POLE IS MURDERED.

Signs of Long Fight Found Around Unidentified Body.

TORONTO, Dec. 31. - A battered hat, trampled snow, blood stains, a suit of overalls carefully rolled up, and, to one side, a dead man with shattered skull, lying half covered with the new-fallen snow - these were the grim evidences of murder discovered late Tuesday night in a lonely wooded spot at the rear of Mount Pleasant Cemetery, close to the deserted right-of-way of the old belt line railway. The murder may have been committed only two hours before the discovery of the body. The crime is believed to have been the termination of an ordinary struggle, but may have been a drawn battle between the dead man, a hunky Pole, and one or more adversaries. Only in the end the murderer was able to achieve their purpose by a blow from behind, with some sort of blunt instrument, it is said to be obvious from the nature of the man's injury. In the early hours of yesterday morning the police patrol, with two detectives, removed the body to the city morgue, where it now lies. Meantime, although experts say the man had been killed only a few hours before the police reached the scene, it is estimated by police appear to be still uncertain in whose jurisdiction the case lies. Having already exhausted the few slight clues at first picked up, two county constables are razing the countryside looking for the murderer or murderers. Who the dead man was, why he was killed, whether one or many had a hand in the slaughter, are as yet unanswered questions. The theory which would most readily explain the facts is, according to the police, that the murdered man was a timekeeper or foreman on some piece of heavy construction work where navies are employed and that he had been either lured to the place where the crime was committed or had been challenged to a duel with knives. That knives were used was evidenced by a big cut in the victim's forehead, above the right eye.

To Shut Door of Belgium. ROTTERDAM, Dec. 31. - (Via London.) - Commencing Jan. 1, the German administration in Belgium intends to close the Belgian borders against all comers. HUGE PLOT BALKED

Italian Police Discover Conspiracy to Ship Contraband.

TWO OFFICIALS ARRESTED

Austro-Germanic Plan to Get Supplies of Food, Fuel and Textiles Is Uncovered in Italy - Scheme Had Manifestations All Over the Country - Adriatic Port To Have Been Used.

MILAN, Dec. 31. - Through the vigilance of the Ministers of Finance and Commerce in Rome a vast Austro-Germanic conspiracy has been unmasked. It was a plot with ramifications all over Italy, particularly in Naples, Genoa, Florence and Milan. Its purpose was to close the Italian borders against all comers. No more passports will be issued or recognized except the special military pass. The cause for this unusual precaution is not known here, but it is believed to have been ordered to prevent espionage.

Two Men Arrested.

ROME, Dec. 31. - In connection with the German contraband scandal, Dr. Biore and Signor Castrianno, a customs officer, have been arrested. A search of Dr. Biore's house by the police reveals that he had been in close touch with the German embassy and that the embassy officials had been sent here to organize contraband traffic. Several of these officials have been requested to leave Italy. Compromising documents have also been found in the houses of both the arrested men, also in the house of a big German concern, which has its chief establishment at Bergamo. The haul made by the customs guards at Genoa consists of 15,000 consignment of military clothing intended for transit to the belligerents of the central Empires.

TIDE IS TURNING

Russians Regaining the Initiative Along Eastern Front.

AUSTRIANS ARE SCATTERED

Attack From the South Has Failed, and Germans in Central Poland Are Waiting For a New Plan of Campaign - Chief Fighting Is Now Taking Place on the Pilica-Losses Enormous.

LONDON, Dec. 31. - Since the Russian defeat of the Austrians in Galicia, which while not irreparable, is likely to have a marked effect on the whole Austro-German campaign in the east, there has been no important development on either front. With the defeat of the Austrians in Galicia and south Poland and the retirement of the Germans across the Bura, Petrograd believes that the turning point has been reached in the battle of the Polish rivers. The chief fighting is now taking place on the Pilica, where the Germans are still on the offensive and have brought up big guns.

The losses in these battles have reached enormous figures in dead, wounded and prisoners, and must have been largely added to disease, for the men fought under dreadful climatic conditions and in mud, for which Poland is notorious.

A despatch from Lemberg says: "The simultaneous attacks of the Austrians in western Galicia and from the Carpathians proved to be a complete failure. Unofficial reports reaching here state that the losses of the Austrians were enormous, and that the Russians have taken as many as 50,000 prisoners, including many Germans."

"Trainsloads of guns and other war booty pass daily through Lemberg." "The correspondent of The Daily News at Petrograd telegraphs: "The destruction of the enemy's combination in the southern campaign is enabling the Russians to outflank the initiative and inflict on the German-Austrian line the break which was projected of the Nida and the Vistula, just inside the southern border of Poland, in Galicia."

"All the Austrian forces below this line have been so scattered that the Hungarians alone have to face Russia's southernmost army. Columns moving across the eastern Beskiden into Hungary often are entirely without artillery, which they have lost or abandoned in the hurried retreat."

"The main German forces in central Poland are awaiting a new scheme of operations. They have evacuated Opoczno and remain comparatively passive, from exhaustion. To the north of the Bura, Field Marshal von Hindenburg is expected to try some other shock attack."

"The new line of defence works being built are equipped with heavy artillery and deep infantry trenches on the hills. This position is six miles behind the previous outer defences."

GERMANS INTERVIEW.

They Are Striving to Prevent an Austro-Italian Conflict. ROME, Dec. 31. - Italy's momentous move of occupying Avlona and the surrounding hill country has aroused intense irritation and discontent in Austria-Hungary. A Secolia correspondent telegraphing from the Austrian frontier says that the Germans have intervened in Vienna in an endeavor to prevent a possible Austro-Italian incident at this delicate juncture. Count Berchtold, the Austrian Chancellor, had a lengthy conference with Emperor Francis Joseph on the matter, and on returning to the Foreign Office the count at once sent for the Italian ambassador, who, it is reported, was requested to prepare from Rome a fresh statement of Italy's declaration in October last that the latest move was merely a police measure for the time being and in virtue of the decisions of the London Conference.

LONDON, Dec. 31. - There is as yet no confirmation of the report that a German army corps has been sent to the Italian frontier, but it is reported from several sources.

ULTIMATUM SENT.

Italy Demands Release of British Consul at Hodeida. LONDON, Dec. 31. - The Rome correspondent of The Daily News said yesterday: "I am informed that at a meeting of the Cabinet Council a decision will be reached in connection with the incident at Hodeida, which is still in abeyance. The Government's patience is exhausted, and Turkey has been peremptorily notified that the British consul at Hodeida must be released immediately and that the gendarmes who broke into the Italian Consulate be punished."

Turkey has been warned that no excuse for further delay will be accepted. A satisfactory reply is demanded within two days."

PAT'S PETS AWAIT THEIR TURN.

LONDON, Dec. 31. - In a little French village within the sound of the guns, Prisoner Patricia's Light Infantry, the first of the Canadian contingent to go to the front, are billeted, waiting their turn to go into the trenches. They were accorded a splendid reception by their comrades in arms and the French villagers.

To Restrict Wheat Export. LONDON, Dec. 31. - (Via London.) - In view of the abnormal price of wheat the India Government decided to restrict exports to 100,000 tons of wheat, including flour, from Dec. 1 to March 31, 1915.

The exports will be confined to British possessions, in which a strong demand for the cereals exists.
