CARLETON CO.

Foreston, March 17.—A few loyal Hibernians are wearing the green today.

There is some talk of erecting two new school houses near here.

William Staten is at home again, having settled his Scott act fines. Mr. Mack, carpenter, has gone to New York for work.

The portashers report having seen moose frequently this winter, but very few have been caught.

Mr. Crouse has a very pretty little dwelling in the course of erection nearly opposite the Roman Catholic church.

Quite a crew of Craig's men came out of the woods last Friday. There only remain Hayward's crew and Hocey's and a few more in the woods now, although some of them will be in again building dams. Hayward's crew is expected out this week.

Messrs. McCatherin and Rolston of Fredericton and Newcastle respectively, accompanied by Mr. McCoy, passed through here yesterday en route to Bristol, whence they will proceed to Fredericton. These two gentlemen have made a tour of all the camps on the Miramichi and have done quite a business selling jewellry this winter.

The R. T. of T. of Beaufort recently had a debate on the momentous quesetion, "In which is there most happiness, married or single life?" in which the would be benedicts got badly beaten. Miss Stella Lee acted very efficiently as judge.

Woodstock, March 17.—The case against Thos. Courtney and Jas. Bonar accused of stabbing Award Tompkins of the Queen's hotel has aroused a great deal of talk, as the circumstances are somewhat unusual in a community which has so long borne the peaceful record that Woodstock enjoys. It seems that these two young men, Michael Courtney and James Bonar went to the Queen hotel between nine and ten o'clock the other evening. They went to the door of one of the rooms where they knocked and went in, on the door being opened by Award Tompkins, who did not give them any encouragement to come in, but in fact suggested to them that they might find a heartier welcome almost any other place; and he further remarked that there was nothing there for the young men in question. He attempted to get them out on the sidewalk, when Thos. Courtney came along and made several strikes at Tompkins. Jack Tompkins, a brother of Award's, came along at this stage of the game and then a question of endurance seems to have been debated between the two parties. Finally, according to the evidence yesterday, Bonar produced his jackknife and made a drive at Award Tompkins, inflicting a wound of some severity, striking him below the shoulder blade. It is also alleged that he made a drive at Joel Tompkins and caused him quite an injury. Although Michael Courtney had escaped, Thos. Courtney and Bonar were arrested and their cases came up for trial yesterday. The court room was filled to its utmost capacity and a great deal of interest was taken in the proceedings. However, an adjournment was taken until this afternoon. F. B. Carvell appeared for Bonar, while J. R. Murphy acted as crown prosecutor. This afternoon the trial was ended. Bonar was sentenced to six months in jail and Courtney thirty days.

Coles W. Dugan is expecting to take the control of the Exchange hotel, run by his father until his death, in the course of a short while.

Beaver Harbor, March 17.—Rev. Mr. DeWitt, who has been holding revival meetings in this village, has been very successful in his work, and on Sunday last baptized nineteen converts.

On Saturday evening Safeguard division, S. of T., paid a fraternal visit to Red Granite division of St. George. About forty members drove up and spent a very enjoyable evening.

Miss Susie Palmer of St. Andrews has been visiting Mrs Conley of Beaver Harbor lighthouse.

Schooner Exenia, Capt. Parker, left yesterday for St. Andrews to get a load of supplies for some of the storekeepers.

The lobster fishermen have experienced great difficulty in their work because of the severe storms, which in many cases have ruined their traps. Added to this, large lobsters are so scarce that but few fishermen are even making wages. Experienced fishermen say that unless the government prohibits the catch of small lobsters the fish will be entirely destroyed. The United States has forbidden their fishermen to catch lobsters under 10 inches. As a result Americans engaged in canning have moved their lobster factories here and these factories use only small lobsters.

St. Stephen, March 18.—St. Patrick's day was observed here by appropriate services in the Catholic church and the display of some bunting.

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Todd, W. H. Edwards and Walter McWha of St. Stephen attended the opera in St. John on Saturday evening.

It is probable that N. E. Sederquest, foreman of the factory, will continue manufacturing on his own behalf, though on a reduced scale.

Sixty persons were received into the Methodist church on Sunday evening last, all but a few of them being converts from Mr. Gale's recent meetings. They included grey haired men and women, younger people and children. Others are to join at a later date.

When he came out they were missing, and during the night the theft occurred. Several important keys were on the ring, and the owner is anxious for their return.

KENT CO.

Richibucto, March 11.—The circuit court, presided over by Judge Tuck, with Stenographer Fry in attendance, opened yesterday morning. There were no cases entered in the docket. The judge addressed the grand jury at some length before discharging them. He referred to our fishing industry and the success of the smelt season just closed. His honor said he had always been treated with the utmost respect by the members of the Richibucto bar. He thought that the depression in law business had been caused by the enormous fees which lawyers asked from their clients. He was also of the opinion that the large costs made up by the clerks of the court had a great deal to do with keeping people from going to law. The court adjourned sine die.

Judge Tuck's remarks in reference to the decline in law business is especially noticeable here. In this county four county courts and two circuit courts are held annually, and for the past five years hardly any cases have been tried. The reports from various parts of the province show the same results. The profession of law in this province is overcrowded and the people in other spheres of labor can thank themselves that they are not lawyers.

Fishery Warden Hannah has received a large number of bounty checks from Ottawa to distribute among the fishermen.

William Stevenson, a well known resident of Molus river, is seriously ill.

Bass River, March 17.—John Howell's house was burned last Saturday night. The family saved nothing, some of them getting out with night clothes on. A defective flue was the cause. The house was of little value, and the loss will all be made up to the family by the neighbors and outside friends.

Wm. Campbell, who has been ill for some weeks with consumotion, is rapidly sinking.

The most of the lumber in the vicinity will be on the booms by the 25th of the month. There is great activity in bark hauling, too, just now.

The Presbyterians of Harcourt and Mill Branch hope to begin the building of a manse this summer.

The Kent Dairy Co. have decided to close out the business, as it has proved unprofitable.

Richibucto, March 18.—For the last forty days it has been a succession of snow storms in this locality, but the record breaker occurred yesterday. It was the nearest possible approach to a blizzard, the snow being so thick at times that an object twenty yards away could scarcely be seen. Today is clear and still and the citizens are at work with shovels letting daylight into their homes again.

The Kent Northern train, which jumped the track about eight miles above town last Friday morning, reached here on Monday afternoon. Repairs are now being made to the engines, and an effort will be made tomorrow to open the road.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

St. Croix, March 17th, 1896.

To the Editor of the Sun:

Sir—In your issue of the 16th an item from your Fredericton correspondent states that the police magistrate is receiving anonymous letters purporting to come from wives and mothers of husbands and sons in Vanceboro, who squander their means and morals in St. Croix bar-rooms. Now as a resident of St. Croix I do not wish the impression to get abroad that St. Croix is worse than it really is, and to state a few facts relative to the two border towns. No doubt there was a time in the history of St. Croix when the complaints may have been just ones, but at the present time hardly anything of the kind exists. And if the wives and mothers of these dear ones would look near home for the cause of their trouble they might start a crusade that would be more effectual. For in Vanceboro at the present time, and in direct violation of the Maine prohibition law, three onen bars are run day and night, also a pool room. All these are in the immediate vicinity of those wives and mothers who cannot see anything so close, but lift their eyes in holy horror when they look across the border, where there was not business enough done in that line the past winter to pay for the fuel burned. I am not complaining of these places in Vanceboro, as I am not interested one way or the other, but I cannot see St. Croix held up as a reproach and Vanceboro as a model, when the facts are the reverse.

Manitoba Legislature Adjourned Until April 16th.

Premier Greenway's Brief Explanation of This Latest Move.

The Tribune and Nor 'Wester Discuss the Forthcoming Conference

Winnipeg, March 19.—When the Manitoba legislature assembled this afternoon the galleries were crowded, and there was much expectancy as to what the premier would say in explanation of his notice given yesterday that the house adjourn instead of proroguing, but the premier's explanation was of the briefest nature, to the disappointment of the large gathering who expected a lengthy and interesting speech. This was all Mr. Greenway had to say: "The honorable member for St. Boniface asked me the reason for the adjournment. In any case I should have said the dominion government have intimated to the government here that they desire a conference with them on the school question to be held in this city, and it is on account of this intimation that the government here asked that the house adjourn until the 16th of next month. I accordingly move the adjournment until that date."

When Mr. Roblin, Mr. Fisher and one or two other members of the opposition took the floor to say how glad they were that at least an amicable settlement of the troublesome school question was in sight and to express hope that good results would attend the conference. After these speeches the premiers' motion to adjourn was adopted.

Tonight, discussing the matter, the Tribune, which is the organ of the Greenway government, has this to say editorially: The much talked of invitation from the Ottawa government to the local government to hold a conference on the school question has arrived, and we will now have an opportunity of seeing what will come of it. That it is pre-doomed to failure may be taken for granted, for had the Ottawa government been in earnest in desiring an amicable and peaceful arrangement of the difficulty they would never have pressed the remedial bill to a second reading. The request for a conference coming, as it does, after or about the time the bill is read a second time, shows that it is merely a trick to deceive the members into voting for the bill, and by so doing avoid defeat in the house

"Why should the government want to commit its followers to the principles of the bill as a vote for the second reading undoubtedly will, if it had the slightest expectation or desire that a settlement could be reached by a conference? The course the government has taken in the matter stamps it as a fraud on its face and must increase popular contempt for the administration throughout the country. It is understood that with the invitation for a conference which reached here yesterday came a request that instead of proroguing, the legislature should adjourn for a month in order, no doubt, to give the impression that if any settlement is reached the legislature will be in a position to meet and render effective by legislation any compromise that may be reached.

"Under the circumstances it is difficult to see how Mr. Greenway could have acted otherwise than he has done, but as we have already said, it is impossible to see what good can come out of a conference held under such auspices and attended by such peculiar circumstances.

"On the same subject the Nor'wester (conservative) has the following: "Never in the varied history of the vexatious school question has there been such an opportunity offered for a reasonable, equitable and satisfactory settlement of Manitoba's school difficulty as the proposed conference and never could there have been such an opportune time chosen with both dominion and local parliaments in session and federal legislation on the eve of being embodied in our statute books for the people of Canada to receive without the shadow of a doubt from the result of that conference on whom may rest the responsibility of making the school question a continual source of danger and hindrance to the welfare of the dominion of Canada. Mr. Greenway knows that and it is to be sincerely hoped by every well wisher of this country that his action in adjourning the legislature is indicative of the spirit of compromise at least."

The Winnipeg clearings for the week ending today were $926,547; balances, $164,435. Same week last year they were $695,454, with balances of $163,230.

Vancouver, B. C., March 19.—Charles Warwick, defaulting government agent at New Westminster, came up for trial today before Judge Walker. He pleaded guilty to the charge of embezzling over $9,000 and stated that he had nothing to say except that he had done everything possible to make restitution. Judge Walkem sentenced him to four years' penal servitude.
