ALL SKAGWAY WAS ALARMED

Fearful Misfortune Had Overtaken Steamer Dolphin.

Skagway, Dec. 5.—Agent Frank Burns today received a wire from Seattle stating that the steamer Dolphin had been held for repairs and did not sail for the north until the 3rd. As the company had failed to notify Skagway of the delay and when no dispatch came yesterday when it was known the through wire was up, anxiety increased to alarm. The town is full of people waiting to go south and everybody is wild at the negligence of the company in not sooner notifying Skagway of the delay. It is evident from the dispatch that the Dolphin had a rough trip south, necessitating her going into the drydock when she arrived.
