A Pleasant Outing

Fun and merriment reigned supreme as a party of young folks left Eagle Place last night for a sleigh ride to Paris. That gay town was reached at nine o'clock and the merry-makers then proceeded to enjoy themselves as visitors can in various ways, many skating and others going to the theatre. Gathering for the return two young sports were missed and as they could not be found were left in Paris. Brantford was seen again at 12 o'clock, and the merry-makers adjourned to the home of Mr. McIntosh, 35 Rose Avenue, where after a very appetizing lunch, games and music entertained, and the party broke up, voting the outing an undisputed success. The prodigals returned this morning by an early car.

A DOUBLE MEANING

A well known Scotch professor was occasionally called up to Balmoral to attend the late Queen Victoria, and was extremely proud of the honor. One day a notice appeared in the university which stated that Professor _____ could not attend his classes that day as he had been called up to Balmoral to see the Queen. A waggish student who saw the notice wrote underneath it: "God save the Queen."

CONVICTION COMES BEFORE FORGIVENESS

Increasing Interest In Union Service at Zion Church Last Evening.

The attendance was well increased at the union prayer service in Zion Church last night, the main floor of the big auditorium being well nigh filled. The music was in charge of Wellington Street Methodist Church choir, while the Rev. A. E. Lavell of Brant Ave. Methodist Church presided. The speaker of the evening was the Rev. J. W. Gordon of St. Andrew's Church, who spoke on the old but ever-interesting question of "Justification." There were many very interesting and winsome passages in the sermon that struck one as unusually fresh and invigorating. Mr. Gordon dealt effectively with man's consciousness of sin and the abundant forgiveness of God, but pointedly remarked that forgiveness without making a man to see the awfulness of his sin were unkind on the part of God. In some way which man could not fully know Christ's death made justification possible, whilst man had only to look at the cross and hear Christ cry out to get some idea of the terrible character of his sin in its tendencies and fruits. In closing the speaker remarked that it was possible for each one to pillow his head this night with the sweet consciousness that in God's sight he was justified, not asked if such a religion was not worth possessing. Mr. Gordon as a thinker is both clear and logical, following his theme carefully step by step, leading you along to conviction. He illustrates great themes in ease and simplicity, possesses himself with a seriousness that is contagious, and at times develops dramatic force.

KELVIN

(From our own Correspondent)

Boy's Russian Suit.
No argument has yet been found to replace the Russian suit and this example is one of the most practical. It fastens at one side and along the shoulder. The high neck has either a standing collar or a low ruffled one. The sleeves have just a trifle of fulness at the shoulder and are laid in tucks at the wrist or gathered into a band cuff. Bloomer trousers are worn with the blouse and are given in the pattern.

DROPPED DEAD AT HIS WEDDING

Montreal Journalist Succumbed to Heart Failure in Illinois.

QUINCY, Ill., Jan. 7.—James Tate Hollister, a journalist of Montreal Canada, dropped dead of heart disease here yesterday just as he was preparing to be married to Miss L. Smith.

It was an hour before the time set for the ceremony, and friends of the couple were assembling when Hollister at the home of his fiancée, thought of some final arrangement he had forgotten. He started out to be gone but a few minutes and Miss Smith waved to him as he reached the sidewalk. She was startled to see him lift his arms and crumple upon the ground. She swooned and was taken to her room while attendants called physicians who pronounced Hollister dead. The bride-elect is in a serious condition. The couple met while Miss Smith was travelling in Canada, and Hollister came here three days ago for the wedding.

Girl's Great Heroism

The heroic action of a girl of twelve who lost her own life in an attempt to save her younger sister from drowning was warmly commended at an inquest at Hornchurch Essex, on Monday. Violet Laura Plummer was the daughter of a groom living in Victoria-road, Romford. She was with her sister Elsie, aged nine, and Beatrice Suttle, in Grey Towers Park, Hornchurch, on Sunday morning. Elsie attempted to cross a concrete dam over a brook and slipped into seven feet of water. Violet immediately plunged to the rescue, but was unable either to assist Elsie or to get out herself.

Beatrice Suttle ran for assistance and informed James William Crozier, employed at Grey Towers, who hurried to the brook, entered the water and rescued Elsie who was unconscious. He tried artificial respiration, and revived the child, meanwhile watching for signs of Violet, who had disappeared. Then he got a rake, again entered the water, and eventually recovered Violet's body.

The jury returned a verdict of "Accidentally drowned." They endorsed the corner's praise of Violet's heroic self-sacrifice, and asked him to bring the bravery and promptitude of Crozier to the notice of the Royal Humane Society.

Premier Whitney is making a magnificent fight, say attending physicians.
