LEAGUE FOOTBALL

C.E.I. Draw With Guards.

Only a small gathering of spectators turned out at St. George's Field last night to witness the clash between the C.E.I. and Guards teams. The evening was all that could be desired for the serving up of a good brand of football, but this was sadly lacking, and had it not been for the spectacular goal tending of Knight, of the C.E.I., the one and only feature of the game, the fans would have been disappointed. Many were of the opinion that the Guards team would win easily, but according as the game progressed it could be seen that they were away off their usual form, particularly in the forward line. Time and again the Guards had the ball in the goal mouth, but lacked judgment.

In the first half the C.E.I. defended the eastern goal, and were kept on the qui vive throughout the entire 30 minutes, keeping the ball out of danger. During the play the Guards lost numerous chances to score, through faulty shooting, while the shots that did go down were cleverly handled by Knight. On one or two occasions the C.E.I. managed to get the ball west, but failed to get inside of the backs. The half time whistle sounded without any scoring.

Second Half

Upon resumption of play the C.E.I. backed up and tried hard to open the scoring, but the ball was immediately transferred to the western end, where it remained several minutes. Here again the Guards lost numerous chances to score, and when they were awarded a penalty kick a moment later, the ball was kicked high over the bar by Rose, and a splendid opportunity was lost. After this the C.E.I. made several long runs down field, and in particular on one occasion the Guards backs were beaten cold, but the shot by Johnson grazed the upright. Play from then on was confined to the C.E.I. goal area, and saw the Guards making desperate efforts to score. Shots were rained on Knight from all angles, all of which were handled in fine style and nicely cleared. The game ended in a draw, no goals being recorded.

WEEKLY MEETING REGATTA COMMITTEE.

The Regatta Committee held its weekly meeting last night, with President Hiscock in the chair, before a large attendance of members. After the minutes of last meeting had been read and confirmed, Treasurer Janes announced he had received a letter from Mr. Bishop, of the W. I. Bishop Company, extending his personal wishes for a very successful Regatta, and enclosed a cheque for $25.00 as a donation. The Secretary read a communication from Mr. R. H. Tait, associate editor of "The Newfoundland Weekly," wishing the Committee every success, and stated that Messrs. J. McCormack and W. B. Summerville, two Terra Novans, who had been prominently identified with the Newfoundland Beneficial Society at Boston, were coming here for the Regatta. This was met with very enthusiastically by the Committee, and the intending visitors were added to the honorary list of officers. Mr. T. Ryan, Secretary of the T.A. Boat Club, was added to the Committee.

The president announced that Inspector General Hutchings had agreed to co-operate in every way in carrying out the traffic regulations on Regatta Day. The matter of closing the Boulevard to vehicular traffic was also discussed and will be further dealt with. It was decided, if possible, to erect the bandstand for the concert to be given on next Tuesday night by the C.C.G. Band in aid of the funds. Treasurer Janes announced that $1,248.50 had already been collected, but in view of the expenses in connection with the grounds, a large sum is still required. The examining committee then returned to the room adjoining and considered the eligibility of intending crews. There was one protest made, that of T. Chalkey, stroke of the Feddian Amateurs, and by the evidence submitted it was decided by the committee that he was ineligible to row in this particular race.

The crews then entered as follows:

The Naughty Toddler

Strong Wills Should Not be Crushed. "Some parents are more naughty than their children," declared Dr. J. A. Hadfield, lecturer on psychology at King's College, London University, commenting on the necessity for adults to behave properly in the presence of children.

Dr. Hadfield was lecturing on "The Psychology of the Toddler," to members of the Summer School of Maturity and Child Welfare promoted by the National Baby Week Council. He said:

Children between 1½ and 2½ are governed by impulse, and the strong will of a child at that period should be allowed to develop.

Strong-willed children have strong characters and strong faces, while weak-willed children have weak mouths, bulky eyelids, and noses like artichokes.

The development of a child's early impulses along right lines helps it to direct and master the impulses when it reaches the age of 3 or 4, when its mind is more set on achievement.

We should not crush the strong-willed child. If we do, we are liable to make the strong-willed toddler into weak-willed one.

FISK RUBBER CO.

June A Record Month—$7,500,000 Gross And $1,000,000 Net After Charges—Higher First Preferred Dividends Inevitable.

Boston—With sales for the month of $7,500,000 Fisk Rubber Co. in June had the biggest month in its history. The gain over May was $750,000 and compared with the monthly average for the first six months of the fiscal year from November to April, inclusive the increase was over $2,500,000, or better than 50 p.c.

Net profits fully reflect this record-breaking business, totaling over $1,000,000 for the month after interest, depreciation and federal taxes. This is a gain of $200,000 over May. Average monthly net for the first half of the fiscal year was $330,000.

On the 185,515 shares of first preferred stock the June net is equivalent to $5.27 a share after all charges. This follows a final balance of better than $4 a share in May. It means that with a balance of $9.27 a share for both months Fisk has earned in the past 60 days almost as much per share as for the preceding six months, for which period a balance of $10.47 was returned.

Of course advances in prices of tires and tubes played a part in this favorable showing. However, Fisk is extremely well situated with respect to crude rubber and with a well balanced position on finished goods inventory looks forward to record-breaking earnings throughout the summer. It is entirely likely, with about $20 a share already in hand for the preferred stock, and the balance for the fiscal year will run between $30 and $35 a share.

Under these conditions, and with floating debt melting at such a rapid rate as to ensure a clean balance sheet before fall, directors are apt to establish the first preferred stock on a regular $7 basis at the dividend meeting this month and perhaps make a start on payment of the $26 a share of accumulations. Dividends of $1 a share on this issue which inaugurated in January and have since been maintained after a lapse of payments from May 1, 1921.

Fisk has now begun to develop a very respectable earning power for its common stock. The June balance after allowance for regular dividend requirements on first preferred, ($26 accumulated) second preferred ($28 a share accumulated on this $1,075,000 issue) and management stock was $11.0 a share for the 796,883 common shares. With the May showing of 79 cents a share it has already earned in a third of its second half year $1.89 a share, or more than the $1.59 a share for the first half and the $1.66 a share for the Oct. 31, 1924, fiscal year.

If a child wants to be naughty, teach it how to do it. It is essential to find a job for every impulse.

If your child wants to fight, give it the object to fight; and if it wants to possess something, let it possess it.

After the period of impulse a child will, by a miracle working within it, pass to the period of self-discipline between the ages of 3 and 4.

I have never seen a child improved by parents being irritable with it but firmness is often good for it. Self-mastery of will comes from within a child—it is inherent.

The desire of achievement comes between the ages of 3 and 4, when healthy minded children have ideals. They want to be good boys and big boys and strive towards the attainment of such ideas.

Then parents have to be careful with their children, for if they see Daddy do a thing or not do a thing they follow his action.

Here's what the Press had to say about "He Who Gets Slapped"

Mordaunt Hall in "The New York Times":

"At the Capitol this week there is a picture which defies one to write about it without indulging in superlatives. It is a shadow drama so beautifully told, so flawlessly directed that we imagine it will be held up as a model by all producers. It tells the story with all the genius of a Chaplin or a Lubitch and has accomplished more than they have in their respective works, 'A Woman of Paris' and 'The Marriage Circle,' as he had, what they did not have, a stirring dramatic story. This is the finest production we have yet seen."

Quinn Martin in "The World":

"By all means make this one of your early visits. I recommend it wholeheartedly. It is one of the best."

Mildred Spain in "The Daily News":

"The outstanding picture of the year. Every mark of distinction. The cast is perfect and the handling of the story beyond criticism."

"The Sun":

"One of the main achievements of the season. If you wish to keep up with the best accomplishments of the movies on their artistic side, by no means miss this picture."

Dorothea Herzog in "The Daily Mirror":

"Don't miss this picture if you enjoy real drama, realism and romance."

"Evening Post":

"Don't miss it. Tie the baby in his crib, borrow money for tickets from the landlord, stand in line for an hour if necessary—but don't miss it. To call it a perfect picture may be stretching it a bit, but not much, for it certainly is one of the best films ever turned out. Searstrom has given us a movie which has everything in it that makes a movie story interesting—suspense, drama, a tender love story, a laugh and a tear or two—and he has done all this with such intelligence and imagination that the picture is a glorious thing of subtlety, freshness and charm, from start to finish."

George Gerhard in "The Evening World":

"It stands out among its fellows like a Flanders Field poppy in a bed of weeds. Victor Searstrom has done a masterly job and there isn't a doubt that if he doesn't feel rewarded by pride in the work, he will get that reward in tremendous box office receipts. We can't recall any picture we have enjoyed more."

Helen Bishop in "The Bulletin":

"A picture which has few equals and certainly no superior. No one can see Lon Chaney in this without feeling that here is a truly great actor; one who can take your heart and wring it by one glance from his eyes."

Louella O. Parsons in "The N.Y. American":

"In this case we have to borrow superlative language from the dictionary to describe 'He Who Gets Slapped.' Yes, it is that good. By all means visit the Capitol."
