FACTS The reason Andrew was looking for his brother, he told me, was that both of them left Aberdeen the same day and that there was some trouble with a man they found dead there. He said FOR SICK that he had not talked to his brother about it, but had heard it from others and when his brother left, Andrer probably thought this was the reason and that is why he wanted to know WOMER if his brother went to Norway alone. Now this is what Andrew himself told me, and I believe it to be true. Andrew had sent to him a lot of money when he was here. Some of this I got for a mortgage which he had made over to him and a lot of cash money, but I do not think it was so much; but he had a lot of checks. But as far as I know I think they were all payable to himself and he had other valuable papers. I knew he had the mortgage he got from me and a lot of other, but I did not pay much particular notice to them and therefore did not know what they contained. He did not say anything to me in regard to farm or creatures, but I think it would be best for you to sell the farm and creatures as soon as you can and come here in May. When Andrew comes up there again, which he no doubt will some time , be sure and do not tell him that I told you this or do not tell it to others either. He probably will not like that, but what you must do with his things up there I do not know. You know better what to do about it than I. we must hope that all will come out all right. I think it is this half-crazed Lamphere who has started it all. Andrew was not very well when he was here. He had caught a bad cold up there and he had quite a cold, but I don't think it anything to talk about. Those days all of us have a touch of cold which comes in the winter time, and he is otherwise well and strong and I hope nothing has happened to him. Hearty regards.
