

WALLACE BROTHERS STRUCK BY TRAIN; CLIFFORD DIES IN HOSPITAL

Younger Brother Arthur Will Recover — Tragedy at G.T.R. Crossing North East of Cobayville This Morning — Dead Youth Had Won Military Medal

Clifford Wallace, aged 21 years is dead and his younger brother, Arthur Wallace is lying in Belleville hospital suffering from quite serious wounds as the result of being struck by a mail train on the Grand Trunk line at the crossing north east of Cobayville about eleven o'clock this morning.

Were Driving to Town. The boys, who are sons of Mr. Harvey Wallace of the 5th concession of Thurlow (Gleed) set out in a buggy for the city this morning and were driving with the top of their vehicle up. At the crossing, a short distance north east of Cobayville, they were struck by the engine of the mail train southbound. The horse was instantly killed, the buggy smashed and the young men hurled into the ditch.

The train was stopped and the crew carried the injured boys to the rear of the train, which brought them to the G.T.R. depot at Belleville. They were then rushed to the General Hospital.

Elder Brother Died in Hospital. Clifford's condition was seen to be hopeless. He had suffered very extensive fractures of the skull as well as other very serious and internal injuries. Everything was done by the physicians at the hospital for him but without avail, as he gradually sank and passed away shortly after one o'clock.

Younger Will Recover. The younger brother, Arthur, will recover, although his injuries are serious enough and painful.

Coroner Dr. W. W. Boyce will open an inquest this afternoon on the remains of Clifford Wallace.

Clifford a Veteran of Great War. Clifford Wallace was a veteran of the Great War. He had served three years and a half at the front and for valor was rewarded with the Military Medal. On his return home he was accorded a royal welcome by his friends and neighbors.

He was born in Huntingdon township.

The tragedy has cast a gloom over the residents of Thurlow. It was the topic of conversation on the streets this afternoon and the deepest sympathy is expressed for the parents and family. It is hoped that the injured brother may make rapid recovery.

Mr. H. Wallace, of the Standard Bank staff in Belleville is a brother of the unfortunate young man.

TOBACCO THE MASTER, AND MAN THE SLAVE. Written for the Ontario, by Arthur L. Burke.

There appears to be no particular record given in Holy Writ of the tobacco plant, or whether or not it existed at the time this old world took shape, but we take it for granted that it did exist and that the human family of that age were blissfully ignorant of its use either by pipe, chew or snuff.

It would be interesting to know, just who was the first man to use tobacco and it might be surprising as well, to find, that the man happened to be a woman and like her sister Eve, was first to partake of the forbidden fruit and recommend it to poor unsuspecting man.

We have seen many women who were veterans at the pipe and judging from the expert manner in which they manipulated their old clay productions, it would be very unkind to say that they were the originators of the practice, or the pioneers in this field of smoke and juicy exhortation.

While the use of tobacco among the women of Canada has practically disappeared, the fact remains that a large proportion of the male population of this country are slaves to the thing called tobacco and the deadly drug it contains.

When an individual takes his first smoke or chew, (as the case may be) there follows such a rebellion of Nature that the whole system is upset and causes one to wish he had died in his childhood days. This in itself, is sufficient proof that tobacco was never intended for the use to which it is being put. Although this deathly sickness, which is experienced from the first smoke or chew, has been the means of preventing many from forming the habit, yet in the majority of cases young lads are baited along by those who are older at the practice and in due time have acquired a habit, that in after years they would give anything to banish.

Did anyone ever acquire the tobacco habit without practicing deception? If so, the cases are exceptionally rare.

It is safe to say that no boy ever began the use of tobacco with the consent of his parents. The beginning of this habit brings a boy to the realization of the fact that he has a secret from his father and mother, a something that must be kept hidden. And then there comes the day when he becomes somewhat careless and he is suspected. In his endeavor to hide his secret he resorts to falsehood. His conscience tells him he is lying, the miserable story is written on his face and the parents know for the first time that their boy has practiced deceit. What a disappointment to them! This is the road nearly every boy travels in acquiring the tobacco habit, and although there is deception at every turn, there are those who openly defend it and say there is nothing wrong about it.

Boys not only deceive their parents and others in regard to the habit, but the sad part of it is, they

Inquest Opens in Frankford Fatality

Dr. J. R. Simmons Gives Evidence Before Jury

Coroner Dr. Yeomans yesterday afternoon opened an inquest at Messrs. Tickell and Sons' morgue into the death of John McGillivray, of Frankford, the following composing the jury—Geo. O. Rice, foreman, C. R. Cole, J. McCarthy, P. Harrison, G. T. Woodley, J. D. Collip, J. B. Archibald, Harold Deshane and Simon Kerr. Constable L. Soule and Undertaker C. R. Cole, gave formal testimony. The only other evidence taken was that of Dr. John Ralph Simmons, of Frankford, and after this was given the inquest was adjourned to Friday, Dec. 26th.

Dr. John Ralph Simmons, of Frankford testified that he had known the deceased for about three or four years. McGillivray leaves two children besides his widow. His home was on Mill street, Frankford. He was a son-in-law of Miles Palmer. Witness identified the remains. McGillivray was about 30 years of age. He was born in the Old Country. He was an employee of the Canada Box Board Company, Ltd., Frankford. Witness saw the place where McGillivray was fatally hurt, there were evidences of blood. The guard over the gears of the wet-press had been torn off. The accident occurred at 11 p.m. Dec. 17th. The place was very well lighted. The gearing stood four feet off the floor. It is thought that McGillivray was greasing and oiling at the time. He had a slight limp from a former injury, a fall in Belleville. According to reports heard by the doctor no one saw McGillivray get into the machinery. Fred Lawrence saw the man in the machine and turned off the power.

Dr. Simmons was called, reaching the plant at 11.25 p.m. He found McGillivray on a table near the machine. He could not get any pulse in either arm but the heart was still beating. McGillivray was partially conscious. The doctor gave him some spirits frumentii. He was carried to the smoke room, where strychnine was administered and his heart came up rapidly. The arm was found to be lacerated in places an inch and a half apart. There were about 20 different wounds on the posterior part of the arm, right chest and back.

Witness called in his father, Dr. J. U. Simmons as he saw the case was serious. The man was kept in the smoke room for three hours and then taken home in an automobile. Where McGillivray was working, the cement floor was slippery as the water splashed about the wet press. The witness accompanied the injured man to the hospital, Thursday. He stood the trip well.

All night Wednesday and Thursday morning, the management of the Canada Box Board Company tried to get an ambulance to bring him to Belleville, but he was better fitted for the trip Thursday afternoon. Shock and loss of blood caused death.

Xmas Turkeys Went Very High

Seventy Cents Per Pound Nothing Unusual Today—Geese Reached $5 and $6.

A packed market building with tables piled high with all classes of poultry, fancy prices and a general spirit of spending marked the Christmas market today. There was a gentle fall of snow as the festive Christmas were "picking the Geese". The moderation of the temperature from the severe snap of the first part of the week has helped into the market.

Naturally the outdoor market was small, but this was amply made up for by the crowding in the market building. Rarely have larger crowds of Christmas buyers been seen on the market than today's host of purchasers.

To Mr. George W. Latta of the fourth concession of Thurlow goes the palm for bringing to the market the biggest turkey of the season. This monster bird weighed no less than 34 pounds and was sold to Mr. W. R. McCreary.

The public expected to pay big prices for turkeys and were not disappointed. The great American fowl, which seems to have been especially created for the hearty appetites of Canadians, has come into its own. Asked what the fowl was worth per pound, the answer was "66 to 70 cents."

Some turkeys sold up to $13 and $15 each. The smaller birds were disposed of at $9 and upwards. The condition of the birds offered was of the best. Not often does one see plumper fowl offered today and this in spite of the high price of grain used in feeding.

Geese loomed large on the market horizon today. Many geese sold as high as $4.50. These were well conditioned and fat fowl. Smaller ones brought $3.75 to $4.25. Ducks were higher in price, selling up to $2.25 each.

Chickens were also caught in the upward drive in Xmas prices, bringing $1.50 to $2.25 per pair. There is a slightly easier tendency to the wholesale trade in poultry, although prices remain practically unchanged from last week: Chickens, 25c pound, geese, 25c, ducks, 25-27 cents, turkeys 40c to 44c.

Almost the entire inner market was devoted to poultry selling. Eggs were restricted in offerings and prices accordingly went up from 90c to 95c. Butter brought 60c to 63c. Even meats are said to be firmer. Beef hindquarters bring 15c to 17c, fore 13c to 14c. Hogs are a little firmer at $15.50 live weight, and lamb brings 22c to 24c wholesale. Some dressed pigs were sold at $23.00 per cwt.

Hay is quoted at $24.00 loose and $20.00 to $21.00 baled per ton. First Congregational Church, London, celebrated their 52nd anniversary last Sunday.

Mr. Frank Solmes, of Batavia, N.Y., has been in the city on a business trip for a few days. He was a former resident of Belleville.

Lives of Eight People Are Saved by Baby's Cry

Gas Main Breaks in Napanee and Three Houses are Affected — One Man Awakened by his Baby

NAPANEE, Dec. 19.—A Napanee baby that cried very early this morning so that its father, Mr. Towling, arose to attend to it, is declared to have saved the lives of at least 8 people of this town.

Mr. Towling is a butcher, who resides near the corner of Dundas and West streets. After attending to the crying infant he found that his wife and another child had been overcome by gas. He hurried out for Dr. T. M. Galbraith, who lives across the road and there discovered that the doctor, his wife, child and maid were also overcome with gas.

Mrs. Jas. Daley, wife of the ex-police magistrate, was in a similar condition. Mr. Towling alarmed the authorities and the patients were given medical attention. It was discovered that a gas main had burst, owing to the severe weather, and that was had escaped into all the buildings nearby. Only for the baby's cries quite a number of Napanee people might have lost their lives by asphyxiation.

Frankford Mill Is Brought Out

Important Paper Deal Is Just Completed.

The Northumberland Paper & Electric Company is said to have just completed a transaction which is of considerable interest to the paper trade of Canada, as well as being of much local industrial prominence. It has bought out the Canadian Box Board Co., with mills both at Montreal and Frankford, Ont. This, it is stated, is not a merger, but an outright purchase of the capital stock of the company by the Northumberland Paper & Electric Company.

The importance of the deal is shown from the fact that the Frankford mills make almost twenty-five tons of boxboard per day, whereas the mills now under the ownership of the Northumberland Paper & Electric Company have a combined output exceeding one hundred tons per day.

Oil Tanker Wrecked; Thirty Lives Lost

BRANDON, Oregon, Dec. 20.—At least thirty lives "were lost" when the oil-tanker "J. A. Cansler," bound in ballast from Portland, Oregon, to San Francisco, was wrecked off Cape Blanco on Thursday night, according to report of Earl Dooley, a member of the crew who was washed ashore from one of Cansler's lifeboats, near here early today. Besides Dooley, another unknown man was saved. Home Rule to Follow the Canadian System

LONDON, Dec. 20.—The proposed Irish Bill which Lloyd George will outline in the Commons on Monday, will, it is believed, forecast a government for Ireland analogous to the provincial government system in Canada. It is understood to provide for separate parliaments for Ulster and Southern Ireland respectively, with a superior body chosen by both sections. All of the bodies are to be responsible regarding Imperial affairs to the British parliament to which Irish representatives would be elected, as the provinces elect members to the Dominion House of Commons. It is expected that the Premier's announcement will be conciliatory and comprehensive in outlining what he hopes will be an acceptable plan.
