Aroused From Lethargy.

"If in three short days we can arouse he lethargic ministers into activity," he said, "then we are the people to entrust with this business. If we have succeeded in getting from the cabinet shad is no reason why you should let the good work go on."

On the nickel question, Mr. Dewart said the people of the province were indebted to W. F. Maclaan and The Toronto World Tor the active campaign they had conducted to awaken the government. If old Liberal governments had not lived up to their opportunities in Ontario's nickel production, that was no reason why the Conservative government should fall down at the present time. The issue only became really acute since war broke out. He asked the audience if it could account for ministers of the candidate.

"If this had been done in Canada," said the Devare ware work in the work work in the work of the candidate.

Some statements about these affairs, that is no reason why you should vote affairs, that is no reason why you should read the contentions of the candidate was untrue. The only sources of nickel in the United States are Canadian resources, apart from a triffting amount of nickel held by men interested in the Bessemer and Midvale Steel Corporations.

Miss Laura Hughes described the appalling conditions under which the workers in the sude only became really acute since war broke out. He asked the audience if it could account for ministers of the condition.

said Mr. Dewart, "you would have had have known its exports and the countries to which its exports were going and attention might have been directed when this nickel was going to Germany and the preparations for the big war were being made. We have no control now over the books of the Amcontrol now over the books of the Auterican corporation, and the result has been vast fortunes have been made, dividends have been paid and nobody ean tell where the money of that corporation is going or to whom it is being paid. We cannot tell whether a portion of it is not coming back to channels in Ontario and Ottawa which really accounts for the attitude that the governments have adopted with reference to the nickel corporation."

"And why should this nickel trust get off with the patry tax of $40,000 when they are paying ten millions extra dividends?" the speaker continued. "A corporation whose nickel is coming back in the bodies of our brack of the patry tax of $40,000 tax per annum while we are supporting the big war taxes; And why is it that it is erican corporation, and the result has been vast fortunes have been made, dividends have been paid and nobody brave boys is paying $40,000 tax per nnum while we are supporting the big war taxes. only now the government ministers have been aroused to action?"

Coerce Jewish Vote.

Joseph Singer was the first speaker and he denounced Jacob Cohen, J.P., for the part he played in the Conservative meeting in Broadway Hall Monday night. Every kind of an attempt, he said, had been made by Mr. Dewart's opponents to coerce the Jewish vote. "The man who occupied the chair at that meeting," said Mr. Singer, 'owns an hotel downtown which is leased to a liquor store. He raved against the Conservative party and their prohibition, but at the ring of the bell he dropped into line like a lot of other people. He is a man paid by the City of Toronto for giving fair and unbiesed opinions on the bench. He should have the good sense and decency to keep away from active political work, from any kind of work that is likely in any way to arouse temptations which might affect the fairness of, his decisions in his judicial work." Mr. Singer asid it devolved upon the city council to take this matter into considers ion.

The speaker prombesled that when Premier Hearst returned from England he would secure a certificate of ill-health from his physician, retire from the premiership, to be raised later to the judiciary by a Conservative government. One of the present Ontario cabinet ministers, he said, would be raised to the premier-ship.

nment had inflicted on the Province of Ontario.

On hydro, he challenged the Conservatives to answer him one question: "Why did the Conservative party, who profess such strong sympathies for the hydroelectric movement, put Sir Adam Beck out of the cabinet?" "You don't see Sir Adam on any Conservative platform supporting Jimmy Norris, do you?" he asked.

Could Not Explain.

With a statute on the oboks declaring that something like a $2,500,000 tax should be levied on the international Nacket Trust, Mr. Singer reminded the audience that the Ontario Government was exacting ony $40,000. One of the worst things the government had ever done, he said, was to favor the nicket company in the taxes demanded of it, and it was the one big thing the Conservative party could not explain.

When the electrical interests sought the flat from the Ontario Government Mr. Singer asked if it was not probable that the government had extended some hope to them that it would be forthcoming. And then, when public opinion made itself heard, gone back on its assurances.

The tearing down of two million deliars.

When Mr. Bewart arose to address the meeting he was greeted with tremendous applause. He first congratulated the meeting upon the interest they had shown in the big issues up for discussion. It was feally surprising, he said, what interest the people of Scuthwest Toronto were taking in a by-election which they had sheen told was of no importance whatever.

"We get into this fight Saturday night," he said, "and we nailed two issues to the mast. First, the greet nickel question and second the attitude the government has adopted towards hydro-electric. We say the McGarry bill must be stricken from the statute books. And so far as gredial roads are concerned that it was the first half-decent orderly meeting in the campaign, to the presence of four women. He delied anybody to tell him where Jimmy Norris stord on the prohibition question.

"We ask The Globe and Star," he challenged, "to tell us iomorrow how they are going to stan din this election, to tell us whether they are going to support Mr. Dewart. I ask Mr. Atkinson to come out tomorrow morning and tell us how he is going to vote. Let them do as The World; I admire the stand of Mr. Maclean. He plunges in and tells us the statute books. perguson had little to say on the nickel question. It was the Grits, he said, who had alienated the nickel lands. The Whitney government had falled to compel the refining of nickel in Ontario because for climatic reasons it was impossible to refine the Sudbury nickel in Canada. When Premier Hearst came into power, however, he directed Mr. Ferguson to look into the question, with the result that a process had now been discovered by which nickel could be refined in Ontario, and the two biggest companies in the business had been described at the ocnclusion of the war. He further declared that the temperance people were ready for the vote, but that the government would not consent to take a vote with so many men in khaki.

On the hydro issue Mr. Lucas said that while he was a modest member of the commission he was doing as much work as anybody else; practically every battle that the hydro had fought took place before the private bills committee, of which he was chairman, and upon every occasion he voted for the hydro interests and in all these fights the hydro by the hydro Radials.

Lucas Accepts Norris.

In opening, Mr. Lucas declared that his presence indicated that his sympathies were with the candidate, Mr. Norris, and that in so speaking he represented the best sentiments of every member of the Ontario Government and cabinet. He believed that Southwest Toronto wanted a man that knew Toronto's requirements, and in this connection his position as chairman of the private bills committee of the legislature had shown him that many of the bills affected. Toronto move than any other city, and for this reason a man should be elected who knew the city's requirements. "The fact that in this campaign we find ourselves confronted with only two or three issues shows how small is the criticism against the Conservative government," said Mr. Lucas. the private prospector.

Seek Refining Process.

"One of the first questions I was asked to take up when I came into office was the control of the whole nickel industry from the mines to the manufactured article. I was told there was no known process and that thousands of dollars had been spent to discover a method of refiring nickel in Ontario. That was one of the chief reasons for appointing a nickel commission. This commission has been pursuing its work pathering information from every nickel refinery in the world. A Reasonable Compromise.

A Reasonable Compromise.

in harmony with the policy of the Hearst government, the attorney-general declared that there never was, and never would be, a parliament where all the members would see alike on all important questions that came before it. They do not all see alike on the temperance question. The modern government is a reasonable compromise, and the Conservative policy is to take the liquor question out of politics, and leave it out.

Out of Politics.

"What is the policy of the Liberal party?" shouted a man at the back.

"We will leave that to the people," replied the attorney-general.

In referring to the temperance platform of the Liberal party. Mr. Lucas declared that he used to say that while Mr. Rowell wanted to do a lot for temperance he wanted the temperance people to do a lot for him. (Applause.)

"We are not asking for votes because temperance as a plank in the Conservative platform. Our platform is to take temperance out of politics and leave it out."

As a result of the appeals several men came forward.

On this account the government brought down a measure which said that during the war there should be prohibition in order to conserve as far as possible the resources of the country and that final prohibition should be settled at the conclusion of the war. He further declared that the temperance people were ready for the and he hoped the day would soon come when young Canadians would show up as well as the old countrymen who are restdents of Canada.

"The nickel commission, Mr. Ferguson declared, had accomplished results. As a result of its work both nickel companies had come to the government declaring their willingness to come into the Province of Ontario to do their refining. Some newspapers had endeavored to show that the government was wanting in loyalty and patriotism.

"We are not wanting in these qualities, as Mr. W. F. Paclean and two or three scavenger newspapers in this country, would have you believe. Mr. Maclean, as a member of parliament, has committed a cruel wrong against suffering mothers and widows whose boys have sacrificed themselves at the front, in leading them to think that the governments of this country have been a party to furnishing the very nickel that is smiting the men of our land. His position is unjustifiable, and he should never be a member of parliament again.
