The solution of the whole matter is that if playgrounds existed in each ection of the city similar to Cartier or Anglesea square the boys would flock to these playgrounds and enjoy themselves in their own way without troubling anybody. They did it in the winter and the matter may now be adjusted.

HE WENT ABOUT IT QUIETLY.

A strange story comes from one of the Balkan states, where commercial morality is still in its infancy. At a recent banquet given at the house of the prime minister a distinguished diplomat complained to his host that the minister of justice, next to whom he was sitting, had taken his watch. The prime minister said: "Ah, he shouldn't have done that. I will get it back for you." Sure enough, toward the end of the evening the watch was returned to its owner. "And what did he say?" asked the guest. "Sh-h! He does not know I have got it back," said the prime minister.—Philadelphia Record.

MAKE PLAYGROUNDS FOR ALL THE BOYS

Take the Idle and Mischievous Groups From the Street Corners and Alleys.

(Ottawa Citizen.)

It is during the spring and autumn that in the winter, Keep-Off-The-Grass signs drive him on to the street; when he plays ball or romps on the street, the complaint-worried policeman chases him on to the sidewalk; when he gathers in idle groups at the street corners because there is no place else for him to go, he is again complained about and harried by the police as a loafer and maker of unseemly noises. There seems to be no place for him in the scheme of things and, driven from pillar to post, he roams about and his misdirected energy finds employment in mischief. If there was some place for him to play he would go there and play and mind his own business as he does during the winter. He does not want to be bothered by the grown-ups if they will only let him alone. But he has to do something and have some place to do it.

Two-Piece Suits

They make an ordinary two-piece suit seem shapeless and clumsy. These splendid suits are quite as appropriate for business as for outing wear. They give evidence of the skilled hands of the 20th Century tailors in their superb style and perfect fit. We guarantee these suits to hold their shape just as well as our three-piece lined suits—few tailors in the city dare promise so much. Two piece sults come in all the correct novelties, including Gray, and rich Blue Serge.
