"Boys," said a teacher to her Sunday school class, "can any of you quote a verse from the Scripture to prove that it is wrong to have two wives?"

A bright boy raised his hand. "Well, Thomas," encouraged the teacher. Thomas stood up. "No man can serve two masters," he said proudly.

IF FOOD DISAGREES DRINK HOT WATER

When food lies like lead in the stomach and you have that uncomfortable, distended feeling, it is because of indistended blood supply to the stomach, combined with acid and food fermentation. In such cases try the plan now followed in many hospitals and advised by many eminent physicians of taking a teaspoonful of pure bisulphated magnesia in half a glass of water, as hot as you can comfortably drink it. The hot water draws the blood to the stomach and the bisulphated magnesia, as any physician can tell you, instantly neutralizes the acid and stops the food fermentation. Try this simple plan and you will be astonished at the immediate feeling of relief and comfort that always follows the restoration of the normal process of digestion. People who find it inconvenient at times to secure hot water and travelers who are frequently obliged to take hasty meals poorly prepared, should always take two or three five-grain tablets of Bisulphated Magnesia after meals to prevent fermentation and neutralize the acid in their stomach.

DR. J. D. MAHER, Prop.
Open 9 a. m. Until 9 p. m.

Mr. Edward Kemp, who cabed congratulations to Lieut. General Sir Arthur Currie, commander of the Canadian troops in France, read the following reply:—

"Your message of congratulations is sincerely appreciated by all ranks of the Canadian corps. Tell our comrades in the Canadian militia that in addition to winning and consolidating ground we have inflicted casualties upon the foe at least treble our own."

"In repeated and determined counter-attacks the flower of the German army was thrown against us, but our line remained unshaken as our own Rockies. Will not the price which you say Canada has in her sons inspire her to send us men to take the place of these so nobly fallen?"

Hon. Mr. Pugsley asked what the food controller had done to reduce the cost of living. Sir George Foster said that was hard to answer. The work so far had been mostly preliminary. A discussion on grain and flour followed.

OLD SOL SUBLINE

At His Best to Puget Sound Region, Seattle Paper Says.

Many orators and writers are just now crying for a place in the sun, but most of them are talking and writing in the shade. They have to, from where they are located along the Atlantic Coast and in the Middle West. But out here in the cool, green Puget Sound country, with the midsummer sun falling slant instead of vertical on the verdant valley sunned by rippling mountain streams or wooded by the soft lappings of the wind-carried salt waters of the inland ocean, a place in the sun has a meaning all its own.

Old Sol, is, of course, the most sublime figure in our planetary system. To be caressed by him under any circumstances is a distinguishing mark of favor. To him we owe life itself in every physical sense. Dear Mother Earth generously turns about every day to bring us face to face with him. When the day's work is done and muscle and nerve and heart and brain demand a season of rest, she kindly turns over and puts her soothing shadows on our weary eyes and rocks us gently to sleep, as a loving mother.

Our attention is not divided in different lines of business. We give our undivided attention to our exclusive optical business.

We do the best prescription work and charge a reasonable price for our service, as we are established out of the high rental district.

Our customers are our friends.

Will you let us explain our service to you?

ther should. At morning she rolls up once more into the face of the sun, drawing the crimson curtains of dawn slowly so as not to hastily dash our eyes with a too sudden splendor.

Men have been sun worshippers since the first veneration for things wonderful and supreme was born in their hearts. It took the patient discoveries of Galileo and other geographers of the heavens generations to displace the sun as the final centre of our world. Those discoveries carried the imagination of man into farther fields of speculation and increased his reverence of the greater and unknown Sun, the God Creator of all things. But where else on earth does the sun find so irreproachable a symbol of the kindly, generous, beneficent, and all-pervading Soul of the Universe as here in the Puget Sound country, where to have a place in the sun is to be cheered through and through, without any discomfort whatever, but only to feel the soft thrills of loving moderation.—Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

Several years ago the late Booker T. Washington made an address in a small town in Georgia on the duty of the white man to the black, and of the black to the white. Washington, always an effective speaker, was at his best that night. The conclusion of the speech, an elderly gentleman with white hair and in the dress of a well-to-do planter came to the platform. "Washington," he said, "I want to do what I never thought I'd do in my life—I want to clasp your hand. And, furthermore, I want to tell you that, regardless of color, you are the smartest man I ever heard talk."

"I thank you for the compliment, but you do me too much honor," said Washington. "How about Colonel Roosevelt?"

"Oh, him," snorted the Georgian. "I ain't had no use for him since he invited you to dinner."
