FRUIT MARKET. The market yesterday was without any The market yesterday was without any special feature, as regards prices and volume of trade. Raspberries were in good supply, but the price, despite the deliveries shows no inclination of a lower level. The market, generally, yesterday was very active for small fruits, the bulk of the raspberries selling at from 10c to 11c. Black currants are said to be not more than a third of a crop, and sold yesterday up to $1.25 a basket.

Marshall, Spader & Co. wired J. G. Beaty, King Edward Hotel, at the close of the market to-day:

Whend—The feature of the market to-day was a report on conditions in the northwest, which was taken as being comparatively bullish, but when advantage was taken of the strength following its publication to market large quantities of wheat the situation turned very weak, and prices declined sharply, in spite of considerable open buying by Armour & Co. This Jones report, in brief, admits, as we suggested yesterday, that the damage already done is limited, but enlarges on the extremely critical conditions arising from the presence or age, but it looks to us as the it was a distinctly two-sided market, with plenty of opportunity for further sharp rallies whenever the trade gets to unanimously bearish and oversold. The news from the southwest again snoke of simult farmers' offerings and the likelihood of lighter receipts next week.

A $7,000 Residence for $5,000

I sold one of the houses on Jameson Avenue recently advertised in The World.

The best bargain is still on the market, but the house is occupied at present. Possession can be given by Sept, 1st.

A solid Brick House-ten roomsfive on the ground floor-with an attic which would make two or three fine large rooms. The House is admirably adapted and located for a physician, and is specially fitted up and laid out for a professional man. Fine wide verandahs, all modern conveniences, new plumbing, good hot air furnace, spacious rooms, with wide, deep lot, matured shrubbery and shade trees. The house faces Leopold Avenue, and is a superb location in every way. The lot and house to buy and build to-day would cost $7,000. The character of the street can be judged when it is known that there is not a house on the street which could be bought for less than $5,000, and many are valued at from $10,000 to $20,000.

I WILL SELL ON EASY TERMS OF PAYMENT.
