A St. Petersburg despatch says:—The ukase relative to peasants' rents, the terms of which have been settled, is expected to be issued in a few days. General Melikoff and M. EUROPEAN CEOF PROSPECTS.

The condition of the European wheat crops is generally satisfactory, although backward in many parts. The prospects of the French crop are very favourable. The weather is now fine and all that can be desired. The first sowings are drooping in Germany, and in the North the weather is generally cold, keeping the crops backward, although they are in a healthy condition and a good result is anticipated. The Austrian and Hungarian crop prospects are very good, and the rains have improved those of South Russia. The Egyptian crops are favourable, although the very hot weather has slightly interfered. The English wheat cropis backward in consequence of westerly winds, and of the continuance of cold nights. Everything depends upon the weather during the next few weeks, but hopes are entertained of a better harvest than last year. Australia and India will surely send are entertained of a better harvest than last year. Australia and India will surely send us large quantities of wheat, and less Ameri-can will probably be required in consequence of the better prospects in Germany and Rus-sia, and of the increasing importations of flour from America. On the whole, lower prices may be anticipated, unless later in the season a failure of the crops should occur.

London, May 9.

In both Houses of Parliament to-day, a motion was made for an address to the Queen, proposing the appropriation of a suitable sum of money for the erection of a monument in honour of the late Lord Beaconsfield in Westminster Abbey.

Earl Granville, in a few well chosen, dignified, and sympathetic words, laid the motion for the address before the Lords, who agreed to it without discussion.

In the Commons, Mr. Gladstone introduced the motion, and said he hoped the debate upon it, if any, would not be marred by the exhibition of anything like angry or acrimonious feeling.

Sir Stafford Northcote, who was Chancellor of the Exchequer under Lord Beaconsfield, seconded Mr. Gladstone's motion.

Mr. Henry Labouchere, member for Northampton, and Mr. Bradlaugh's colleague, opposed the motion, in a speech that was intended to be witty and severe, and after a few scattering and rather feeble remarks, the motion was agreed to without a division.

It is understood that the memorial monument will be entrusted to the very best sculptors in the kingdom, and that if the sum to be voted by Parliament is insufficient, any amount can be raised by voluntary subscriptions. It is said the spot selected for it will be on the west side of the south transept.

MR. DILLON TAKEN ILL IN GAOL. The Home Rulers to Oppose All

Government Measures. REVENGE FOR MR. DILLON'S ARREST

A Dublin despatch says:—Mr. Dillon is ill, and he will be removed to the infirmary to-day. There is no cause for anxiety. It is said the statement that Dillon resigned from the Commons is a canard. The question will be left for the decision of the Executive Committee of the Land League.

A FOOLISH POLICY.

The Home Rulers had a conference yesterday. After considerable discussion, in which much feeling was manifested, a resolution was passed that in consequence of the barbarity of the Government in arresting Mr. Dillon, and because the Land bill in its present shape is inadequate in essential respects to meet the wants of the Irish people, they would leave the House in a body when the second reading of the bill takes place. The resolution is criticised by many friendly to the Home Rulers' movement as foolish and inadvisable, as nothing can be gained by it, and because it places the Home Rule members in the attitude of having abandoned their own cause in an emergency to gratify personal feeling. During the discussion Mr. Parnell stated that he would resign the charmanship if the resolution were not adopted.

ution were not adopted. A RUPTURE IN THE PARNELLITE BANKS. A RUPTURE IN THE PARNELLITE RANKS.

The Times says the rupture in the Parnellite camp seems complete. The discussion yesterday at the meeting of Home Rulers was stormy. The moderate Home Rulers wish it understood that they are in no wise bound by the decision of the meeting. Mr. A. M. Sulivan has written to Parnell, declining any longer to acknowledge his authority. The resolution finally taken at the meeting was carried upon Mr. Parnell declaring that if it was not adopted he would resign the leaders ship.

PARNELL'S AMENDMENT. Mr. Parnell's amendment opposing the second reading of the Land bill declares that the bill in its present state would fail to secure to tenant farmers such a reduction of rents as would afford adequate protection to their property in holdings, and would leave evicted or rack-rented tenants in a defenceless position; that it offers no guarantee of the creation of a sufficient number of occupying owners to check monopoly in land, or make available for the labouring population any of the large areas of cleared land from which the former

Not only were the words whispered into the apparatus at Calais distinctly heard at Dover, and of course vice veran, but the listener at one and was perfectly able to distinguish by the mere tones of the voice the person who was speaking at the other end. The scientific specialists present were astonished at the difficulties successfully overcome in the enormous concensation produced by the metallic covering which protects the cable, and in the induction caused by the simultaneous passage of telegraphic despatches along other wires of the cable. It should be observed that while the human voice was being transmitted through one of the wires the other was employed for the transmission of ordinary telegraph messages. Moreover, the experiments were conducted between the hours of ten and four, that is in the busiest time of the day when the wires are in increasing requisition. The voice of the speaker was

Mr. Sabine, Mr. Desprointes, and other competent specialists experimented with the same apparatus. The experiments were then continued with the same results, and in the midst of the confusion produced by the simultaneous working of several machines at the London terminal station, the voice of the speaker was heard as plainly as though he had been in the same room. There can be

NO LONGER ANY DOUBT that it is practicable to converse across, or that it is practicable to converse across, or rather under, by these easy means, with any submarine cable, and the success of the ex-periment gives us ideas of the possibilities of rapid communication that a few years ago would have belonged to the realms of dream-land alone. The inventor maintains that it is just as easy to talk

ACROSS THE ATLANTIC as from one room to another, and he has succeeded so well in the first practical illustration of his apparatus that one is scarcely justified in doubting his assertion, that he has found out a system by which words spoken from the other side of the ocean can be fixed on their arrival here, and treasured up for future use.

Marriage of the Crown Prince and the CEREMONY IN THE AUGUSTINE CHURCH.

At a few minutes before 11 o'eleck yesterday morning the chief master of the ceremonies, Count Hunyadi, announced to Obersthofmerster Hohenlohe that all was ready. The latter then informed the Emperor of the fact. At eleven o'clock the procession entered the church of the Angustines, preceded by officers and pages, and the Lord High Steward clad in red and gold. Then came the Chamberlain's magnates, Privy Councillors, Knights of the Golden Fleece, officials of the court, archdukes and foreign princes, two and two, with their attendants. After a short interval the Crown Prince advanced in a general's gala uniform, wearing the Belgian order of Leopold and accompanied by the Court Bomballis. There was another interval, and then came the Emperor in a general's uniform, wearing the order of Leopold and the collar of gold of the Golden Fleece. By his side was the King of the Belgians, in the uniform of his Austrian regiment, wearing the insignia of the order of St. Stephen, followed by a numerons train of generals of the guard and members of the Belgian court. There was another interval, a joyous murmur among the spectators, and then came the Empress of Austria wearing a diamond crown, her train borne by three pages. With her walked the Queen of the Belgians in a magnificent robe. Between them was the bride, looking charming, but somewhat pale, her long train borne by four beautiful pages dressed in red. On entering the church the trains were taken by the chief maids of honour, and the pages formed a line at the church door. Them followed the Archduchess, foreign princesses, and the ladies of the palace.

BUFFALO, May 8.—To-day's Times says:—
"A protest against the action of Governor Cornell in relation to making Niagara Falls a national park should go up from every citizen, not only of the Empire State, but from the entire continent. Nature made this wonderful display of her grandeur and power for the free enjoyment of all men of all climes who visit them, and not to leave them in the hands of a few selfish, sordid individuals, whose cupidity is fast robbing them of their beauty. Governor Cornell, in his refusal to act in harmony with the wishes of the commissioners appointed by the

AT THE ALTAE.

When the prayer was ended the royal couple rose, and turning to the seats under the canopy, made each a profound obeisance to their august parents. Then they walked to thefoot of the altarattended by the chamberlain. Here the Cardinal Archbishop addressed a brief but touching exhortation to the bride and bridegroom, in which he reminded them of the sanctity of the occasion, the care and affection of their parents, and the indissolubility of the tie that was now to unite them. He then asked,

"Rudolph, Crown Prince of Austria, wilt thou take her Royal Highness Princess Stephanie of Belgium, here present, as thy lawful wife, and love, cherish, and be faithful to her until death doth separate ye? If thou AT THE ALTAR.

A similar question was then put to the bride, who though shedding tears responded as firmly as her husband, though in a lower voice. The binding words having thus been spoken, the chaplain of the burg brought the bridal rings on a golden salver, and presented them to the bride and bridegroom. The latter taking one ring put it on the princess' finger, while the latter put the other on her husband's finger. The pair then joined hands, and the Cardinal Archbishop pronounced over them the muptial benediction of the Church.
