No wonder our Yankee cousins shiver when they step off the steamer, for did ever you enjoy me as delightfully cool weather than that of the past week. Why it was almost frosty in the early morning and evenings, and overcoats felt good indeed. Still the sun shone in all his glory and the air was purely fresh. If this atmospheric state of affairs keeps up St. John will get the name of Canada's cold storage vault, as well as Winter Port.

The well bred summer girl has rebelled against the chaperon, as she does not consider her presence a necessity or a compliment to herself and her friends. One of the reasons given by the summer girl for dispensing with the time honored custom is that she no longer indulges in the same dangerous pastimes as did her sisters of years gone by. For instance she does not accept invitations to sail in the moonlight unless she is one of a party comprising men and women of good family and standing. Nor does she wander alone the beach after a dance, because the dampness is liable to ruin her gown and give her a severe cold. She no longer deprives her mother or her mother's friends of her society and is as frequently seen in their company as with the masculine element. This year's summer girl is not one bit affected. She does not seek to collect engagement rings. Her natural pride revolts against the idea of allowing complications to arise by engaging herself to a man whom she has not known for years, or of giving him a right to assume a familiar attitude toward her and to call her by her first name. Some are calling her pre-dish because of this new reserve, but it brings her more respect and therefore more admiration, and therefore demonstrates her cleverness.

"Meet man still like a sunny swathe
Himself to suit convention's rule;
While woman—in the shirt she took
From him—convinces to keep so cool!"

This is the question that is agitating that portion of mankind which finds itself compelled to spend its days in the palpitating heat of city streets and offices. Not only in New York, but in all the other large cities and even at the summer resorts, the question of sticking to the conventional coat or casting it aside in favor of the cool and comfortable negligee shirt is being actively discussed. An enthusiastic and rapidly growing minority has adopted the latter course, while the timid or conservative members of the majority are divided between those who regard the innovation with envy and those who fear it openly. Careful investigation in the principal cities and summer resorts shows that as a rule the young men hail the proposed change with delight, while their elders, presumably more conservative, regard it with slight fear. The most hardened objectors to the new style seem to be the proprietors of theatres and restaurants and other places of public entertainment. In most of these places there are rules, written or unwritten, against the use of the shirt, and these rules were probably not intended to be enforced against fashionable persons, but head waiters or managers seldom are capable of discrimination, and instances are multiplying daily of the ejection of men from such places because of their departure from the established custom which decrees that man must wear his coat regardless of the temperature. As these institutions exist for the convenience of the public, however, they are likely to fall into line as soon as the movement makes sufficient headway to secure recognition.

The residence of Mr. Fred R. Butcher, Insurance Adjuster, No. 145 Duke street, was the scene of a happy event at 11.30 o'clock Wednesday morning when his daughter Alice Lillian was led to the altar by Mr. Wilbur W. Warren, a prominent druggist of Backville, N. B.

The home of the bride's parents was tastefully decorated with cut and potted plants, ferns etc, for the occasion.

The ceremony which was witnessed by a large number of friends from the city and surrounding places, was performed by Rev. D. Weddall, pastor of Queen Square Methodist church assisted by Rev. W. E. Warren father of the groom.

Miss Butcher was attended by Miss Carrie Bly of New Bedford, Mass., and Miss Louie Crosby of this city, while Mr. E. W. Knowles supported the groom.

The bride couple with their guests partook of a sumptuous wedding luncheon after which an informal reception was held and Mr. and Mrs. Warren embarked on the afternoon on a bridal tour through Nova Scotia.

The bride was very popular in church and literary circles was the recipient of many beautiful wedding gifts. While St. John is sorry to lose one of its prettiest and most talented young ladies Backville is to be congratulated upon gaining her.

Capt. Mulcahey, of the Battle line steamer Leve- ra, and Miss Maud Driscoll, eldest daughter of Mr. John M. Driscoll, of Lancaster was married at 7.30 o'clock Thursday morning at the Church of the As- sumption, Carleton. The bride's sister, Miss Ger- tie Driscoll was bridesmaid and the groom was supported by Mr. D. Mullin. Capt. Mulcahey and his bride are spending a few days up river and will soon sail in the Leveira across the ocean.

At Vancouver, B. C., Aug. 1, Miss Florence E. Thornton of Moncton, and Mr. Harold Welch of St. John, N. B. accountant with the Harrison River Mills Timber and Trading Co., at Harrison River, were wedded by Rev. E. D. McLaren.

The marriage of Miss Louise Manning Skinner, daughter of the late Judge R. Chipman Skinner to Mr. Robert Weimore Eastington, son of Judge Han- gation of Dorchester, but now practicing law suc- cessfully at Nelson, B. C. was solemnized in Trinity church at high noon on Thursday in the presence of large number of invited guests, chiefly the num- erous relatives of the contracting parties.

The assemblage was a brilliant one and beside the many hidden persons present the big edifice was packed with friends of the bride and groom. elec- Prof Strand played choice wedding music and the as- sisted choir sang appropriate hymns.

The bride proceeded to the altar leaning upon the arm of her uncle Hon. C. N. Skinner, City Recorder, and looked exceedingly fetching in a pretty white silk gown with thin, with delicate lace and chit- fon trimmings, also orange blossoms.

The bridesmaids were Misses Edith and Gertrude Skinner, cousins of the bride, little Miss Beatrice Skinner, the bride's sister and Miss Hamilton sister of the groom. White organdie over yellow was the uniform dress of these young ladies, who looked very pretty indeed. They carried bouquets of white carnations with long yellow ribbons. The bride carried white roses.

Mr. Gerard Ruel acted as groomsmen.

The ushers were: Lr. T. Dyson Walker, Joseph N. Ellis, L. P. D. Tilley and Lionel Hannington.

Rev. J. A. Richardson rector of Trinity and Rev. John deSoyres, rector of St. John (Ston) church tied the nuptial knot.

Immediately after the ceremony the bridal party and guests were driven to the home of the bride's mother No 253 King street (east) where a reception was held until 8 o'clock. A luncheon was served. As the time drew near for the bride and groom to depart the guests began showing their best wishes upon them. While the marriage occasion was of the happiest the leave-taking had its own regrets.

Mr. and Mrs. Hannington took passage on the C. P. R. Pacific Express for Toronto, Montreal and other Canadian ports, finally taking the lake route west to their home in Nelson, B. C. About fourteen days of sight seeing and travelling will be consumed.

Miss Skinner's marriage and departure for the land of the Rockies removes a most delightful young person from St. John society circles, also musical associations. Her host of friends and acquaintances in dear old New Brunswick can only wish for her future peace happiness and prosperity in that far- away province, and that frequent visits to her native city will preserve the ties of friendship and love.

Mr. Hannington whose law practice in Nelson is attaining to satisfactory proportions is wished for in the same straits.

The marriage of Miss Maud Driscoll eldest daughter of Mr. John Driscoll Lancaster Heights, and Capt. Andrew Mulcahey was celebrated at the church of the Assumption on Thursday last at 7.30. The bride who entered the church on the arm of her father was attired in a very becoming bridal gown of white satin veil and orange blossoms. Misses Gertrude and Verna sisters of the bride acted as bridesmaids. Mr. Daniel Mullin supported the groom. A very few intimate friends of the fair bride were invited to witness the ceremony and be present at the wedding breakfast at the home of her parents. Toasts were proposed by Mr. Mat- thew, Mr. Cowan, and responded to by the groom and Mr. Driscoll. The bride's going away dress was navy blue with hat to match. They left on Thursday evening's train for Bathurst to spend Sunday, on their return will sail for Dublin in the steamer "Lancaster" of which the captain is commander. They will be accompanied by Miss Burns daughter of the late senator. The presents were very handsome and included a piano, 2 silver services, silver sugar bowl and pitcher, bon bon dish, cream ladle, tea spoons forks, cut glass vase, candleabra, diamond pin, gold bracelet, brush and comb, silver back monogram silver fork, fruit forks, silver cream pitcher, silver chocolate pitcher, silver soup dish.
