

Notice.

Since the publication of the last edition of the COMPANION, short as the time has been, there have been many changes in the Parliament of the Dominion, as well as in the several Provincial Legislatures. In two of the Provinces—Quebec and British Columbia—a General Election has been held, resulting in the return, in both instances, of a large number of new members. The Editor has endeavored to keep pace with these and all other changes, and, in addition, has introduced one or two new features, which he hopes may have a tendency to increase the popularity and success of the COMPANION. The book is now read not only in all parts of the Dominion, but in nearly every portion of the British Empire, and it is satisfactory to know is every where regarded as an authority on Canadian affairs.

62 Slater Street, Ottawa, February, 1876.