Jollying Sir Henri Joly.

Referring to The World's statement that Sir Henri Joly de Lotbinière would soon leave the Ministry, the Ottawa Brespondent of Le Soleil, Laurier Government organ, says:

"I think there is a little truth in all that is said and all that is denied on the subject. It is well known that Sir Henri Joly de Lotbinière, who had abandoned pokitics for ten years, only re-entered them to be useful to Sir Wilfrid Laurier with the aid of his prestige. I do not believe that Sir Henri is anxious to remain in the Ministry. He would be satisfied with some position of honor to gloriously concinde his benutiful career."

Fearfully Rough Weather in the St.

Lawrence Gulf—Schooner's Crew Went to Death.

Quebec, Oct. 17.—The steamship Krim, which arrived in port from Sydney this morning, had fearfully rought weather coming up the river Saturday. Her decks were swept and two of the boats carried away. She saw a schooner capsized in the stor mat Matane, in the course of the afternoon Saturday.
Three unsuccessful efforts were made and two boats swamped in trying to rescue the crew, but they all perished.
Three of the men clung to the upturned vessel for a while, but were finally swept away, one by one. The Captain could not ascertain the name of the schooner.

Mr. Howell and Mr. Hazard secured a list of those addresses and visited them. At the lodging house at 186 Bowery a telegram addressed to Allen was in the office, and the cirk said Allen was upstairs. Hazard and Howell found him sitting on the edge of his bed with his head between his hands, racking his brain to remember where his hotel was. He could give no coherent account of his action. His $300 gold watch watch was gone, and he thinks he received $10.25 for it. He has been sober for two days, yet his memory would not return, and he could not even recognize the Bradford when his friends led him there.
Mr. Hazard has him now apparently under good control, and unless he escapet again they will sail to-mostrow on the Ger manic with the trunkful of valuables that Allen possesses.
