HE Municipal Council of the city of Hamilton for the year 1893 will be composed as above. In six of the seven of the seven wards, the battle of the ballots was fought yes-terday and quite a number of surprises was the result. There prises was the result. There being no mayoralty contest and the day being a public holiday, the elections were very quiet and the vote polled was very much behind that of last year, when a hot three-cornered fight for the Mayor's chair and a contest in every ward brought out to the polls hundreds who were not interested enough to turn out yesterday. The voting passed off very quietly all over the city. The candidates were out, hard at work, and some of their friends were giving them all the help they could, but as a rule there was little of the organized work which brings out a big vote. Around the polling places there was more or less bustle, with rigs coming and going and goons of electors discussing the probabilities. Soon after 5 o'clock the returns began to come in at the TIMES office, where a large crowd gathered to hear the results, and shortly after 6 o'clock extras were out giving the information. The results of the elections were:

Ward No. 1. Elected by acclamation

Ward No. 3.

H. Judd by, in round figures, one hundred votes. Messrs. Judd, Hancock and Robert and Poles.

Nessrs. Judd, Hancock and Robert and Poles.

No. 4 Ward has no one of last year's aldermen in this year's Council.

A number of the successful candidates and managed to get the place. No. 5 Ward went by sections. The north "plugged" for Mr. M. D. Nelligan, but he got very little support in the south end of the ward, and while he headed the poll in two divisions he was at the foot in the other four, and came in fourth place. In No. 6 division had for his votes were plumbers. Ald. Magill got dozens of plumpers in No. 2 division, and made a strong run in every other division, heading the poll in three divisions, and being second in the other three. He carre in first man with ease. Messrs. Henry Arland and D. R. Dewey ran well all over the ward, and came in almost a tie. Mr. F. W. Watkins did well, considering that he did very little if any almost at e.m. F. W. Watkins did well, considering that he did very little if any electioneering work. In No. 6 ward, the result was just as was expected. Mr. G. H. Milne made a remarkably good run for a man whose name was not mentioned in the contest until nomination day. Ald. Moore and Carscallen made a hard, close fight for first place, and polled 559 and 555 votes respectfully, with Ald. McAndrew not far behind. The surprise of the day was in No. 7 Ward in which the old war house of that section of the city, Ald. John Kemick, was looked upon by all as a sure winner and who was generally conceded first er second place, was crowded out entirely and a new man, Mr. Wm. Derby, headed the poll. Mr. Derby had a very strong "labor" committee behind him and was worked in all parts of the ward, receiving a very large number of plumpers. He, Ald. very large number of plumpers. He, Ald. Peace and Ald. Morris made a very close run of it, the third man being only 12 votes behind the first.

behind the first.

The Speech Making.

About 6.30 o'clock the crowds began to assemble around the City Hall to hear speeches from the successful candidates. At one time there may have been as many as 1,000 people present, and it took a good deal of engineering on the part of the police officers to keep those on the outside of the gathering out of danger from the street calls, which, however, were very carefully run just at that point.

ALD. MAGILL GIVES THE NEWS.

ALD. MAGILL GIVES THE NEWS. As soon as the TIMES extras were out Ald. Magill went over to the City, Hall, and, of course, was called upon for a speech. He briefly thanked the electors for having once more placed him at the head of the poll in the ward, and after promising to serve the city to the best of his ability he proceeded to read out to the crowd the result of the elections ward by ward. As the names of the successful ones were announced there was a good deal of cheering.

ALD. STEWART'S LITTLE SPEECH.

After being called half a dozen times or more Ald. Stewart put in an appearance and made a few remarks. He, too, was at the head of the poll in his ward, and he thanked the electors for the honor they had shown him. He took it as meaning that his course in the council during the year had been approved of by the electors. During the year, he said, he had voted often with the minority, but he had not given one vote which he would change if he had the same motion to vote on again, under similar circumstances. This announcement was received with applause.

HE WAS ELECTED BY ACCLAMATION.

ALD. STEWART'S LITTLE SPEECH.

Mr. Thomas Brick, one of the fortunate three who had been elected by acclamation, was greeted with vociferous cheering as he ascended the steps. He said that the electors of No. 1 Ward had been disappointed last year because he had not been elected—(A voice—It was your own fault). Quite a number of the old war horses, he noticed, had fallen, and the city would be just as well off without them. The citizens had evidently watched certain of the aldermen who had voted to give away a valuable franchise during the past year, and the result was that there was hardly one of those aldermen left. If the gentlemen who had been elected that day did not do their duty he hoped to see them picked out, too, twelve months hence.

ALD. CARSCALLEN ON THE RESULT. HE WAS ELECTED BY ACCLAMATION.

ALD, CARSCALLEN ON THE RESULT. Ald. Carscallen was received with a very hearty demonstration. He said that he observed that some old familiar faces were missing, and someone in the crowd was unkind enough to shout "It is a good thing." Ald. Carscallen continuing said unkind enough to shout "It is a good thing." Ald. Carscallen continuing said there were some heads in the basket, and that was the reason the owners of those heads were not present. He would not, however, allude in an unpleasant way to the past, although he had found a feeling existing among the great body of the citizens that things had not been done in an open and above-board manner during the year and that a change of representation was desirable. He held that the aldermen of one particular party, because they had a majority, should not be unfair. This year there would, he said, undoubtedly be a majority of Liberals in the Council, and for his part he would promise that everything would be done openly and honestly. There would be no secret committees, but all questions would be discussed in open committees and in the Council chamber. Last year one of the most important deals that had ever been arranged was fixed up in secret meetings and the aldermen went to the Council only to vote. They would simply not discuss the question at issue in the Council nor would some of them give any reason for voting as they did. Some of the aldermen who had been in this transaction last year had found that buyiness had become heavy this year and they did not stand for rewho had been in this transaction last year had found that buginess had become heavy this year and they did not stand for re-election. Others had gone to the people and the vote had been taken, the result being that the heads of three of the promi-
