

	PAGE		PAGE
CHAPTER XXIV.		CHAPTER XXXIX.
St. Anne's and St. Olave's—The First Brockton Place of Worship for Anglicans	88	Christ Church, Deer Park — A Pretty Suburban Church with Many Earnest Workers	117
CHAPTER XXV.		CHAPTER XL.
Church of the Messiah—An Architectural Gem in the Northern Suburbs	91	Tent Church — The Summer Church Where Gathers a Congregation of All Denominations	118
CHAPTER XXVI.		CHAPTER XLI.
St. Cyprian's—A Small Church with an Excellent Record	92	St. Augustine—A Building Which was nearly lost to the members of the Anglican body, 119, 608
CHAPTER XXVII.		CHAPTER XLII.
St. Mark's, Parkdale—An Energetic Rector and a Very Large Congregation	94	The Presbyterian Churches—Prefatory Remarks — The First Toronto Presbyterians and Their Places of Worship — Growth of Presbyterianism	120
CHAPTER XXVIII.		CHAPTER XLIII.
St. Simon's—An Edifice in the North-east Part of the City with a Pleasing History	96	St. Andrew's, King Street West—The First Toronto Presbyterian Church — Its Ministers from the Beginning—Some Incidents of Striking Interest	120
CHAPTER XXIX.		CHAPTER XLIV.
St. Barnabas—The Anglican Place of Worship Built on the Old Givens Property	99	Knox Church—A Church with an Unprecedented Record in a Busy Part of the City	214
CHAPTER XXX.		CHAPTER XLV.
Church of the Epiphany—An Offshoot from St. Mark's with an Excellent Record	101	Duchess Street Mission—Useful Organization in a Poor and Populous District	223
CHAPTER XXXI.		CHAPTER XLVI.
St. Matthew's—An East End Parish with a Very Handsome Edifice	103	Old St. Andrew's Church—A Presbyterian Congregation with a Long and Progressive Record	225
CHAPTER XXXII.		CHAPTER XLVII.
St. Martin's—The Church Known as "St. Martin's-in-the-Fields"	105	Cooke's Church—One of the Principal Organizations in the Presbyterian Denomination	233
CHAPTER XXXIII.		CHAPTER XLVIII.
St. Margaret's—A Hearty Service, with an Energetic Rector and United People	106	Leslieville Church—The First Presbyterian Place of Worship East of the Don	237
CHAPTER XXXIV.		CHAPTER XLIX.
St. Clement's—The Only Anglican Church in the Extreme East End of the City	107	St. James' Presbyterian—Large and Influential Congregation—Excellent Work Accomplished	239
CHAPTER XXXV.		CHAPTER L.
St. John's, Norway—A Pretty Country Church, with its Offshoot at Chester	110	St. John's—United and Large Congregation with a Pleasing Record	246
CHAPTER XXXVI.		CHAPTER LI.
St. Mark's, Toronto Junction—The First Anglican Church Built in That Part of York Township	113	Charles Street Presbyterian—A Prosperous Place of Worship on Charles Street, now Removed to Bloor Street East	248
CHAPTER XXXVII.
St. John's, Toronto Junction—On the Old Humber Plains With-in sight of the Lake	115
CHAPTER XXXVIII.
St. Clement's, Eglinton—A Pretty North Toronto Church Connected with York Mills	116		