

Government, General Regulations, &c.

The system of government is that which is judged best calculated to aid the student in the formation, for himself, of a truly manly character.

A few general regulations in regard to division of time, so as to secure proper hours for study, recitation, recreation, &c., &c., are made by the Faculty from Term to Term, and announced to the students; and to these all the students are required to conform. The use of tobacco, or of any kind of intoxicating liquor or drug, resorting to any tavern or place where intoxicating liquors are sold, every species of gambling, and all games of chance, as well as all profanity, are, of course, strictly prohibited. Every student is required to confine himself to his own room during study hours, and never to absent himself from the College in the evening or at night, unless previously excused to be absent. Every student's room is considered as always subject to the entrance of any member of the Faculty.

Careful records of daily recitations, attention to ordinary duties, observance of general regulations, &c., &c., are made, and a summary of these records, as made up at the close of any Term, in regard to any student, may be obtained by his parent or guardian upon application to the President.

Theological Class.

This department is distinct from the general work of the College. It is under the sole management of the Professor of Theology, who is neither appointed nor maintained by the College Corporation. The Wesleyan Conference appoints him, and provides for his support, independent of the College funds. His special work is to attend to the theological instruction of young men who are candidates for the Wesleyan Ministry, and these young men are understood to be under his special charge; but when connected with either College or Academy, they are subject to all the general laws which are binding on the other students.
