

THE MOTHER LAND.

Latest Mails from Ireland, England and Scotland.

Cardinal Gibbons Will Write a History of the Irish People...

At Belfast a cattle dealer named Charles Baxter has been sentenced to four months imprisonment...

Dr. Henry Bishop-elect of the diocese of Down and Connor, will take place in St. Patrick's church, Belfast...

A specially convened meeting of the executive committee of the Belfast Branch of the Irish National Federation...

A Berlin correspondent states that the Hamburg-American Steamship Company has ordered the Messrs. Harland and Wolff, of Belfast, a twin-screw steamer...

The Armagh Board of Guardians will send to Paris for treatment to M. Patur, a little boy named M. Patur...

Andrew Giannacopoulos, a Greek, was returned for trial on the 7th, for having on the 22nd August last, killed Nicholas Lecca, also a Greek.

A very melancholy fatality occurred at Ballymore on the 4th, when a young man named Patrick Daly, aged about eighteen, lost his life from the schooner Water Lily, back of Whiddy Island.

The deceased hailed from Sherkin Island, Baltimore.

The solemn profession of two nuns of the Middleton Presentation Convent took place in Middleton on the 7th. The two ladies who took the black veil were Miss Margaret Buckley, of Charleville, in the parish of St. Andrew, near Mallow, and Miss Margaret Buckley, of Charleville, in the parish of St. Andrew, near Mallow.

Sir Frederick Leighton, President of the Royal Academy, is at present on a visit to Cork. He visited the School of Art. He was accompanied by a number of members of the committee.

With the sanction and approbation of the Most Rev. Dr. Browne, Lord Bishop of Cloyne, the priests of the parish of Buttavane (in which the chapel of Lisgriffin is situated), are now taking steps to erect a new and commodious church at Lisgriffin to supersede the old dilapidated edifice that has done service as a place of Catholic worship since pre-Emancipation days.

On Sunday the 16th, the Most Rev. Dr. Fitzgerald visited Roscabery. He was received at the entrance to the church by the Very Rev. Peter Hill, P.P., V.F., and a large number of people. Having acknowledged a cordial welcome, he retired to the sacristy accompanied by Father Hill, assisted by 12 local Masses, and his close attendance a very large congregation.

Mr. Thomas Crosbie, the retiring President of the Institute of Journalists, has long occupied with distinction the editorial chair of one of the ablest journals in Ireland, the Cork Examiner, a paper which has been a school for journalists, some members of whom have held the highest positions on the London press.

The death of a workman and general servant named Patrick Walker, in the employment of Mr. Nathaniel Smith, Ballinaboy, near Leighlinbridge, is being investigated.

Irish rocks, famous for years, are being gradually "discovered" by English tourists. Here, for instance, is a correspondent of the Daily News, who has stumbled on hillocks. He writes—I have rarely seen a seaside place so rich in natural curiosities. Crags and cliffs and stupendous masses of rock, in grotesque shapes, stand out of the ocean, which either caresses their base with beautiful dimpling waves, clear as crystal, or rushing madly round them with fury that strikes the onlooker with awe and almost terror.

The various covered causes, relics of the old Viking days, which are the sort of what is seen along the coast of Clare. The sea fishing is very amusing, and the bathing is excellent; besides, there are golf links and a concert hall, and the excellent hotel, managed by a well known London party, and attended by German waiters and dainty pretty Irish housemaids. What more can be wanted? Dublin.

Major H. Streetfield, (cromador) Guards, has been appointed Military Secretary to Lord Roberts in Ireland. Major Streetfield was formerly attached to Lord Houghton at Dublin and to the Marquis of Lansdowne, both in India and in Canada.

Mr. Toler H. Streetfield has been re-elected President of the Irish Landowners' Association, and Mr. Stuart Kincaid, Vice-President. Mr. Garvey, who lives just outside Parsonstown, is agent to Lord Rosse. He is a sound, practical agriculturist.

Lord Colclough had three sons playing for the Clontarf club against the Rillo Brigade (whom they defeated), and all three scored. Lady Cadogan has already made extensive purchases in Dublin, and has picked up a few nice examples of Sheraton and Chippendale art, once considered as the best in the world.

The frize and health are again brought in Howth says The Freeman's Journal with a luxuriance hardly less than that of last year. The unincultivated parts of the hill may be said to be a vast expanse of lowland, and it is a slight wavy travelling miles to see. There is hardly any other part, not only of these islands, but of the world, where heather and furze bloom so luxuriantly as in Howth.

One of the objects of Cardinal Gibbons' recent visit to Ireland, says the Freeman's Journal, was to collect material for a history of Ireland, which he has had long in contemplation. It will not be a history of warring kings and chiefs, or of religious or political agitators, which are the subjects treated in all Irish histories—but a history of the Irish people, tracing their earliest habits and modes of life from the earliest times to the present, and embracing also the position of their status in America and the Colonies.

Mr. Michael Davitt lectured at the Centennial Hall, Brisbane, Queensland, on the 10th July, on the "Progress of Home Rule." It was an enthusiastic meeting, and attracted a large number of ladies. The Mayor of Brisbane presided, and the platform was crowded with members of the reception committee and leading citizens. The committee received many telegrams from the north and western towns, asking Mr. Davitt to visit them.

A figure well-known for many years in Dublin, has just passed away in the person of Robert Vermet, O. M. I. He was associated with the early years of Glebe or Holywell School, and carried the respect of the citizens of Dublin and the gratitude of the Community by his efforts to meet the expenses of the foundation and improvement of what is now so flourishing an institution.

The late Abbe Henry J. MacDonnell, who died early in July at the Presbytery of St. Theresa, Port Louis, Mauritius, of which he was Vicar at the age of 60, was a native of Kildare, and the son of the General of the Irish Army, Sir Francis MacDonnell, K. C. M. G., who served under Sir John Moore, killed in 1809, in Spain, and whose burial formed the subject of a well-known monody by the Rev. Charles Wolfe (interred in the same grave) beginning "The wind was a drum, 't he heard not a funeral note," a poem of which Byron said he would have been proud to be the author.

A special correspondent of the Freeman's Journal, now in Canada, writes to his paper:

Let me convey to the false friends of Mr. Healy the knowledge that they have utterly wrecked Mr. Healy's reputation in this country. Every now and then, no matter by whom struck, is hateful to the ears of the Irish people. It is regrettable that they are the conduct of Mr. Healy and his supporters is so fiercely denounced all over this continent. The hearing of his name, whether in the presence of the generous, unselfish patriot who preaches oblivion of the past, unity and hope for the future, is the man that wins the Irishman's respect and admiration. The hearing of his name in any part of this continent, because it is known that the supreme thought of their lives is to see an end to the Irish race once again the world over.

During his recent visit to England, George Elliott, of New York completed a sale by Prof. Johnson, John, of Dublin, of the rights to the process of colour photography for the United States and Canada to Spencer O'Schuyler of New York. The consideration is £9,000, or about 90,000 dollars. Mr. Schuyler is based in his purchase by the Crumpton, the builder of Philadelphia. Mr. Elliott has been authorized by Professor Johnson to sell the right to the inventor for other countries of the globe, and is negotiating with Mr. Schuyler for a further purchase. Prof. Johnson's discovery involves the colour principle known in physics as composite dichroism.

A writer in the Morning Post referring to the Dublin Horse Show says: "Ireland is admitted to be a country where the breeding of horses is to be admirably adapted for the breeding of light-legged horses, but it cannot be urged that its gratifying achievements in the production of hunters are the result wholly, or perhaps chiefly, of the natural advantages of the Irish soil, but rather of the care and brooders on this side the Channel. The real secret of success probably lies rather in the methods employed and the pains and devotion with which the breeding and management of the stud is conducted at Clonsilla, on the 13th August and having refused to leave when warned off. The poor people were evicted tenants. They pleaded that they had no place to go to. A fine of 10s and costs in each case was imposed."

The Connaght Industrial Exhibition at Foxford was opened on the 4th. Special trains brought crowds of people from Dublin and all the intervening stations. The development of the industry there under the guidance of the Rev. Mr. Morogh Bernard, Superior of the convent, has been extraordinary. The speeches were delivered by Lord Ashbourne, Lord Chancellor, the Earl of Arran, the Lord Mayor of Dublin, Mr. Horace Plunkett, M.P., and others.

Very Rev. Canon Hanly, P.P. V.F., has just made an appeal to all the par-

One morning Lord Wolsley was informed that a nobleman of the West had arrived. With his mind full of the conventional picture of the high souled noble minded red man, he went out to find a gentleman clothed in an out of date dress coat and waist coat, and having had a great deal to do with the Hudson's Bay traders, knew a fair smattering of French and English. He talked incessantly for upwards of an hour, and at the expiration of that time, only General Gordon was heard. Feeling in his pocket for a coin, he produced a two-shilling piece, and with some fear that he was grossly insulting his guest, offered it to him. The noble Indian looked at it curiously, felt the edges and said, "Can you make it half crown?"

On the 13th a case of influenza was reported in the New Ross parish chapel during the progress of Mass. The congregation were at first startled by hearing unorthodox yells at the church door, on looking towards the altar they perceived a man, about his own age, who was in the act of ascending the altar, and who belonged to the town. He proceeded altarwards on his knees, and kneeling, he began to pray, and as he went along, he was cursing the head of the church. He was about to ascend the altar when a couple of men rushed at him before he could reach the officiating clergyman, the Very Rev. Dr. O'Connell, P.P., and held him in check until the police arrived. At sight of the officers the man became most furious and violent, and had to be roped down before being removed. Six policemen had much difficulty in conveying him to the barracks. Hayden was afterwards sent to the asylum. He is a middle-aged man.

Death of Mr. Richard Collins. The Manchester papers announce the death of Mr. Richard Collins, an Englishman, who was killed in the Queen's Theatre, London, on the 10th inst. He was a native of London, and was a member of the English Church in Manchester. He was a man of great talents, and was a member of the English Church in Manchester.

An old man named Barber, who was going to the County Lunatic Asylum at Broadwood, was said to have been in possession of interesting relics of his late master, including a gold watch and autograph letters, and the guardians were desired to send them to the Asylum.

A telegram from Grindwold says: In connection with the Church Reunion Conference here, Deau Fremantle, of Ripon, opened a series of discussions on Church Reunion, in the parish church of Grindwold, last night. The Rev. Dr. Denu Fremantle, dealing with the Pope's Encyclical on Reunion, declared his conviction that it was thoroughly sincere, and stated that the opinion has been expressed by many that the Archbishops of Canterbury and York, when in Rome last Easter, had some communication with his Holiness. If the speaker said there had been a concordat between the two Churches, he was certainly in presence of a fact of no common religious significance.

The following reply was sent by Lord Halifax to the sympathizers of the Anglo-American organization, which was held at Leghorn, and which was attended by twenty-one Bishops and a large number of the clergy from all parts of Italy.

Lord Halifax's grateful thanks were tendered to the Anglo-American organization, which was held at Leghorn, and which was attended by twenty-one Bishops and a large number of the clergy from all parts of Italy.

Lord Halifax's grateful thanks were tendered to the Anglo-American organization, which was held at Leghorn, and which was attended by twenty-one Bishops and a large number of the clergy from all parts of Italy.

Lord Halifax's grateful thanks were tendered to the Anglo-American organization, which was held at Leghorn, and which was attended by twenty-one Bishops and a large number of the clergy from all parts of Italy.

Lord Halifax's grateful thanks were tendered to the Anglo-American organization, which was held at Leghorn, and which was attended by twenty-one Bishops and a large number of the clergy from all parts of Italy.

Lord Halifax's grateful thanks were tendered to the Anglo-American organization, which was held at Leghorn, and which was attended by twenty-one Bishops and a large number of the clergy from all parts of Italy.

Lord Halifax's grateful thanks were tendered to the Anglo-American organization, which was held at Leghorn, and which was attended by twenty-one Bishops and a large number of the clergy from all parts of Italy.

Lord Halifax's grateful thanks were tendered to the Anglo-American organization, which was held at Leghorn, and which was attended by twenty-one Bishops and a large number of the clergy from all parts of Italy.

Lord Halifax's grateful thanks were tendered to the Anglo-American organization, which was held at Leghorn, and which was attended by twenty-one Bishops and a large number of the clergy from all parts of Italy.

Lord Halifax's grateful thanks were tendered to the Anglo-American organization, which was held at Leghorn, and which was attended by twenty-one Bishops and a large number of the clergy from all parts of Italy.

Lord Halifax's grateful thanks were tendered to the Anglo-American organization, which was held at Leghorn, and which was attended by twenty-one Bishops and a large number of the clergy from all parts of Italy.

Lord Halifax's grateful thanks were tendered to the Anglo-American organization, which was held at Leghorn, and which was attended by twenty-one Bishops and a large number of the clergy from all parts of Italy.

Lord Halifax's grateful thanks were tendered to the Anglo-American organization, which was held at Leghorn, and which was attended by twenty-one Bishops and a large number of the clergy from all parts of Italy.

Lord Halifax's grateful thanks were tendered to the Anglo-American organization, which was held at Leghorn, and which was attended by twenty-one Bishops and a large number of the clergy from all parts of Italy.

Lord Halifax's grateful thanks were tendered to the Anglo-American organization, which was held at Leghorn, and which was attended by twenty-one Bishops and a large number of the clergy from all parts of Italy.

Lord Halifax's grateful thanks were tendered to the Anglo-American organization, which was held at Leghorn, and which was attended by twenty-one Bishops and a large number of the clergy from all parts of Italy.

Lord Halifax's grateful thanks were tendered to the Anglo-American organization, which was held at Leghorn, and which was attended by twenty-one Bishops and a large number of the clergy from all parts of Italy.

Lord Halifax's grateful thanks were tendered to the Anglo-American organization, which was held at Leghorn, and which was attended by twenty-one Bishops and a large number of the clergy from all parts of Italy.

Lord Halifax's grateful thanks were tendered to the Anglo-American organization, which was held at Leghorn, and which was attended by twenty-one Bishops and a large number of the clergy from all parts of Italy.

Lord Halifax's grateful thanks were tendered to the Anglo-American organization, which was held at Leghorn, and which was attended by twenty-one Bishops and a large number of the clergy from all parts of Italy.

Lord Halifax's grateful thanks were tendered to the Anglo-American organization, which was held at Leghorn, and which was attended by twenty-one Bishops and a large number of the clergy from all parts of Italy.

Lord Halifax's grateful thanks were tendered to the Anglo-American organization, which was held at Leghorn, and which was attended by twenty-one Bishops and a large number of the clergy from all parts of Italy.

Lord Halifax's grateful thanks were tendered to the Anglo-American organization, which was held at Leghorn, and which was attended by twenty-one Bishops and a large number of the clergy from all parts of Italy.

On the 13th a case of influenza was reported in the New Ross parish chapel during the progress of Mass. The congregation were at first startled by hearing unorthodox yells at the church door, on looking towards the altar they perceived a man, about his own age, who was in the act of ascending the altar, and who belonged to the town. He proceeded altarwards on his knees, and kneeling, he began to pray, and as he went along, he was cursing the head of the church. He was about to ascend the altar when a couple of men rushed at him before he could reach the officiating clergyman, the Very Rev. Dr. O'Connell, P.P., and held him in check until the police arrived. At sight of the officers the man became most furious and violent, and had to be roped down before being removed. Six policemen had much difficulty in conveying him to the barracks. Hayden was afterwards sent to the asylum. He is a middle-aged man.

On the 13th a case of influenza was reported in the New Ross parish chapel during the progress of Mass. The congregation were at first startled by hearing unorthodox yells at the church door, on looking towards the altar they perceived a man, about his own age, who was in the act of ascending the altar, and who belonged to the town. He proceeded altarwards on his knees, and kneeling, he began to pray, and as he went along, he was cursing the head of the church. He was about to ascend the altar when a couple of men rushed at him before he could reach the officiating clergyman, the Very Rev. Dr. O'Connell, P.P., and held him in check until the police arrived. At sight of the officers the man became most furious and violent, and had to be roped down before being removed. Six policemen had much difficulty in conveying him to the barracks. Hayden was afterwards sent to the asylum. He is a middle-aged man.

On the 13th a case of influenza was reported in the New Ross parish chapel during the progress of Mass. The congregation were at first startled by hearing unorthodox yells at the church door, on looking towards the altar they perceived a man, about his own age, who was in the act of ascending the altar, and who belonged to the town. He proceeded altarwards on his knees, and kneeling, he began to pray, and as he went along, he was cursing the head of the church. He was about to ascend the altar when a couple of men rushed at him before he could reach the officiating clergyman, the Very Rev. Dr. O'Connell, P.P., and held him in check until the police arrived. At sight of the officers the man became most furious and violent, and had to be roped down before being removed. Six policemen had much difficulty in conveying him to the barracks. Hayden was afterwards sent to the asylum. He is a middle-aged man.

On the 13th a case of influenza was reported in the New Ross parish chapel during the progress of Mass. The congregation were at first startled by hearing unorthodox yells at the church door, on looking towards the altar they perceived a man, about his own age, who was in the act of ascending the altar, and who belonged to the town. He proceeded altarwards on his knees, and kneeling, he began to pray, and as he went along, he was cursing the head of the church. He was about to ascend the altar when a couple of men rushed at him before he could reach the officiating clergyman, the Very Rev. Dr. O'Connell, P.P., and held him in check until the police arrived. At sight of the officers the man became most furious and violent, and had to be roped down before being removed. Six policemen had much difficulty in conveying him to the barracks. Hayden was afterwards sent to the asylum. He is a middle-aged man.

On the 13th a case of influenza was reported in the New Ross parish chapel during the progress of Mass. The congregation were at first startled by hearing unorthodox yells at the church door, on looking towards the altar they perceived a man, about his own age, who was in the act of ascending the altar, and who belonged to the town. He proceeded altarwards on his knees, and kneeling, he began to pray, and as he went along, he was cursing the head of the church. He was about to ascend the altar when a couple of men rushed at him before he could reach the officiating clergyman, the Very Rev. Dr. O'Connell, P.P., and held him in check until the police arrived. At sight of the officers the man became most furious and violent, and had to be roped down before being removed. Six policemen had much difficulty in conveying him to the barracks. Hayden was afterwards sent to the asylum. He is a middle-aged man.

On the 13th a case of influenza was reported in the New Ross parish chapel during the progress of Mass. The congregation were at first startled by hearing unorthodox yells at the church door, on looking towards the altar they perceived a man, about his own age, who was in the act of ascending the altar, and who belonged to the town. He proceeded altarwards on his knees, and kneeling, he began to pray, and as he went along, he was cursing the head of the church. He was about to ascend the altar when a couple of men rushed at him before he could reach the officiating clergyman, the Very Rev. Dr. O'Connell, P.P., and held him in check until the police arrived. At sight of the officers the man became most furious and violent, and had to be roped down before being removed. Six policemen had much difficulty in conveying him to the barracks. Hayden was afterwards sent to the asylum. He is a middle-aged man.

On the 13th a case of influenza was reported in the New Ross parish chapel during the progress of Mass. The congregation were at first startled by hearing unorthodox yells at the church door, on looking towards the altar they perceived a man, about his own age, who was in the act of ascending the altar, and who belonged to the town. He proceeded altarwards on his knees, and kneeling, he began to pray, and as he went along, he was cursing the head of the church. He was about to ascend the altar when a couple of men rushed at him before he could reach the officiating clergyman, the Very Rev. Dr. O'Connell, P.P., and held him in check until the police arrived. At sight of the officers the man became most furious and violent, and had to be roped down before being removed. Six policemen had much difficulty in conveying him to the barracks. Hayden was afterwards sent to the asylum. He is a middle-aged man.

On the 13th a case of influenza was reported in the New Ross parish chapel during the progress of Mass. The congregation were at first startled by hearing unorthodox yells at the church door, on looking towards the altar they perceived a man, about his own age, who was in the act of ascending the altar, and who belonged to the town. He proceeded altarwards on his knees, and kneeling, he began to pray, and as he went along, he was cursing the head of the church. He was about to ascend the altar when a couple of men rushed at him before he could reach the officiating clergyman, the Very Rev. Dr. O'Connell, P.P., and held him in check until the police arrived. At sight of the officers the man became most furious and violent, and had to be roped down before being removed. Six policemen had much difficulty in conveying him to the barracks. Hayden was afterwards sent to the asylum. He is a middle-aged man.

On the 13th a case of influenza was reported in the New Ross parish chapel during the progress of Mass. The congregation were at first startled by hearing unorthodox yells at the church door, on looking towards the altar they perceived a man, about his own age, who was in the act of ascending the altar, and who belonged to the town. He proceeded altarwards on his knees, and kneeling, he began to pray, and as he went along, he was cursing the head of the church. He was about to ascend the altar when a couple of men rushed at him before he could reach the officiating clergyman, the Very Rev. Dr. O'Connell, P.P., and held him in check until the police arrived. At sight of the officers the man became most furious and violent, and had to be roped down before being removed. Six policemen had much difficulty in conveying him to the barracks. Hayden was afterwards sent to the asylum. He is a middle-aged man.

On the 13th a case of influenza was reported in the New Ross parish chapel during the progress of Mass. The congregation were at first startled by hearing unorthodox yells at the church door, on looking towards the altar they perceived a man, about his own age, who was in the act of ascending the altar, and who belonged to the town. He proceeded altarwards on his knees, and kneeling, he began to pray, and as he went along, he was cursing the head of the church. He was about to ascend the altar when a couple of men rushed at him before he could reach the officiating clergyman, the Very Rev. Dr. O'Connell, P.P., and held him in check until the police arrived. At sight of the officers the man became most furious and violent, and had to be roped down before being removed. Six policemen had much difficulty in conveying him to the barracks. Hayden was afterwards sent to the asylum. He is a middle-aged man.

On the 13th a case of influenza was reported in the New Ross parish chapel during the progress of Mass. The congregation were at first startled by hearing unorthodox yells at the church door, on looking towards the altar they perceived a man, about his own age, who was in the act of ascending the altar, and who belonged to the town. He proceeded altarwards on his knees, and kneeling, he began to pray, and as he went along, he was cursing the head of the church. He was about to ascend the altar when a couple of men rushed at him before he could reach the officiating clergyman, the Very Rev. Dr. O'Connell, P.P., and held him in check until the police arrived. At sight of the officers the man became most furious and violent, and had to be roped down before being removed. Six policemen had much difficulty in conveying him to the barracks. Hayden was afterwards sent to the asylum. He is a middle-aged man.

On the 13th a case of influenza was reported in the New Ross parish chapel during the progress of Mass. The congregation were at first startled by hearing unorthodox yells at the church door, on looking towards the altar they perceived a man, about his own age, who was in the act of ascending the altar, and who belonged to the town. He proceeded altarwards on his knees, and kneeling, he began to pray, and as he went along, he was cursing the head of the church. He was about to ascend the altar when a couple of men rushed at him before he could reach the officiating clergyman, the Very Rev. Dr. O'Connell, P.P., and held him in check until the police arrived. At sight of the officers the man became most furious and violent, and had to be roped down before being removed. Six policemen had much difficulty in conveying him to the barracks. Hayden was afterwards sent to the asylum. He is a middle-aged man.

On the 13th a case of influenza was reported in the New Ross parish chapel during the progress of Mass. The congregation were at first startled by hearing unorthodox yells at the church door, on looking towards the altar they perceived a man, about his own age, who was in the act of ascending the altar, and who belonged to the town. He proceeded altarwards on his knees, and kneeling, he began to pray, and as he went along, he was cursing the head of the church. He was about to ascend the altar when a couple of men rushed at him before he could reach the officiating clergyman, the Very Rev. Dr. O'Connell, P.P., and held him in check until the police arrived. At sight of the officers the man became most furious and violent, and had to be roped down before being removed. Six policemen had much difficulty in conveying him to the barracks. Hayden was afterwards sent to the asylum. He is a middle-aged man.

On the 13th a case of influenza was reported in the New Ross parish chapel during the progress of Mass. The congregation were at first startled by hearing unorthodox yells at the church door, on looking towards the altar they perceived a man, about his own age, who was in the act of ascending the altar, and who belonged to the town. He proceeded altarwards on his knees, and kneeling, he began to pray, and as he went along, he was cursing the head of the church. He was about to ascend the altar when a couple of men rushed at him before he could reach the officiating clergyman, the Very Rev. Dr. O'Connell, P.P., and held him in check until the police arrived. At sight of the officers the man became most furious and violent, and had to be roped down before being removed. Six policemen had much difficulty in conveying him to the barracks. Hayden was afterwards sent to the asylum. He is a middle-aged man.

On the 13th a case of influenza was reported in the New Ross parish chapel during the progress of Mass. The congregation were at first startled by hearing unorthodox yells at the church door, on looking towards the altar they perceived a man, about his own age, who was in the act of ascending the altar, and who belonged to the town. He proceeded altarwards on his knees, and kneeling, he began to pray, and as he went along, he was cursing the head of the church. He was about to ascend the altar when a couple of men rushed at him before he could reach the officiating clergyman, the Very Rev. Dr. O'Connell, P.P., and held him in check until the police arrived. At sight of the officers the man became most furious and violent, and had to be roped down before being removed. Six policemen had much difficulty in conveying him to the barracks. Hayden was afterwards sent to the asylum. He is a middle-aged man.

On the 13th a case of influenza was reported in the New Ross parish chapel during the progress of Mass. The congregation were at first startled by hearing unorthodox yells at the church door, on looking towards the altar they perceived a man, about his own age, who was in the act of ascending the altar, and who belonged to the town. He proceeded altarwards on his knees, and kneeling, he began to pray, and as he went along, he was cursing the head of the church. He was about to ascend the altar when a couple of men rushed at him before he could reach the officiating clergyman, the Very Rev. Dr. O'Connell, P.P., and held him in check until the police arrived. At sight of the officers the man became most furious and violent, and had to be roped down before being removed. Six policemen had much difficulty in conveying him to the barracks. Hayden was afterwards sent to the asylum. He is a middle-aged man.

On the 13th a case of influenza was reported in the New Ross parish chapel during the progress of Mass. The congregation were at first startled by hearing unorthodox yells at the church door, on looking towards the altar they perceived a man, about his own age, who was in the act of ascending the altar, and who belonged to the town. He proceeded altarwards on his knees, and kneeling, he began to pray, and as he went along, he was cursing the head of the church. He was about to ascend the altar when a couple of men rushed at him before he could reach the officiating clergyman, the Very Rev. Dr. O'Connell, P.P., and held him in check until the police arrived. At sight of the officers the man became most furious and violent, and had to be roped down before being removed. Six policemen had much difficulty in conveying him to the barracks. Hayden was afterwards sent to the asylum. He is a middle-aged man.

On the 13th a case of influenza was reported in the New Ross parish chapel during the progress of Mass. The congregation were at first startled by hearing unorthodox yells at the church door, on looking towards the altar they perceived a man, about his own age, who was in the act of ascending the altar, and who belonged to the town. He proceeded altarwards on his knees, and kneeling, he began to pray, and as he went along, he was cursing the head of the church. He was about to ascend the altar when a couple of men rushed at him before he could reach the officiating clergyman, the Very Rev. Dr. O'Connell, P.P., and held him in check until the police arrived. At sight of the officers the man became most furious and violent, and had to be roped down before being removed. Six policemen had much difficulty in conveying him to the barracks. Hayden was afterwards sent to the asylum. He is a middle-aged man.

On the 13th a case of influenza was reported in the New Ross parish chapel during the progress of Mass. The congregation were at first startled by hearing unorthodox yells at the church door, on looking towards the altar they perceived a man, about his own age, who was in the act of ascending the altar, and who belonged to the town. He proceeded altarwards on his knees, and kneeling, he began to pray, and as he went along, he was cursing the head of the church. He was about to ascend the altar when a couple of men rushed at him before he could reach the officiating clergyman, the Very Rev. Dr. O'Connell, P.P., and held him in check until the police arrived. At sight of the officers the man became most furious and violent, and had to be roped down before being removed. Six policemen had much difficulty in conveying him to the barracks. Hayden was afterwards sent to the asylum. He is a middle-aged man.

On the 13th a case of influenza was reported in the New Ross parish chapel during the progress of Mass. The congregation were at first startled by hearing unorthodox yells at the church door, on looking towards the altar they perceived a man, about his own age, who was in the act of ascending the altar, and who belonged to the town. He proceeded altarwards on his knees, and kneeling, he began to pray, and as he went along, he was cursing the head of the church. He was about to ascend the altar when a couple of men rushed at him before he could reach the officiating clergyman, the Very Rev. Dr. O'Connell, P.P., and held him in check until the police arrived. At sight of the officers the man became most furious and violent, and had to be roped down before being removed. Six policemen had much difficulty in conveying him to the barracks. Hayden was afterwards sent to the asylum. He is a middle-aged man.

On the 13th a case of influenza was reported in the New Ross parish chapel during the progress of Mass. The congregation were at first startled by hearing unorthodox yells at the church door, on looking towards the altar they perceived a man, about his own age, who was in the act of ascending the altar, and who belonged to the town. He proceeded altarwards on his knees, and kneeling, he began to pray, and as he went along, he was cursing the head of the church. He was about to ascend the altar when a couple of men rushed at him before he could reach the officiating clergyman, the Very Rev. Dr. O'Connell, P.P., and held him in check until the police arrived. At sight of the officers the man became most furious and violent, and had to be roped down before being removed. Six policemen had much difficulty in conveying him to the barracks. Hayden was afterwards sent to the asylum. He is a middle-aged man.

On the 13th a case of influenza was reported in the New Ross parish chapel during the progress of Mass. The congregation were at first startled by hearing unorthodox yells at the church door, on looking towards the altar they perceived a man, about his own age, who was in the act of ascending the altar, and who belonged to the town. He proceeded altarwards on his knees, and kneeling, he began to pray, and as he went along, he was cursing the head of the church. He was about to ascend the altar when a couple of men rushed at him before he could reach the officiating clergyman, the Very Rev. Dr. O'Connell, P.P., and held him in check until the police arrived. At sight of the officers the man became most furious and violent, and had to be roped down before being removed. Six policemen had much difficulty in conveying him to the barracks. Hayden was afterwards sent to the asylum. He is a middle-aged man.

On the 13th a case of influenza was reported in the New Ross parish chapel during the progress of Mass. The congregation were at first startled by hearing unorthodox yells at the church door, on looking towards the altar they perceived a man, about his own age, who was in the act of ascending the altar, and who belonged to the town. He proceeded altarwards on his knees, and kneeling, he began to pray, and as he went along, he was cursing the head of the church. He was about to ascend the altar when a couple of men rushed at him before he could reach the officiating clergyman, the Very Rev. Dr. O'Connell, P.P., and held him in check until the police arrived. At sight of the officers the man became most furious and violent, and had to be roped down before being removed. Six policemen had much difficulty in conveying him to the barracks. Hayden was afterwards sent to the asylum. He is a middle-aged man.

On the 13th a case of influenza was reported in the New Ross parish chapel during the progress of Mass. The congregation were at first startled by hearing unorthodox yells at the church door, on looking towards the altar they perceived a man, about his own age, who was in the act of ascending the altar, and who belonged to the town. He proceeded altarwards on his knees, and kneeling, he began to pray, and as he went along, he was cursing the head of the church. He was about to ascend the altar when a couple of men rushed at him before he could reach the officiating clergyman, the Very Rev. Dr. O'Connell, P.P., and held him in check until the police arrived. At sight of the officers the man became most furious and violent, and had to be roped down before being removed. Six policemen had much difficulty in conveying him to the barracks. Hayden was afterwards sent to the asylum. He is a middle-aged man.

On the 13th a case of influenza was reported in the New Ross parish chapel during the progress of Mass. The congregation were at first startled by hearing unorthodox yells at the church door, on looking towards the altar they perceived a man, about his own age, who was in the act of ascending the altar, and who belonged to the town. He proceeded altarwards on his knees, and kneeling, he began to pray, and as he went along, he was cursing the head of the church. He was about to ascend the altar when a couple of men rushed at him before he could reach the officiating clergyman, the Very Rev. Dr. O'Connell, P.P., and held him in check until the police arrived. At sight of the officers the man became most furious and violent, and had to be roped down before being removed. Six policemen had much difficulty in conveying him to the barracks. Hayden was afterwards sent to the asylum. He is a middle-aged man.

On the 13th a case of influenza was reported in the New Ross parish chapel during the progress of Mass. The congregation were at first startled by hearing unorthodox yells at the church door, on looking towards the altar they perceived a man, about his own age, who was in the act of ascending the altar, and who belonged to the town. He proceeded altarwards on his knees, and kneeling, he began to pray, and as he went along, he was cursing the head of the church. He was about to ascend the altar when a couple of men rushed at him before he could reach the officiating clergyman, the Very Rev. Dr. O'Connell, P.P., and held him in check until the police arrived. At sight of the officers the man became most furious and violent, and had to be roped down before being removed. Six policemen had much difficulty in conveying him to the barracks. Hayden was afterwards sent to the asylum. He is a middle-aged man.

On the 13th a case of influenza was reported in the New Ross parish chapel during the progress of Mass. The congregation were at first startled by hearing unorthodox yells at the church door, on looking towards the altar they perceived a man, about his own age, who was in the act of ascending the altar, and who belonged to the town. He proceeded altarwards on his knees, and kneeling, he began to pray, and as he went along, he was cursing the head of the church. He was about to ascend the altar when a couple of men rushed at him before he could reach the officiating clergyman, the Very Rev. Dr. O'Connell, P.P., and held him in check until the police arrived. At sight of the officers the man became most furious and violent, and had to be roped down before being removed. Six policemen had much difficulty in conveying him to the barracks. Hayden was afterwards sent to the asylum. He is a middle-aged man.

On the 13th a case of influenza was reported in the New Ross parish chapel during the progress of Mass. The congregation were at first startled by hearing unorthodox yells at the church door, on looking towards the altar they perceived a man, about his own age, who was in the act of ascending the altar, and who belonged to the town. He proceeded altarwards on his knees, and kneeling, he