CHATHAM, N. LIVELY ENCOUNTER

Service of the special production of the spe

cramble for office as it had witnessed

last year.

The statement had been made by no less a person that the president of the council that in past years the province lost no less than $200,000 through failure to adequately collect the stumpage. He noticed that there was very little territorial revenue lost. He noticed that there was very little increase in the teritorial revenue last year, when the lumber cut was up to the average. If the old government was lesing $200,000 a year by not collecting all the stumpage what about the present government last year? Why does not the government collect all the stumpage and with this $200,000 extra build the Valley railway? It would pay the interest at 4 per cent. on five million dollars, equal to the whole debt of the province. He had the area the statement made that the reach lands were not administered in possible some of the agricultural resources of New Brunswick.

Referring to the fact that no special mention was made in his honor's speech to the St. John Valley Railway Hon. Mr. Hazen said that project had been the football of the former government for many years. He believed the St. John valley should have a railway. He understood delegations would wait upon the government about this matter, and he could assure the house and the delegations that they would receive a most sympathetic hearing, and this government would go as far possible to encourage and assist in the building of this very necessary railway.

After defending the horse importation, Mr. Hazen moved the adjournment of the debate. The consideration of the address was made the order of the day for three o'clock tomorrow. Hon. Mr. Hazen submitted the report of the commissioners of the N. B. Coal and Railway Company, and stated that the report would at once be printed.

A prolonged fight on the bill is not expected. As a matter of fact the caucus dealt principally with the question of the Canada Life Bill now before the Commons, some of the Conservative members urging Mr. Henderson and others of their colleagues to relax a little the fight that they are now making against the bill.

Mr. Thomas Lockhart, County Councillor, Woodstock, says: "In 1906 I caught a severe cold which brought on a bad attack of Bronchitis. I was downright ill and totally incapacitated from doing my work on the farm or attending to my duties as a County Councillor for Oxford. My lungs also seemed to be affected, and I got lower and lower, until my friends thought that I would never get better; I also got very discouraged myself and began to lose hope."

"Needless to say I had, what was supposed to be, the best medical advice and treatment. All sorts of remedies were tried and suggestions followed, but all to no purpose. At last my doctor plainly told me that he could do nothing more for me, and that the only thing that would benefit me was to move to a milder climate. I got much worse; gradually lost all my strength, and was reduced to a shadow of my former self. I could not move out of the house, and was useless for anything, having to give up all my business."

"I honestly believe at this time that my days were numbered. Then I came across an 'Ad' in the 'Sentinel Review' telling what PSYCHINE had done in similar cases to my own, and in the 'Sentinel Review' telling what PSYCHINE had done in similar cases to my own, and in the 'Gentinel Review' telling what psychiae and it worked wonders for me in a very short time. The pain in my chost disappear d; my breathing was easier, and I could soon get out of doors again. My strength came back, and it is surprising how rapidly I put on flesh and gained in weight.

"I do not hesitate to say that PSYCHINE worked a miracle for me. I was a marvel to all who say me, and I cannot sufficiently praise this wonderful medicine which restored me to who saw me, and I cannot sufficiently praise this wonderful medicine which restored me to who saw me, and I cannot sufficiently praise this wonderful medicine which restored me to who saw me, and I cannot sufficiently praise this wonderful medicine which restored me to who saw me, and I cannot sufficiently brings immediate relief from the
