SIR RICHARD M'BRIDE IS IN LOVE WITH NEW NORTH

British Columbia Premier Visits Country North of Prince Rupert

Says He Saw Evidences of Progress Everywhere and Faith of the Pioneer

Vancouver, July 24.—"We return from our two weeks' trip north more than ever convinced that the New North has a great future ahead of it. Everywhere we went we saw evidences of progress and the faith of the pioneer, which means so much in any new country or district. We went over the northern portion of the province pretty thoroughly. We met most of the prominent men who are establishing industries up there and at all the places stopped at we were accorded cordial receptions.

The above observations were made by Sir Richard McBride last evening on his return from Prince Rupert. The Premier, who was looking in the best of health and spirits, was accompanied by the Attorney-General, Mr. Bowers, and Mr. W. H. Hayward, M.P.P. This was the first trip to the north country in command. At Prince Rupert there was a public reception at the new Government Wharf, which was officially declared open by the Premier. It was the first concrete structure of the kind on the coast and is a credit to the city. Captain McLeod was the first skipper to tie up at the wharf and everyone was pleased over this fact. The return journey down the coast was made in the Prince George (Captain Mackenzie). Both going and coming the party was shown every courtesy, and the Premier says he desires to pay a tribute to the kindness of the officials and the comfort of the steamers.

"We journeyed up the Skeena River in company with Mr. W. C. Mehan, general superintendent, Mr. McMichael, Mr. Alfred Carr, stipendiary magistrate of Prince Rupert, and others," continued Sir Richard. "We went up the G. T. P. to the rail head near Hazelton and saw the bridge across the Skeena River, which has cost one million dollars. It is a magnificent structure with concrete piers. It has every appearance of stability and strength. We proceeded to Stewart over the Portland Short Line and while there inspected the Red Cliff mine.

"The Skeena River Valley is destined to be a fine agricultural district. Settlers are coming in fast and the land is being rapidly cleared. I predict that it will become one of the very best sections of the province. All it needs is more time and more population.

"On arrival back at Prince Rupert we took the steamer Prince John for Granby and called at Port Nelson en route. An granby there is a fine copper mine and our visit to it was of great interest.

"Among the other industries we inspected up north were the paper mills at Powell River and the Canada Fish and Cold Storage works at Prince Rupert. The latter is built of concrete and is the largest plant of its kind on the coast.

"Prince Rupert is growing steadily. Of course, at present everything is waiting for the completion of the Grand Trunk Pacific, but there is an admirable civic pride among the citizens and civic improvements and public buildings are a credit to them."

"Sir Richard and Mr. Bowers left on the late boat for Victoria, the Premier stating that next week's general cabinet meeting would be held to deal with government business.

IMMEDIATE FIFTEEN MILLION DONATION SAID TO BE PROGRAM

Ottawa, July 24.—The Evening Free Press says that an immediate contribution of ten or fifteen million dollars, and a special session of the dominion parliament to pass such a contribution, is the evident meaning of the statements of the British ministers in the naval debate at Westminster yesterday, as the agreement which has been reached between Mr. Borden and the British cabinet on naval issues.

The Free Press adds: "No confirmation of the report that the house will meet in October can be obtained in official circles. On the other hand, it is pointed out that, with the regular session opening in November, no material advantage could be gained by calling the house together one short month earlier. Besides the prime minister is likely to be fully occupied in preparing the heavy legislative bill of fare, and the estimates.

SEVERAL LABOR DISPUTES ARE BEING HEARD

Unusual Number for Time of Year Reported to Labor Department

Board of Three Composed to Consider Telegraphers' Case

Ottawa, July 24.—There is an unusual number of labor disputes for this time of the year reported by the labor department. At present several arbitration boards are either working or have been applied for. The most important dispute is that involving the C. P. R. telegraphers. Today the department appointed a board to settle the trouble, which involves questions of both wages and conditions of labor. Telegraphers all along the C. P. R. system are affected. Peter McDonald of Toronto is chairman. J. E. Dival has been appointed to represent the company, and J. G. O'Donoghue the men. The department has also named two men in connection with a dispute at Halifax between the Halifax tramway company and its employees. G. S. Campbell will represent the company, and John T. Joy the men.

Application has been made for a board at South Porcupine, where there is a dispute at the MacInnes mill, but only forty men are involved in that dispute. There are nearly a thousand men, however, employed in the district, all of whom will be affected by the decision.

An arbitration board is working at the present time at Inverness on a dispute between the employees of the Inverness dock company and the company.

There is also trouble between the Consumers Gas company of Toronto and its men, which it is hoped will be settled without reference to a board.

ROYAL-TRADERS BANK MERGER ASKS APPROVAL

Ottawa, July 23.—Within a fortnight the application for approval of the Royal-Traders bank merger will come before the government. The procedure consists in filing with the treasury board all papers affecting the amalgamation, along with certain declarations. The recommendation of this board is a condition precedent to the government acting. What action will be taken cannot be predicted at this stage, but as the matter has doubtless been arranged, the approval resolves itself largely into a question of policy. Some objection to the principle of bank mergers has been urged, but it is pretty certain that it will be ratified.

NEW JERSEY STARTS THIRD PARTY MOVEMENT

Aebury Park, N. J., July 24.—New Jersey led the eastern states today in the new party movement when a mass convention launched an organization and decided to nominate a full state ticket for the November election. The convention decided to put on the ticket a set of electors supporting Theodore Roosevelt and sent to the national progressive convention in Chicago the same set of delegates that represented them at the Republican national convention. They were pledged again to vote for Roosevelt as a candidate of the new party. Ex-Gov. J. Franklin Fort presided.

Luke McLuke Says

When a girl has a two-dollar pair of silk hose she likes to sit out on the front porch and expose them.

When she first sees it the marriage certificate looks like a $10,000,000 gold bond. But after she has had it for five years it looks like a two-cent stamp.

One reason why the suffragette movement doesn't make more progress is the fact that a whole lot of women are busy raising prospective voters.

I wouldn't mind giving the suffragettes the right to vote, but as soon as they get it they will be in the race, cats and canny birds.

What do scientists know about life? They took a poll on the seven greatest wonders of the modern world the other day and found that one of them mentioned the American girl.

I found out why the girls are wearing their dresses with tails in the rear. They got the idea from the rear of them up the other day and she had a grease spot on the back of her skirt.

TALKING DOG GAGS ON HAMMERSTEIN

Abe Levy Ties Don in a Knot Trying to Teach Him Willie's Rea Imkonet

New York, July 23.—Loney Haskell and Abe Levy spent yesterday afternoon on the stage of Hammerstein's Roof teaching Don the talking dog some new words. According to Haskell, before the first week of the dog's engagement is completed the canine will be able to hold a conversation on the topics of the day.

"One thing sure," said Haskell, "he will be a baseball fan. I had him out automobiling Saturday, and when traffic stopped the car in front of a baseball bulletin he looked around at me and said: 'Rah! Rah! The Giants are ahead!'"

"Now the case with the dog is exactly the same as with a child if you want to teach it to talk," continued Haskell. "I propose to have him say 'Loney Moose' for you."

Loney sprawled himself out on all fours and, looking the dog in the eye, commenced repeating "Bull Moose," but nary a word did the dog say. He did not even attempt to talk. Finally, Haskell turned to Levy.

"Doggie Says Hammerstein."

"Abe, see what he will do for you," he said. "Maybe he will talk if you ask him."

Levy patted the dog on the head and whispered softly in his ear "Bull Moose." Don curled his upper lip, showing a long white tooth, and emitted a low growl.

"Well, Loney, he knows who I mean, all right. Now I'm going to try him out with this name," exclaimed Levy, united with his success, "and if he will say it, oh! if he only will say it."

"Say what?" inquired Haskell.

"Willie Hammerstein."

At the mention of the name both press agents grew more eager than ever. They approached Don and both of them began calling him all the nice names they could think of.

"Now, Don," said Haskell as he gave the dog a piece of lemon pie, "repeat after me the most famous manager in vaudeville circles—Hammerstein."

"Abe, see what he will do for you," he said. "Maybe he will talk if you ask him."

At the mention of the name Don began to rasp. His face took on a troubled look and his tail beat a tattoo on the floor. He gave a start and fairly lunged at the press agents. He rolled over and over on the stage and seemed to be in great distress. All the time he was attempting to say something, but could not make himself understood. Finally he was seized with a fit of choking, which lasted a few minutes. Just as he recovered from the attack his manager came on the stage. Immediately he knew something was wrong.

"What's the matter, Don?" he inquired of the dog.

The dog sadly shook his head and assumed an expression which was pitiful.

"I don't know what ails him," said Haskell. "I was trying to get him to say Hammerstein and he threw a fit."

"No, it wasn't a fit," replied the manager. "That's a hard name for him to say. It's quite probable that in trying to articulate properly and pronounce the name correctly he choked himself."

FOUR KILLED BY A POWDER EXPLOSION ON C.P.R.

Perth, Ont., July 24.—Four men were killed this afternoon in the railroad construction camp of Wheaton & Co., one of the contractors on the new Canadian Pacific line, which crosses from Glencoe to Belleville. The men were engaged in blasting and had poured about half a can of powder into one hole, which they proceeded to light. Without warning the powder exploded, killing four men and throwing another who was standing by about thirty feet. Two of the men killed were foremen, the other two being Patrick Keenan of Perth and J. Robertson of Kingston. The whole gang of men employed by Wheaton & Co. had a party escape, as there were one of powder standing close by which were upset by the explosion, but not ignited.
