also aged 65 or over. After administrative experience of the operation of the basic plan has been gained, it will be the intention of the federal government to propose the addition of benefits for widows with dependant children, for orphans, and for disabled people.

---