Our Appleton correspondent evidently overlooked the patriotic meeting held in that village on the 17th, when Dr. J. W. Robertson, of Ottawa, was present and gave one of his sterling addresses. Messrs. R. C. Patterson and J. S. L. McNeely also spoke well, and a programme of music by the Gordon orchestra added to the enjoyment of the evening. The attendance was not as large as the occasion would naturally merit, but those who were out felt amply repaid, and the meeting was excellent from an educational standpoint. Mr. John Stewart discharged the duties of chairman very efficiently.

Important to Subscribers.
There is every indication that the subscription rates to weekly newspapers will be advanced very shortly. Already most of the western publishers have raised the price, and the increased cost of everything that goes to make a newspaper makes it imperative that if the local weekly is to survive the subscription fee must be more in harmony with the prices of other things, especially the cost of living. We would suggest to all present subscribers of THE HERALD the advisability of renewing their subscriptions early, and those in arrears to square away before the advance comes, as it assuredly will.

At the Ripe Old Age of 91 Years.
Mrs. Rebecca Kibbee passed away early on Saturday morning last, at the home of her daughter-in-law, Mrs. W. W. Kibbee, at the advanced age of 91 years and 8 months. The deceased lady was born in March, 1824, her maiden name being Rebecca Waugh, and so was in her 92nd year. She has resided in Carleton Place for over thirty years, her husband, the late George Washington Kibbee, having died some time previously when the family were residing in Virginia. One daughter—Jennie—died here some years ago, and the only son—Walter W. Kibbee, passed away in October last. The deceased lady was much esteemed among those who knew her best, but her associates have long since passed away and of late the elderly lady was very much alone as it were, her hearing having left her entirely. The late Mrs. Boyd Caldwell, of Lanark, was a sister. The funeral took place Sunday afternoon to Pine Grove cemetery, and was largely attended, especially by the older residents.

Rev. A. H. Visser, Methodist minister at Iroquois, died suddenly at his home there a week ago. He was in his usual good health and had just come in from making some calls, and on sitting down in his study expired at once. He was one of the leading ministers of the Montreal Conference and was well known in all this section of country.

Capt. J. H. Bates is now located in his home town. He looks every bit the part in handsome uniform and soldierly bearing.

Sudden Demise of Samuel G. Cram.
Early yesterday morning Mr. S. G. Cram arose and dressed and made the remark that he was going out. His failure to return in a reasonable time caused Mrs. Cram to become uneasy, and she arose to see if any accident had befallen him. To her surprise he could not be found about the premises and in her anxiety she stepped over to Mr. Stewart's to get their aid. Mr. and Mrs. Stewart went over immediately but they could find no clue as to Mr. Cram's whereabouts, and they aroused Mayor Smythe, who resides near by. A search in the neighborhood only made the mystery the deeper and by daylight others came upon the scene. Mr. Hickin, another neighbor, on being notified, strolled down to the club house at the river bank, and here beside the boom used as a dock for the steamer Commodore he found the body, the unfortunate man having evidently slipped off the boom, and was lying face down in about two feet and a half of water. Mr. Cram was born in June, 1838, on the homestead in Beckwith, being a son of the late David Cram, one of the four Cram brothers who were among the first settlers in the district, and was in his 78th year. He was a school teacher by profession, and for some years was principal of the old Grammar School in town, although he always kept in touch with agriculture until he sold his farm and retired to town some twelve years ago. He was a man of broad views and bright intellect and was much esteemed by those who knew him best. About the time he came to town he had a very serious operation performed upon his head, when a part of his skull was removed, and so strong was his will power that he declined to accept an anesthetic whilst the surgeons performed the delicate operation, and he made a most remarkable recovery. Mr. Cram was twice married, his first wife being Mary McLostie, daughter of the late John McLostie, and sister of the late Peter McLostie and of Mrs. D. Findlay, sen. By this union four children were born, two of whom survive—Mrs. W. J. McDiarmid of Toronto and Mrs. C. F. R. Taylor of town. Two are deceased, one daughter in infancy and Howard a bright boy of 10 years. The mother died in 1879, and in 1884 he married Annie Dow, who survives. Three brothers also survive—Joseph in Morden, Man., George in Winnipeg, and Edward in Wisconsin. The funeral is fixed for Wednesday afternoon to St. Fillan's cemetery. The bereaved wife and family have the deepest sympathy of the whole community in their season of grief.
