A STRANGER INDEED.—As Artemus Ward was once travelling in the cars, dreading to be bored, and feeling miserable, a man approached him, sat down and said: "Did you hear the last thing on Horace Greeley?" "Greeley? Greeley?" Said Artemus; "Horace Greeley! Who is he?" The man was quiet about five minuted, Profty soon he said: "George Francis Train is kicking up a great row in England; do you think they will put him in a bastile?" "Train? George Francis Train?" said Artemus solemnly, "I never heard of him." This ignorance kept the man quiet for fifteen minutes, then he said: "What do you think about General Grant's changes for the Presidency, Do you think they'll run him?" "Grant? Grant? hang it man," said Artemus, "you appear to know more strangers than any man I ever saw." The man was furious; he walked up the ear, but at last came back and said "you contounded ignoramus! did you ever hear of Adam?" Artemus looked up, and said: "What was his other name?"

Don Piatt writes from White Sulphur Springs; "The paternal, author of the belle here, it is said, the other day, after his, return, from the Springs, was reproached by a youth who requested to see you by your lovely daughter. Our attachment—'Young man,' interrupted the parent tleman that has approached me this morning on that subject. I have given my consent to the others, and I give it to you. God bless you."

A Cincinnati youth, guided by the advice of a fortune teller, sought to make a girl love him by means of electricity working from under the chair. When the time came she sprang into the air about three feet, and when she came down she landed in her lover's hair and took about two handfull's and then told him she hated him. No match.
