

QUESTION

What did you do on your holidays? By EDO VAN BELKOM Photos By ROBERTA DI MAIO

Stuart Kraft, Business I
"I went to Mt. St. Anne Quebec with the York Ski Club. What a party."

Elissa Freeman, Communications Dept. II
"I did a lot of skiing and shopping."

Rusty
"I stayed with my master's friend for five weeks."

Dan Lewczuk, Biology I
"I just sat at home, watched TV and ate a lot. Partied a bit, too."

Lerrick Starr
"It was the best New Year's I've ever had because I spent it with my new daughter."

Jeff McDermid, Phys. Ed. II
"Went west to Calgary, Winnipeg, and Saskatoon with the basketball team. Just basketball."

GRAB-BAG!

Compiled by DAVE BUNDAS

Jocks, punkers, misfits, and God

The most commonly used drugs in Whitecourt are alcohol, marijuana, hashish, hash oil, cocaine and fake bennies, 23 parents of the Hilltop School Association heard Nov. 6.

Interestingly, older people around Vegreville grow marijuana to use as cooking oil. They have a hard time understanding why this isn't allowed.

Another popular drug in Whitecourt and Alberta is cocaine. It's more expensive, going for $185 to $235 a gram.

"It a common drug in Whitecourt. There's a lot of oil money in Whitecourt," said Bouey. Because of its price, it's not common among students.

Cocaine has an elite cachet. It's often sniffed through a rolled-up $100 bill. A hallucinogen, it produces a rush that lasts two or three minutes.

LSD, a chemical drug, is also uncommon in Whitecourt. It produces a three-hour hallucinogenic trip.

"You can see God," said Bouey. "It's like you walk to the edge of a cliff and you're on top of the world and after, you fall over."

Every high school splits into its groups: the jocks, the punkers, and a small group of misfits that cause trouble. These last are the ones most prone to experiment with drugs.

—Whitecourt Star, Nov. 13/85

Happy 85th, Ethel

Ethel Lytle celebrated her 85th birthday with a party. There was fourteen present. A lovely lunch was served and there was even a cake with candles to blow out. Many more, Ethel.

—Campbellford Herald, Nov. 27/85

Fox Creek mishap blamed on sun

A Mayerthorpe man escaped serious injury in an accident near Fox Creek that destroyed his truck Nov. 4.

Ken Tegenkamp, 56, was driving near Fox Creek when he went into the ditch, said RCMP Cpl. Al Moffat. He drove on, hit an approach, bounced in the air, hit the ground 25 yards further on, bounced again and landed on his roof eight yards down the road.

Tegenkamp was banged up considerably and received two black eyes from the mishap. He was treated at Fox Creek General Hospital and released.

"The poor guy got all beat up and still can't see out of one eye," Moffat said Friday.

"He had no seat belt on. He's lucky to be alive."

The truck, a 1985 Ford F250 diesel, was a writeoff.

"He said he couldn't see because of the sun," said Moffat.

—Whitecourt Star, Nov. 13/85

Wanted . . .

Campbellford has no dog catcher. It's been nearly a month now since the former dog catcher, Jack Jacobs, resigned and the town hasn't found anyone to replace him. Clerk Mitchell Stillman said last week the town advertised but received very few applications.

"We'd like to see some more," he said.

The dog catcher, who works on call, is paid monthly and also for every dog he picks up.

—Campbellford Herald, Nov. 27/85

NAME: Rick "Spud" Kemp

FACULTY: Engineering.

AMBITION: To be recognized as the gentleman and scholar that I am.

FAVOURITE MUSIC:

We are, we are, we are the Engineers...

FAVOURITE MOVIES:

Anything with Marlon Brando or Bugs Bunny.

FAVOURITE BOOKS:

Road & Track, Car & Driver, high-gloss anatomy manuals.

FAVOURITE HOBBY: Frosh-bashing, Dungeons and Dragons.

BIGGEST SURPRISE: Finding out that my girlfriend liked me.

Classic Characters.

SECRET AVOCATION: Ergonomics and Eco-Systems.

FAVOURITE BEER: John Labatt Classic.

It tastes great. Besides, the colour of the label goes with my hardhat.

JOHN LABATT CLASSIC
YOU'LL FIND YOUR OWN REASON.

Krausen brewed in small batches, one of the longest aged beers in the world.