

ACTS QUICKLY AND SAVES BOY'S LIFE

Motor Truck Driver Swerves to Sidewalk as Child in Danger.

Quick action on the part of L. Powers, driving a truck belonging to the New Brunswick Power Company, saved the six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Hubbard, 220 Waterloo street, from serious injury this morning. The lad ran out behind a watering cart right in front of the truck going down the hill. Mr. Powers swerved the car up on the sidewalk, breaking the side windows of the truck in doing so. The machine just grazed the boy. The incident occurred near the corner of Waterloo and Hospital streets.

PITCHED BATTLE IN GREEK CHAMBER

Ambulances Carry Away Badly Beaten Admiral and Former Minister.

(United Press.) Athens, July 19.—Ambulances were summoned to the Chamber of Deputies today as an all night session broke up at 7 a.m. in a pitched battle, in which an ex-minister and an admiral and a deputy were seriously wounded and a score of deputies were badly beaten. The chamber was expected to reconvene later in the day. The admiral was taken to the hospital. Clashes were frequent throughout the night. M. Hadjilyricus, former Minister of Marine, and Admiral Casadules were set upon by a group of deputies and beaten unconscious. A Cretan deputy, M. Gregoriou, suffered severe wounds from canisters. Denunciation of the Government by all the opposition groups except that of M. Michalopoulos started most of the rioting.

BIG STORM COMING POLICE ARE WARNED

Philadelphia Director Tells Them "Keep Up Fight"—Drive Begun.

Philadelphia, July 19.—Calling the police inspectors and lieutenants before him General Butler, Director of Public Safety, told them in a fiery talk that it was up to them to give heed to political threats but to adhere to the law enforcement programme and had mapped out, whether "I am fired" or not.

"Whether I go or not makes no difference to you," he declared. "You must still be here. We're going to go ahead and make good on the administration's programme. Mayor Kendrick promised the people the Philadelphia, and up vice crime in Philadelphia, and keep the police out of politics.

"We must see that these pledges are kept. Go ahead and knock out the streets of any joint that pops up in your district. If you are men you will stick to your guns and do your duty by the citizens of Philadelphia. If there is going to be a big storm, if you have to be afraid of politicians you are taking money under false pretences. If you quit with fear when your political friends tell you that after I am gone you will be the victims of a dire revenge, then you are cowards at heart.

"When I speak of men I speak of men like Lieutenant Burns who got the evidence against one of the biggest joints in Philadelphia. This is a fight to the finish. The department has a soul, and all it means to do it to call that soul its own. All that we want to do is to give Philadelphia the service.

"It has come to my attention that certain policemen on their day off go around in plain clothes to various breweries which are not even on their beat and collect money from the management on the threat that otherwise the breweries will be reported to me.

"That bunch of skunks must be thrown off the force. It has been said there are only four police officials who can't be bought. I don't believe that. I believe that all of you are men.

"You can't protect these places. Sooner or later it will come to my attention, and then the places will be 'pulled' and you will be broken and the men under you will be fired.

"No one but the Director of Public Safety can protect any of these places, and I won't do it.

"Sooner or later, if you assert your power, you can strangle vice and crime in Philadelphia. The decent people of this city demand that we do it and

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

REGARDING FERNHILL CEMETERY.

Editor Evening Times:—According to recent intimation in the daily newspapers, the general public will presently be asked to visit Fernhill Cemetery, and to note the improvements made there during the past few years.

To those that have observed many neglected graves in the past, the fact that nature has provided a particularly picturesque and lovely spot for the purpose to which Fernhill has been set aside.

In some sections there is little left to be desired, the ground being well kept, with numerous handsome monuments in evidence, while flowers in numberless places testify to the fact that the dear departed are held in loving remembrance.

There is, however, a regrettable and only too conspicuous feature in the neglected condition of many lots, detracting from the general attractiveness of the cemetery. Monuments standing at various angles or completely fallen down, iron fences in dilapidated state, uncut grass and excessive growth of weeds, all contribute to furnish painful contrast to the general excellence.

Such instances are pathetic, and, if possible, those that are interested in these neglected lots should make earnest effort to remove the cause for reproach. Surely it is thoughtlessness and not desire of indifference on the part of relatives (or descendants) of those that were interred in Fernhill cemetery that should be attributed.

If they will but visit the cemetery they will hardly feel like resisting the mute appeal to their better nature, and incidentally aid in beautifying God's acre.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for space I subscribe myself,

"LET US FORGET."

TIGERS CATCH UP WITH SENATORS

New York, N. Y., July 19.—New York today leads both Washington and Detroit by one, while the Tigers have left Chicago six games in the rear. Cobb's jangleers climbed to the rear of the league occupied by the Senators, while the latter were losing to St. Louis and the Yankees were staging a no-decision double-header with Cleveland.

Sherrill Smith outpunched the Indians to an easy 9 to 2 win in the opener and Ennoek portended the tribe to a 7 to 2 defeat in the final.

A timely triple by Jacobson with the bases full in the ninth enabled St. Louis to gather in a belated victory over Washington.

After saving the game for Detroit with a spectacular leaping catch in the ninth, Manush singled and scored the winning run in the 11th for a 4 to 3 triumph over Boston.

Holding Chicago to 6 hits, Baumgartner was the prime mover in Philadelphia's 4 to 2 win over Chicago.

Pittsburg made the Glagits realize they still have some competition in the National League by trimming the New Yorkers for the second time in succession. The final count was 9 to 2.

Adams played a lone but effective hand in the Cubs' victory over Philadelphia by 2 to 1 in 10 innings. His single in the sixth scored the first run and his second one-base knock accounted for the deciding marker in the final frame.

Fixey extended his string of white-washings to 81 as he shut out Brooklyn with three hits by 4 to 0.

St. Louis advanced to sixth place over the heads of the Braves by hammering out a 10 to 4 victory.

GOOD THINGS COMING TO THE THEATRES OF ST. JOHN

Imperial's Fine Bill on Monday

Imperial Theatre will have a splendidly mixed bill of attractive features for Monday and Tuesday, headed by Cameron Geddes, English baritone, who comes from successes in Halifax and Sydney and is en route to Toronto, where he will sing in the leading theatre there.

Mr. Geddes is a baritone of excellent culture and sings the popular ballads of the day, the best sentimental numbers, standard songs and operatic selections. He is a favorite with west.

Additionally the Imperial will present a screen version of Geo. F. Kaufman's play, "To The Ladies," a Paramount production featuring Theodore Roberts, Edward Horton of "Rugles" fame, Helen Jerome Eddy and Louise Dresser. This is a perfectly delicious comedy of a small town and the social rivalries of the piano factory's staff.

There will also be the usual Pathé News and Topics reels and scenes. The orchestra will be under the direction of Mr. Serl introduced the tent staff, who appeared for a few moments on the stage. They were Miss Martha Doherty, Junior Chautauqua leader; Miss Dorothy Denlinger, cashier; Joseph Hannah, tent manager and Tyree Finch, his assistant. Noah Bellhars was then introduced and began by impersonating in his opening address, a very plain looking man, which gave much scope for laughter, as he insisted that laughter which he practiced, always made people handsome. He gave a debate in which many varied characters were presented in humorous succession, the object of the debate being to determine which was preferable, a bald head and whiskers or neither.

His story of Billy and Selzer, was of a pathetic character and many, without one forget to wonder at the transformation after Mr. Bellhars had changed into the quaint dress and hat.

The perusal of the Beaville Bungle and the circuitous arrangements for the program were particularly illuminating when he regaled the audience with some remarkable personal, strangely familiar. These were a few of the coming season, and many, without one forget to wonder at the transformation after Mr. Bellhars had changed into the quaint dress and hat.

The programmes will be continued afternoon and evening until next Thursday, which will be closing night.

SUNDAY SCHOOL PICNIC

The Carmarthen street Methodist church annual Sunday school picnic is being held today at Anthony's Cove, Red Head. An efficient committee, arranged for games and amusements as well as for refreshments.

The programmes will be continued afternoon and evening until next Thursday, which will be closing night.

250 PPRESENT AS CHAUTAUQUA OPENS

Staff is Introduced and a Start Made on Week's Programme.

Swarthmore Chautauqua opened yesterday afternoon in the big tent on the St. John High School grounds. About 250 were in attendance last evening and there was much enthusiasm. Elmer Willis Serl, of Carthage, Michigan, is the superintendent. He has a clear enunciation and a good stage presence. He will be one of the lecturers during the week's programme.

Last evening the Blue and White Marimba Band delighted the audience with bright selections of popular and classical music. The effect produced when they played the Second Last Rhodospody was exquisite and their rendition of modern classic songs and the favorites, such as "Mighty Lak a Rose," and "Linger A While," took the audience by storm. They were obliged to return twice for encores. They also played in the afternoon. The performers are from Guatemala, Central America, and made wonderful arrangements for the piano factory's staff.

OPERA HOUSE'S CLOSED FEW WEEKS

The Opera House, in anticipation of the fall season, will close this evening, during which time certain repairs and alterations will be effected.

F. James Carroll of the Carroll Players, is now in New York engaging the company for the coming season, and very soon some interesting announcements may be expected in this connection. The Opera House management advises that two or three traveling companies will occupy the stage before the opening of the stock season, which is scheduled for September 29. Mr. Carroll writes very enthusiastically regarding the company which he is getting together for St. John, and as he is expecting to bring two or three of last year's popular aggregations, there will be considerable conjecture as to their identity.
