"The night was spent at Bois-le-Duc, where we lunched the following day with General Nivelle, and were passed on to the next general, who gave us permission to go into Rheims. Here we visited the cathedral and other public buildings, and saw everything that was to be seen, including the children at school in the champagne caves. Next we went on to General Joffre, to whom I brought a letter of introduction from a French general in New York."

RHEUMATISM IN THE BLOOD

know that it is rooted in the blood, and while exposure may start the pain, nothing but the removal of the poisonous acid from the blood will cure the trouble. It is a waste of both time and Trouble. It is a waste of both time and money to try to cure rheumatism with liniments, poultices or anything that only goes skin deep. Rubbing lotions into the skin may give temporary relief, but it actually helps to circulate the poisonous acid more freely and thus in the end increases the trouble, and perhaps leaves the sufferer permanently crippled. The one cure, the only cure, for rheumatism is to drive the acid which causes the trouble out of the blood. To do this no other remedy can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills which actually make new blood, sweep out Dubois and Watched an Artillery Duel; Charming Letter From French Commander

(Ottawa Citizen.)

Miss Kathleen Burke, honorary organizing secretary of the Scottish Women's Hospital for Foreign Service, addressed an open meeting at the Russell Theatrelast evening in behalf of that noble organization, under the joint auspices of the Canadian Club, the Women's Canadian Club, the Women's Canadian Club, and the two Ottawa chapters of the Empire. This gifted young woman described her remarkable experiences during a recent visit to the French front at Verdun. Miss Burke was introduced by Sir Charles Fitzpatrick, and the address was one of the greatest interest owing to its timely nature and freshness of material. In an interview on her Verdun experience, Miss Burke said:

"We Fit Paris one morning, slept the night at Vitry-le-Francois, went all over the battlefields of the Marne, and then went to find General Petain, you know; is the original commander of Verdun. He explained n a most fatherly way, that there would be grave dangers, but when he saw that I really wanted to go he telephoned for permission from General Nivelle.

"We stayed for some time at Verdun watching an artillery duel. Of course, of Ninevah, N. S., says: "For several years I was severely afflicted with rheumatism. The trouble seemed to locate in all the joints in my body, and my suffering at times was most intense, and the disease greatly interfered with my activity. I doctored steadily for a long time, and they suffering at times was most intense, and the disease greatly interfered with my activity. "We stayed for some time at Verdun quarter pounds. It was said at the hos the noise was appeling, but somehow the sound of fifty or sixty guns going off at once doesn't worry me as much as one alone. The most exciting moment was when a shell burst some two hundred feet from our car. That acted as a most excellent sharpener for our appetite, and decided us to get into vaults of the citadel and have lunch. We lunch with General Dubois, the officer in command in Verdun, and 120 or so of his officers, and were feted and petted and generally spoiled. They made us the prettiest speeches, and I made a speech in return, beginning in Englishas I found most of them understood it—and ending in French. It was quite a little festivity. "It was extraordinary how pleased everyone was to see two women there. Our visit was clearly quite an event, and from the youngest Poilu up to the general they were one broad grin. Heads popped up out of the trenches as word went round that ladies were coming, and everybody began to smarten himself up to the best of his ability. Coats' were slipped on, caps straightened, collars fastened and there was a general air of animation. "The night was spent at Bois-le-Duc," WAVY, BEAUTIFUL

RUBBER LINED

THE PROBLEM AND THE SOLUTION

For many years wearers of Neckties have noticed the defects due to the curling of the interlining, becomes bumpy and unsightly, so as to soon make the Tie unlit for use, yet a solution had never been found until Mr. Hey thought of using rubber for the lining; being non-creaseable, it preserves the shape of the Tie.

The Rubber-lined Necktie will wear longer and is consequently better value than any other.

From General Nivelle.

Miss Burke has since received the following letter from General Nivelle:

"August 5, 1916.

"Mademoiselle: I am most touched by your amiable letter and almost confused by your thanks, when it is really we who have to thank you for your devotion and the help you have given to our wounded.

"The work you are undertaking merits the sympathy of all the great division and I am sure that America, always so enthusiastic for noble causes, will respond once more to your appeal.

"I am well aware of the sentiments of love and respect for France that you have expressed so often with such warmth of heart and with a talent that is now universally recognized. You have already done fine service for France and for our wounded.

"Once more, thanks for the interest you have taken in our men. It is one more link of sympathy between our two weeks, use, when you will see new hair—spea-but really new hair—s
