MILLINERY * SPECIALS

Here's interesting millinery news—fine new hats much under price. Two or three rainy days made an opportunity to keep the milliners busy on stock work, so we had them make fifty choice hats to sell at bargain prices. All new up-to-date creations, the only thing cheap about them is the price. They are bunched into three different lots on three tables for quick choosing.

Table No. I.
This table contains a nice collection of new felt hats, any color, trimmed neatly with silk and wings—you must see them to appreciate the value.

HEALTH OF LYNDBURST

Whatever measure of uncertainty may have existed in respect to the disease that afflicted a number of families in Lyndhurst this fall, it is now apparent that many of the stories circulated respecting its extent and virulence were gross exaggerations. At no time was there any great alarm felt in the village, and a number questioned the wisdom of imposing a quarantine. However, the feeling of doubt and uncertainty was quite general throughout the surrounding country and the business of the village suffered in consequence. This, we are glad to learn, is now simply a matter of history, as several days ago the quarantine was removed from the last house, not even a suspected case exists in the village, and the public school is again being conducted as usual. The Reporter has pleasure in congratulating Lyndhurst on its clean bill of health.

century. When a child she united with the Methodist church and continued a consistent member till the time of her death. The body reached home on Sunday, the 14th inst, and the funeral which took place the following day to the Greenbush cemetery was one of the largest and most representative seen in those parts in many years. From miles around sympathizing friends came to pay the last tribute of respect to the memory of the deceased and show their heartfelt sorrow for the surviving husband. Rev. Mr. Curtis of Addison conducted the services and the pallbearers were William Connell, Henry Davis, W. H. Tackaberry, David Johnston, W. Justus, E. Jackson. Mrs. Kerr was a woman possessed of many admirable traits of character and those who partook of her acts of open-hearted charity, dispensed in a quiet unostentatious manner, will have cause to long cherish her memory. She was a kind neighbor, ever ready to help in time of need, a faithful wife and affectionate mother. In all walks of life her christian character was strongly in evidence.

THE COUNTY COUNCILS ACT

The Act respecting County Councils, passed at last session of the Legislature, provides that the County Councils shall consist of Reeves and Deputy Reeves of the Municipalities. Each town not separate from the county for municipal purposes, each village and township shall send a Reeve; and if the names on the last revised voter's list number over 1000, one Deputy Reeve; if over 2000, two; if over 3000, three Deputy Reeves. No name of the same person to be counted more than once, no matter how often it appears on the list. This will not increase the number of Councillors in villages and townships, as instead of, as now, having a Reeve and four Councillors, there will be a Reeve, a Deputy Reeve and three Councillors; or a Reeve, two Deputy Reeves and two Councillors.

A Fond Adieu

Mr. Thomas Pounder of East Boston (familiarily called "Uncle Tom") has left for home, well pleased with the kind and sincere reception which he received from his numerous relatives and friends. Many of them drove for miles during his pleasant sojourn at Friend Gordon's, requesting him to come out next summer, if God permits and spares his health so as to be enabled to do so. He desires to thank, through the medium of the Athens Reporter, (a paper which he admires to receive in Boston, on account of its efficient publisher) all those relations and well wishers who opened wide their doors and extended that gentle hand of fellowship, which, while life lasts, he shall remember. He fully appreciated the unspeakable interest which they all manifested in endeavouring to make his stay one of pleasure to him.

A MINIMUM SALARY

At a meeting held on Oct. 1st the council of Front of Leeds and Lans downe condemned the minimum salary clauses of the Ontario governments new educational law, declaring them to be unfair and unreasonable, a "class of legislation of the most vicious type," and a "direct insult to the intelligence and business ability of the boards of rural school trustees." Commenting on this, the Brockville Times says that the action of the council betrays "a lamentable lack of intelligence and business ability upon the part of at least one township council in the province." It is some time before the next provincial election, and perhaps the politicians can afford to sneer at the intelligence and business ability of the representative farmers composing the rural councils, but "the men that pay are the men that should say" is the opinion of more than one township board, and we would not be surprised to see the government forced to modify these clauses, to which such strong objection is taken. This is not yet generally recognized as a political issue, and Conservatives as well as Liberals feel free to offer more or less intelligent criticism of these particular clauses.

Making Marriage a Success

"In business, if problems arise, a man seeks to master them; if imbalances threaten to eclipse his success, he seeks to remove them; he does not let things drift or work themselves out in some way; he knows it is his business to find out where things are wrong and not be content to think that he is curing them by obscuring them. Men are often resigned to conditions in their home that they would never surrender in their business; they often accept as inevitable in their home life what they could change if they only would. It is cowardly to accept any wrong condition if any amount of effort will right it. People often fan themselves into the severe self-satisfaction that they are bravely accepting fate when they are really only too mentally lazy or morally inert to take a bold, firm stand to win the freedom of thought and action they desire. There are little rifts in the lute of marriage happiness that, unnoted and uncorrected, widen until the music of sweetness is lost. There are little differences that a few moments of listening, a few moments of kindly wisdom and explanation will set right, but foolish pride may deter, and a heart is wounded; unrest, vague misunderstanding and suspicion dethrone confidence and a sad growing apart may darken the years. Sometimes the lack of proper understanding comes from that moral cowardice that seeks only to preserve 'peace in the family.' This is a false peace. It is treason thus meekly to surrender, shutting out the true, white light of real peace for a silent suffering protest which eats into the heart."—From the November DELINEATOR.

OBITUARY

MRS. RICHARD KERR

The recent death of Mrs. Richard Kerr, wife of an old and esteemed farmer of Greenbush, under particularly sad circumstances, caused profound sorrow among the many friends of the deceased lady throughout this section with whom she enjoyed a wide and respected acquaintance. On August 23, Mrs. Kerr left home in her usual health for an extended visit with her son who resides at Yorkton, Sask. Arriving there safely after the long journey she was enjoying the visit splendidly until an acute attack of diabetes suddenly set in. All that medical skill and the services of a trained nurse could do was done to save her life but on Oct. 10, Mrs. Kerr passed peacefully away after a comparatively short illness. The deceased was a life-long resident of Greenbush where she was born 64 years ago, her maiden name being Miss Lucy Caroline Olds, daughter of the late William and Eliza Olds. On Dec. 11th, 1860 she was united in marriage with her now sorrowing husband and they shared each others joys and sorrows for nearly half a
