DAVID MILLS. The vice-president, Mr. Purdom, in moving the adoption of the report, regretted the unavoidable absence of the president, who has always taken an active part in the affairs of the company. He thought the report showed several facts on which the company was to be congratulated. Its agencies were in a more thorough state of efficiency than ever. A substantial gain in the assets of $42,296 67 had been made, and the company had the confidence of the public. If the same persistent and intelligent work in building up the company's business was continued in the future as had been given to it in the past, the profits which both policyholders and shareholders would receive, should be satisfactory. The insurance written during the expired portion of 1901 indicated a large percentage of increase over any

LONDON'S

Has a Most Unusual Conception of the Dignity of His Office.

The Times' Scoop of the Civil List To Be Investigated—India's Inhabitants-A Gift of Half a Million.

A DEMOCRATIC BISHOP. London, March 14.-The Right Rev. A. F. Winnington Ingram, Bishop of Stepney, who is on the eve of taking up the duties of the See of London, to the bishopric of which he was recently appointed, has made an opportunity to indicate that he has a conception of the dignity of the office which is far different from the aloofness popularly associated with the position of a great bishop. In addressing a meeting of workingmen in Whitechapel, he said the first question he asked, when appointed to the bishopric of London was whether he would be allowed to lease the others, Fulham Palace and London House, the two metropolitan residences attached to the see. To his great regret he was told that this was impossible. He half apologetically added that, as Bishop of London, he would be obliged to keep a carriage, but if any of his audience happened to see him driving in lonely state, he hoped they would give him a hail, and he would give them a lift.

THE TIMES' SCOOP. London, March 15.—In the House of Commons today, the chancellor of the exchequer presented the report of the select committee on the civil list, with reference to the publication in the London Times of confidential statements on the subject and recommended the speaker to take steps either by the exclusion of the Times' representative from the house or otherwise, as he saw fit, to prevent a recurrence of such an offense. speaker promised to render an early

INDIA'S CENSUS RETURNS.

Calcutta, March 15 .- Complete census returns give the population of India as 94,000,000, an increase in the last decade of 7,000,000. Deducting the population of the Baluchistan, Shaustaks, Chin Hills and Sikkim territory, enumerated for the first time, a net increase is shown of only 1.4 per cent, which is due to improved census methods. Thus, the population is for the first time stationary. Owing to two famines, partially from disease and a great decline in the birth rate, the native states show excessive declines. A DUEL OFF.

Lausanne, Switzerland, March 15. The duel which had been arranged to take place today between M. Paul Deroulede and M. Andre Buffet, has been abandoned in consequence of the authorities having issued a decree expelling both the would-be combatants from Switzerland.

STUDENTS HELD FOR MURDER. Vienna, March 15 .- A Bucharest telegram to the Freie Presse says Alexander Gandiano, a student, 19 years of age, and a son of the general of the same name, who was formerly on adjutant to the King of Servia, has been arrested for the murder of a widow of the name of Julia Jarca.

£100,000 FOR AN INFIRMARY. Newcastle, March 15 .- Watson Armstrong, heir of the late Lord Arm-strong, the well-known gunmaker, will present £100,000 to the Victoria Jubilee Infirmary, which has not been finished because of a lack of funds. He says that had his great-uncle lived long enough to know of Queen Victoria's death, he would have been the first to assist in building the hospital bearing her name.

RELIGIOUS DIFFERENCES IN POR-TUGAL.

Madrid, March 15. — Censored dispatches from Lisbon confirm the reports of serious differences in royal circles respecting the treatment of the religious congregations. Queen Marie Amelie is said to be chagrined at the attitude of King Charles, which is antagonistic to the congregations, and, it is said, she has decided to go on a journey. The Marquis de Pombai has resigned the post of grand master of the court ceremonies in consequence of a decree of the king unfavorable to the congregations. The king has accepted his resignation, and has ap-TRADE PARALYZED.

Arthur Hamilton Lee (Conservative), who was British military atache with the United States during the Span-ish-American war, and subsequently was military attache with the British embassy in Washington, said the American recruits in physique and in-telligence were superior to any other troops in the world. He pointed out that the American term of service was only three years, with an option of re-enlistment, of which advantage is usually taken. He also emphasized the high pay of the American sol-diers, and the fact that the rate was increased 20 per cent in time of war or when on service abroad.

FRENCH MILITARY AFFAIRS. FRENCH MILITARY AFFAIRS.

Parls, March 15.—At a cabinet council held in the Elysee Palace yesterday the question of reducing the French military service to two years was deliberated. Gen. Andre, minister of war, explainer that the solution of the question depended upon the establishment of a system for the reengagement of the large body of men who remain in the ranks as professional soldiers. It is estimated that in order to enable the reduction of the existing effective force 50,000 re-engageexisting effective force 50,000 re-engagements and the suppression of all dis-pensations from all compulsory service will be necessary, and that special conditions for certain branches of the army will also have to be adopted —notably the cavalry. If the experiment is satisfactory the two-year system will be definitely considered. Its establishment tablishment would cost 20,00,000 francs a year. FOR FEMALE EMIGRATION. London, March 14.—At a meeting to-day of the British Women's Emigration Society, Colonial Secretary Cham-berlain advocated the sending of Eng-lish women to the colonies—and recommended that the work be greatly expanded. He also recommended the raising of a special fund for the purpose of encouraging emigration of women to South Africa. Mr. Chamberlain said he thought the time had arrived when the bulk of England's emigration should go to strengthen her own colonies. He pointed out that there were over a million more women than men in Great Britain. The natural result was that the extra women were debarred from the fullness of life here, and were jostling one another in the struggle for existence. On the other hand, in the colonies the disproportion betwen the male and female population was just the re-

WOLSELEY AND LANSDOWNE!

Former Commander-in-Chief Refutes the Charges of Army Mismanagement.

Says the Country Was Not Prepared for War in South Africa-Motion for Papers Defeated.

London, March 15. - The House of Lords was unusually crowded today in anticipation of the reply of Lord Wolseley, the former commander-inline type, will be 160 horse power. chief, to the criticism of the former The boats will carry enough fuel to war secretary Lord Lensdowne now war secretary, Lord Lansdowne, now

The armament of these boats will consist of a single torpedo severe comments of Lord Lansdowne expulsion tube, located in the bow of on the manner in which he had perthe vessel. They will be able to carry formed the duties of commander-infive torpedoes, each 11 feet 8 inches chief. Lord Lansdowne's personalities evidently had been premeditated. His indictments were grave, and it almost seemed as if the personal attack had been made in order to divert attention upon the commander-in-chief blame for the mistake made by the government. Until the recent debate being urgently needed by the govern- had never had reason to suppose that he did not possess the full confidence of Lord Lansdowne and the cabinet. Early in 1900 circumstances occurred which left him no alternative but to resign, which he had done. If he had possessed the cabinet's confidence that had been an opportunity which might legitimately have been used to appoint another commander-in-chief. Lord Wolseley then proceeded to refute the specific charges launched by Lord Lansdowne. He said he had made every effort to improve the auxiliary forces. In February, 1896, he recommended that additional troops be sent to South Africa, and recom-mended strengthening the Natal garrison and the defensive occupation. not of the town of Ladysmith, but of the Biggarsberg range, which twenty-five miles in advance of Ladysmith. He had never Ladysmith and its surrounding hills to be tenable. Lord Wolseley admitted that in common with all the other au thorities he had underestimated the fighting power of the individual Boer. Three weeks before Mr. Kruger's de-claration of war he had urged Lord Lansdowne to send out an army corps, a cavalry division and five battalions for the lines of communication, in addition to the 10,000 troops already in South Africa. Such a comparatively small number of troops employed early had often achieved results which five times their number could not produce later. The mobilization of this force at that time would have produced a considerable effect in South Africa. If the country had not been prepared at the outbreak of war it had not been because he had not urged the gradual and unostentatious reinforcement of the forces. Lord Wolseley concluded with saying: "I have said as little as possible consistently with any justice to my-self. The noble marquis made strong personal statements which were not supported. I have made my reply, which is also unsupported. I cannot, however, leave the matter thus. I feel I am amply justified in moving that all the papers be laid on the table. I am prepared to prove by official documents all I have said."

LANSDOWNE'S REPLY. Lord Lansdowne, in replying, said he thought Lord Wolseley had hardly comprehended the purport of his formbeen a personal attack on himself (Lord Lansdowne). Proceeding, Lord Lansdowne questioned the correctness of some of Lord Wolseley's statements. He reminded the latter how, after the Glencoe disaster, he (Wolseley) had suggested that the British should fall back behind the Tugela River. If the suggestion had been given earlier it might have saved one of the most untoward disasters of the war.

THE MOTION REJECTED. Lord Salisbury said he thought it undesirable that all the papers refer-ring to the debate should be circulated. He was not aware that any personal charges had been made against Lord Wolseley.

Wolseley.
Lord Rosebery enumerated Lord
Lansdowne's charges against Lord Wolseley, and said they were personal in the judgment of the mass of the house, and the man in the street. He alluded to Lord Wolseley's historic career, now closed, and defended his single-mindedness of purpose in seeking to improve the war office system.
Lord Wolseley's motion that all the papers be laid on the table was rejected by a yets of $2 to $3.
