LIBERAL CHIEFTAIN

for the rapid development of peaceful and helpful relations in the period after the war was over. The work was done for the Rockefeller Foundation, both in its purpose and in its aim. In its research, and in its practical effort, was identical with the kind of work which was being done by the gentlemen associated with the Rockefeller Foundation. Every man associated with any of these organizations was regarded by his fellow-countrymen as rendering a war service at that time, a service for which he was specially qualified and he was chosen for that particular reason.

Outlined Work Done.
 The Liberal leader thereupon outlined the work which he had done during the war in bringing about satisfactory working arrangements between capital and labor in connection with the great industries of the United States, which were providing war materials for the Allies. In connection with his work toward the Rockefeller Foundation, he declared that for that service he received nothing from any interest or any individual connected with the companies with which I had to deal. Payment for my work was given by the Rockefeller Foundation. Mr. King thereafter read communications from the Bethlehem Steel Company, the Bethlehem Iron Co. and other large concerns bearing testimony to the splendid work he had done toward the Rockefeller Foundation. The result of these councils, the president of the fuel and iron company bore testimony to the fact that when the United States came into the war their output of coal exceeded that of any other country in the United States.

With No Company.
 With reference to the charge that he was still in the employ of the Standard Oil, Mr. King declared that during the war he had been connected with the Standard Oil. Last January he had been recruited by the Standard Oil Company of Indiana to make a survey and draw up some scheme of better relations. He had accepted, and had spent a few weeks on the plant, all in the interests of establishing industrial commissions and in giving to labor a voice in the settling of industrial disputes without any interference of government. He had been drawn up which provided for an increase of 11 per cent in the wages of 11,000 men, a six instead of a seven-day week, and general better working conditions. In regard to all agreements," said Mr. King, "they were worked out by the joint approval of both employers and employees."

Family Circumstances.
 Had anything beyond the statement of facts regarding his work in preserving industrial peace at the time when the greatest output was essential in the Allied cause, to vindicate Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King in his war record it was supplied in a simple statement at the conclusion dealing with personal and family circumstances. "There remains," said Mr. King, "the statement that I was young and a bachelor. I am in my 46th year. When the war commenced, I was in my 40th year. Shortly before that time, my father, a barrister and solicitor, one of the lecturers at the law school in Toronto, was stricken with blindness, and obliged to give up the practice of law and lecturing at the law school. He and my mother and unmarried sister lived together at our home in Toronto. My brother, who for a number of years was a practicing physician in this city, some little time prior to the war, after an attack of influenza complicated by double pneumonia, developed tuberculosis, and was obliged to give up the practice of his profession, and for the greater part of two years, spent his time in a sanatorium. Later, he and his wife and little children took up permanent residence in Colorado. There was no one left to share the responsibilities of our home, under these sad and trying circumstances, but my married sister and myself. My married sister, as well as her own family, to consider."

April 4, 1914, within the first few months of the war, my unmarried sister died. That left my father and mother alone. On August 26, 1916, my father died. After spending a few weeks with my invalid brother in Denver, and for three months with my married sister, my mother came to reside with me at the Roxborough, here in Ottawa. My mother was critically ill most of the year she was with me, and on December 18, 1917, she, too, died.

"My brother, I rejoice to say, though still an invalid, has fought his disease so successfully as to be able to publish a book, entitled 'The Battle With Tuberculosis, and How To Win It,' which has found a place in our military hospitals. The inscription of this volume, gratefully and affectionately dedicated to my wife and to my brother," speaks for itself.

"I have only to add that, as I look back upon these years of the war, full of poignant suffering for the whole of mankind, I cannot but experience a sense of gratitude, that in that world ordeal it was given me to share in so intimate a way the sufferings of others, and, with it all, so large a measure of opportunity to do my duty, as God gave it to me to see my duty, at that time," he concluded amid applause from all sides of the House.

LIBERALS IN CAUCUS

LIKELY TO DEMAND

COURT DECISION FIRST

Another Meeting On "Dry" Legislation Today.

TORONTO, April 20.—A Liberal caucus was called at the Parliament buildings tonight for the purpose of discussing the temperance situation and the referendum motion now before the Legislature. Other routine matters of policy occupied the attention of the assembly until such a late hour, however, that after a very brief discussion the referendum issue was deferred until tomorrow afternoon, when another caucus will be held.

It is understood that the Liberals are still inclined to favor application to the courts for a stated case, and that an amendment to this effect will be offered when H. McCreary's referendum motion is discussed in the House. Such an amendment is not likely to be introduced by H. Dewar, Liberal leader, but will probably come forward from a private member of the party.

Present Pensions Scale, Dependents' Allowances, Inadequate Say Veterans

Special Needs of Amputation and Total Disability Cases Laid Before Committee—Government Artificial Limbs Unsatisfactory.

OTTAWA, April 20.—The special needs of amputation and total disability cases were placed before the special committee on pensions and re-establishment at its two sittings today by Messrs. James Rawlinson, R. C. Murrell and J. McGuigan, all of Toronto. The former is totally blind; Murrell has lost his left arm and McGuigan has had his left leg amputated below the knee. All three sought to impress the committee with the fact that the present scale of pensions is inadequate; the allowances for dependents are insufficient; and further that free medical treatment for dependents of disabled men should be given.

The latter two witnesses declared that the system of issuing artificial limbs in Canada was faulty. Murrell assured the committee that if statistics were secured it would be found that the average of seven artificial limbs had been issued to each man needing one. Of the methods of the artificial limb department neither man spoke cheerfully. Mr. McGuigan thought the only way to bring it up to scratch was to "can the factory altogether."

Tubercular Patients.
 Tomorrow the committee will deal with the claims of tubercular soldier patients. R. C. Murrell and J. G. Simmons being here as witnesses to represent this class of men. The latter warned would-be witnesses that they must put their propositions in writing and must wait for a summons to appear as witnesses. "There was no intention of shutting off any amount of money," said Murrell, "to avoid duplication in evidence."

J. H. Rawlinson, who is totally blind, was first called on behalf of the association of men suffering from major amputations and total disabilities. "I can read Braille," said Rawlinson, "but think of the man who must sit in his room in utter blackness. And the monotony of blackness is a monotony you can never get used to."

"A total disability pension is supposed to be able to earn something. Would any of you give me a job?" He asked that the pension scale should be increased to $1,200 per annum for total disability.

The witness said that he was a typist with the department of soldiers' civil re-establishment. He did not receive $80 per month. He did not know, however, where he could find work when that department was closed.

To Pass the Buck.
 Dr. Brian protested that there was a tendency to "pass the buck" to the pensions board. The committee should take whatever responsibility was theirs.

Mr. Rawlinson declared it was an injustice to a woman who married a blind pensioner to refuse to place her on equal footing with other soldiers' wives.

"You cannot make these women paupers," he asserted. "A blind man should not be shut out from all hope of a home."

At the afternoon session of the committee R. C. Murrell and J. McGuigan of the Toronto Amputation Association requested that the allowance of dependents be so increased that the wife may receive 40 per cent of the pensioner's pay for disability, with suitable allowance for children. If a man were a soldier mentioned in the instance where the wife of a Toronto pensioner had to go into a pauper's ward for funds. Free medical treatment for the dependents of disability pensioners was requested.

Murrell had lost his left arm, and McGuigan his left leg. Murrell was receiving a 70 per cent disability pension of $42 per month, including bonus. He urged increased pensions with free medical treatment for dependents besides, in cases of 40 per cent disability. "Men who have to use crutches should be rated at a higher disability."

Murrell said that on the whole the disability table for pensions was giving rise to few complaints.

Not Too Enough.
 Six or eight months was not long enough for retaining. He had found

"GRIPPE" LEAVES KIDNEYS WEAK

The epidemic of colds and grippe that has been sweeping the country has seemingly left even a greater number of people than ever in a weakened, run-down condition from which there is but a slow recovery. Much of this after weakness affects the kidneys and bladder, making it difficult for them to perform their natural functions. Sufferers have to get in and out of bed half a dozen times a night, their backs are weak and painful, sick headaches and dizziness are common symptoms. No serious trouble may exist, but the time to check such symptoms is at once before matters grow worse. Solvax is a good safe kidney regulator like Solvax is taken right away. Solvax straightens out an ordinary case of weakened kidneys in about twenty-four hours in many instances, safely and painlessly. It neutralizes poisonous uric acid and drives the clogged-up, poisonous kidney matter out of the system. Solvax is harmless, contains no alcohol or habit-forming drugs and leading druggists are ready to refund its full purchase price if in any case it fails to give entire satisfaction. If you are not sure, supply your own, write, enclosing 50 cents, to Booth's Hygienic Company, Postoffice Box No. 358, London, Ont.

Shave With Cuticura Soap The New Way Without Mug

It hard for a disabled man to secure work. There was more difficulty in getting the job than in doing the work. He said the amputation cases favored the United States plan of letting the injured man choose the artificial limb which suited him. In Britain also some choice was allowed, but in Canada a man was issued a certain style of limb which he must accept. Any private company running a factory and not providing more satisfactory limbs than the Government issued would soon be bankrupt. McGuigan said the fitters at the factory seemed to need experience. The patients were told to wear sufficient socks to fill the socket of the artificial limb, but it was impossible for a man to wear six or seven socks on the stump, especially in warm weather.

LIVER TROUBLE AND HEARTBURN

All liver diseases of whatever character are diseases of the highest importance and demand close attention. The liver is the largest and one of the most important organs of the body. Its duty is to prepare and secrete bile, and serves as one of the filters of the body, cleansing it of all impurities and poisons. Therefore when the liver gets out of order it is the starting of trouble in nearly every part of the body.

Keep the liver active by using Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills, and you will have no heartburn, constipation, biliousness, sick or bilious headaches, dull, yellow eyes, brown blotches, salivary complexion, coated tongue, jaundice, catarrh of the stomach, or the painful protruding internal or bleeding piles.

Mrs. John Kadey, Chipman, N. B. writes: "I have used Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills for some time and can recommend them to anyone suffering from heartburn and liver trouble. I tried other remedies, but they only relieved me for a short time. I always recommend Laxa-Liver Pills to all sufferers, as I think they are a valuable remedy."

Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills are 25c. a vial at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of 50c. to T. M. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

The basic reasons for Waltham supremacy

IN 1854 the first factory in the world to manufacture complete watch movements was opened at Waltham.

Before that, plates were fashioned in one place, screws in another, springs in another. All the parts, produced by different people in different places, were finally assembled somewhere else. As a result, the time-keeping qualities of completed movements were by no means reliable.

Waltham altered this condition.

Waltham replaced hit-or-miss methods with standardization.

At Waltham were evolved those marvellous automatic machines which replaced much hand-work, resulting in greater precision.

A modern Waltham Watch is the world's finest achievement in watch-making. To own a Waltham is not only to be assured of time accuracy, but to have the prestige which comes from possessing a watch that commands respect everywhere.
