

INCORPORATED 1855

THE MOLSONS BANK

VICTORY LOAN COUPONS

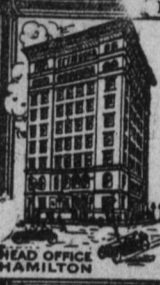

Do not forget your coupons and interest cheques.

We shall be glad to cash or place to your credit Victory Loan coupons or cheques maturing November 1.

THE MOLSONS BANK

Kitchener Bridgeport Waterloo St. Agatha.

ESTABLISHED 1872

Are you absolutely certain that when your children grow up you will have the necessary money to start them in life as you would like to see them start? You can make sure of their future to some extent by opening trust accounts in their names in The Bank of Hamilton and making deposits to their credit as circumstances enable you to do so.

BANK OF HAMILTON

Kitchener Branch J. H. Dobbie Mgr.

Mason & Risch Pianos

"FROM FACTORY TO HOME"

You are Always Safe

in the purchase of a Mason & Risch Piano or Player Piano, and it is just as easy to own one of these famous, reliable instruments as an inferior make.

SAFE, because we manufacture our own pianos in our own factory where craftsmanship counts high, and we place in each instrument the experience of half-a-century piano construction.

EAST TO OWN, because we sell the direct from factory-to-home price, eliminating all middleman's profits. A small cash payment takes a Mason & Risch Piano, or Player-Piano to your home any time you may direct.

MASON & RISCH LIMITED

34 King St. West, Kitchener.

everybody reads food-news!

Any news pertaining to food comes pretty close to touching men and women where they live. You'll be glad you read this if you ask for

"Ocean Flour"

The Wm. Snider Milling Co.

Waterloo, Ontario.

DOREN WEND'S BEAUTIFUL HAIR GOODS

at The Walper House on Monday, Nov. 10 will be of special interest to men and women in need of anything in hair goods.

OUR SPECIALTIES

Transformations, Pompadours, Switches for ladies and Toupees and Wigs for gentlemen.

A visit to our show rooms will not obligate you to purchase. Appointments arranged at residence if desired.

DOREN WEND'S Limited

Head Office: 105 Yonge St., Toronto

SAD NEWS FROM HOME.

I had intended to go home to my mother's and bring back many pieces of furniture that had been heirlooms and keepsakes in my family, for the furnishings of my new home. But as John had decided that we should live with Madame Gordon, I dropped that idea for the time being at least. Of course I was very much disappointed that I would not have a home of my own but I was determined to make the best of it.

John's sitting room was very large, but it looked to me as though less attention had been given to its furnishings than any other room in the house. The decorator had apparently been given to understand that these rooms were not particularly important and while they were done in the orthodox fashion for a man's occupancy, to me they were neither comfortable nor artistic.

John's bed was a heavy, brass single bed and the night we arrived he insisted upon having a double bed from one of the other rooms put in the sitting room.

Madame Gordon made no comment after saying that she would brook no change in the room. I was rather surprised that she seemed perfectly content to let me have a big double bed in my sitting room.

I said nothing about changing things for a month or so after our memorable interview in her bedroom. I rather waited to see if John would make any suggestions but his mind was wrapped in his business again and he seemed perfectly content to come home to these uncomfortable surroundings. I am quite sure that at this time he did not realize that I kept almost entirely to this sitting room, except for meals, because Madame Gordon made me feel an interloper any other place.

One day Alice came over and coming directly to my room she asked: "For money's sake, Kate, why have you kept that bed out in this room so long?"

Quick as thought I answered: "It is only a temporary affair. I am going to have these rooms rearranged and buy new furniture for them to-morrow."

Alice looked up curiously. "What are you going to do with the old furniture?" she asked.

"I hadn't gotten so far as that," I answered. "I expect there is an attic in this house, isn't there?"

"Have you told mother what you are going to do?"

"I told her the first day I was here that I was going to make these rooms comfortable as long as I have to live in them."

"Good for you, Kate, more power to you."

I wonder if things come out of blue sky to other women as they do to me. Everything that has ever come to me, good or bad, seemed to drop from no where and looked me in the face most unexpectedly.

I have never had time to prepare for a great change. My engagement my marriage and my homecoming to a place which was not home were all acts carried out on the spur of the moment and conditions over which I seemed to have no control.

After Alice left I very carefully planned the rearranging of my rooms and decided it should be begun the next day. But alas before the morning came, I received a wire from my mother which halted my plans abruptly.

John had not yet come home from the office although it was about five o'clock. Naturally I rushed to the telephone and his secretary answered me, saying that John was still there.

"It is Mrs. Gordon," I said for I knew my voice sounded strange by. "Will you please tell Mr. Gordon that I must speak with him immediately." After a wait that seemed endless the young woman came back and said:

"Mr. Gordon sends word that he is in conference but that he will be home for dinner at seven as usual." Looking back at it today, I really believe that that message sent to me in the flush of my honeymoon, was the first little rift in the lute. It was futile for me to tell myself that John did not know how I was grief stricken, for he could easily have asked the girl to get my message. I had never called him up at his office except at the time when I found his mother would not allow me to take the telephone. So if he had stopped to think about it all he would have known that I did not thoughtlessly call him up on foolish pretence.

Perhaps I should have sent back word and told him of my trouble but I was so hurt at his message that I said to his secretary:

"Very well," and rang off.

I called up the station and found there was a train leaving at half past six. Henriette was hovering and I knew she wanted to ask the cause of my tear stained face.

"Can I do anything for you, Mrs. Gordon?" she asked. "Madame Gordon is out and I have some time."

"Yes, Henriette, you can help me get ready to make the six thirty train, if you will. The telegram which you brought tells me that my father is dying."

Continued Tomorrow.

John's bed was a heavy, brass single bed and the night we arrived he insisted upon having a double bed from one of the other rooms put in the sitting room.

Madame Gordon made no comment after saying that she would brook no change in the room. I was rather surprised that she seemed perfectly content to let me have a big double bed in my sitting room.

I said nothing about changing things for a month or so after our memorable interview in her bedroom. I rather waited to see if John would make any suggestions but his mind was wrapped in his business again and he seemed perfectly content to come home to these uncomfortable surroundings.

I am quite sure that at this time he did not realize that I kept almost entirely to this sitting room, except for meals, because Madame Gordon made me feel an interloper any other place.

One day Alice came over and coming directly to my room she asked: "For money's sake, Kate, why have you kept that bed out in this room so long?"

Quick as thought I answered: "It is only a temporary affair. I am going to have these rooms rearranged and buy new furniture for them to-morrow."

Alice looked up curiously. "What are you going to do with the old furniture?" she asked.

"I hadn't gotten so far as that," I answered. "I expect there is an attic in this house, isn't there?"

"Have you told mother what you are going to do?"

"I told her the first day I was here that I was going to make these rooms comfortable as long as I have to live in them."

"Good for you, Kate, more power to you."

I wonder if things come out of blue sky to other women as they do to me. Everything that has ever come to me, good or bad, seemed to drop from no where and looked me in the face most unexpectedly.

I have never had time to prepare for a great change. My engagement my marriage and my homecoming to a place which was not home were all acts carried out on the spur of the moment and conditions over which I seemed to have no control.

After Alice left I very carefully planned the rearranging of my rooms and decided it should be begun the next day. But alas before the morning came, I received a wire from my mother which halted my plans abruptly.

DURING the last few years people have had to be content with many lines of goods that were inferior in quality to those procurable before the war.

To-day, people are demanding the better grades again. Those who from a mistaken idea of economy tried to be satisfied with common teas are coming back to Red Rose Tea. They realize that they cannot be satisfied with anything less than Red Rose Quality.

And Red Rose probably will cost them no more than common tea, because Red Rose not only tastes better—it goes farther.

Consisting chiefly of Assam teas—the richest and strongest grown—three teaspoonfuls of Red Rose goes as far as five of ordinary tea. A brewing will prove it.

Sold only in sealed packages.

T. H. ESTABROOKS CO., LIMITED

St. John, Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg, Calgary, Edmonton, St. John's, Nfld., Portland, Maine

Economy of Ford Service

WEAR is unavoidable even in the best car, but certain parts wear out more quickly than others. There is no need of scrapping your car because the piston rings have seen their day, because the platinum points of the vibrators are worn out. Probably the rest of the car is as good as new.

Medical men agree that the human body is renewed, cell by cell, every seven years. You can do the same with your Ford Car and prolong its life at minimum cost by replacing worn parts from time to time.

Ford service has been the means of doubling the lives of hundreds of Ford Cars, and cutting down the cost of motoring. The fact that a Ford Touring Car, which costs $690, f.o.b. Ford, Ont., can be purchased part by part separately for $917 is ample proof of the economy of driving a Ford Car.

It will pay you to have your car overhauled during the winter months. 700 Canadian Dealers and over 2,000 Service Garages supply genuine Ford parts and prompt repair service.

When buying, choose a Ford, and take advantage of the economy of Ford service.

Thompson & Firth, Dealers, Kitchener

Business Block For Sale

6-8 Queen Street north for sale at $9000. This is a great bargain. Apply

C. G. Pritschau

120 King St. West.

Kitchener.

ADMINISTRATOR'S NOTICE TO CREDITORS AND OTHERS. IN THE ESTATE OF MARY SMITH FORSTER, DECEASED.

The creditors of Mary Smith Forster late of the City of Kitchener, in the County of Waterloo, married woman, deceased, who died on or about the nineteenth day of June, 1919, and all others having claims against, or entitled to share in the estate, are hereby notified to send by post prepaid or otherwise deliver to the undersigned (Administrator), on or before the 15th day of November, 1919, their claims and surmises, addresses and descriptions, and full particulars of their claims, accounts or interests, and the nature of the securities, if any, held by them. Immediately after the said estate will be distributed amongst the parties entitled thereto, having regard only to claims or interests of which the Administrator shall then have notice, and all others will be excluded from the said distribution.

NATIONAL TRUST COMPANY, Ltd.,
22 King Street, East, Toronto, Ontario, Administrator.
FOY, KNOX & McMAHAN,
Toronto, Ontario,
Its Solicitors herein

DATED at Toronto this 30th day of September, 1919.
Oct. 27; Nov. 1 and 8.

DOWNING-STEIN'S FLOWER GIRL

Beautiful flowers are builders of noble impulses.

Our first shipment of Hyacinths and Darwin Tulips have arrived and we are expecting Tulips and Daffodils next week.

DOWNING-STEIN & CO. FLORISTS
PHONE GREENHOUSE 762
STORE 27

PHONE 1716
one-seven-one-six

Standard Rubber Works

Let us keep your Tires in good shape.

Steam Vulcanizing

N. E. Hett
20 Young St.