QUEBEC, Jan. 10.—In amendment to a clause in the address that the House should agree in the opinion expressed by his Honor that we should all rejoice at the final and satisfactory settlement of the important question of the Jesuit Estates, Mr. Robertson, of Sherbrooke, proposed in amendment "that it would be premature to declare that this important question is definitely settled in a satisfactory manner, when the Government informs this House that there still exists certain difficulties in relation to the share allotted to the Protestants, which it proposes to settle." Mr. Mercier said in answer that the amendment could not be admitted by the Government, insomuch as the Protestant minority of the Province, through the Protestant Committee of the Council of Public Instruction, had expressed its complete satisfaction and concurrence in the measures proposed by the Government.

plete satisfaction and concurrence in the measures proposed by the Government. The Protestant Committee took exception to four points: 1. Catholics received the capital of $400,000, while Protestants received only the interest of their share. 2. The superior education fund was abolished, thus abolishing one of the safeguards of the minority. 3. Interest was paid on the Catholic grant and not on the Protestants was not in proportion to their population in the Province. where he was caught waist deep in the quicksand.

Taylor, one of the rescued, says he stood nearest the iron ladder by which they got in and out of the caisson. He heard a rumbling and there was a rush of air almost on the same instant. He jumped up the rungs of the ladder, followed by the other men. They had hardly got clear of the caisson when the water burst through the manhole in a surge, knocking them all into the river, where they were picked up.

Holden says he saw Samuel Morris, who was climbing next below himself, swiftly drawn under by the sand, and heard his cries for help, but could do nothing.

Milwauker, Wis., Jan. I.—At a meeting here yesterday the seven great flour mills formed a combination involving $5,000,000 capital and an annual output of nearly 1,500,000 barrels of flour. The combination is said to have been made to meet the threatened competition of English capitalists, who have secured the Minneapolis mills. The theory of the Englishmen Trust vs. Trust polismilis. The theory of the Englishmen is that one gigantic consern can freeze out and crush a number of smaller concerns which are not united. Not wishing to sell, the Milwaukee millers decided to combine on the English basis.
